West Confident Kasavubu Will Win Seat In U.N.

Zorin Attacks U.S., Belgium And NATO

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union unleashed a bitter attack on the United States Saturday in an effort to bar a General Assembly seat to Congo President Joseph Kasavubu. But Western diplomats remained confident that the assembly would vote in his favor.

Valerian A. Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, told the assembly his country would not be bound by any decision upholding a recommendation of the assembly's Credentials Committee that a delegation headed by Kasavubu be given the vacant Congo seat.

The assembly met in a special Saturday session on the question but adjourned until Monday without reaching any decision. It still must hear a long list of speakers before reaching the voting stage.

Zorin's speech bristled with angry denunciations of the United States, Belgium and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization powers.

But he was careful to point out that it was the present U. S. administration he was accusing. He already has expressed Soviet willingness to confer with the incoming Kennedy administration on disarmament, and his language Saturday indicated Moscow might be putting out feelers for talks on other issues as well.

Zorin called Kasavubu a puppet of the United States and attempts to seat him in the assembly "an indecent farce."

"The whole history of the international crisis in the Congo is one of direct interference in the affairs of that country by the United States and the NATO powers," he said. "It is an interference in which the United Nations command and the secretary-general unfortunately became a co-participant."

He asserted that from the very outset the United States was opposed to the government of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba, whose delegation the Soviet members want represented in the Union and some Asian - African United Nations.

Almost overshadowing the assembly debate itslef was speculation on the chances of success for the 15-nation Asian-African conciliation commission which is due in the Congo at the end of next week to see what can be done about resolving political rivalries.

Kasavubu has said he will withhold any decision on welcoming the commission until the assembly decides to seat his delegation. He conferred privately for 45 minutes with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold Saturday morning. Obviously the task of the commission was discussed.

U.S. Studies Ways To Protect Dollar Reserves Of Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government may crack down on American tourists' spending abroad if new action becomes necessary to protect this country's dollar reserves.

Officials have already studied the possibility of trying to reduce the $1 billion gap between what American travelers spend in the rest of the world and what tourists from abroad spend here.

The most obvious and simplest target for change, officials said Saturday, is the $500 tariff exemption permitted Americans on foreign purchases in any six-months period of travel.

There were widespread developments in the Eisenhower administration's campaign to close the gap in the American balance of payments account. Among them:

—Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers, said in Paris that no one should expect devaluation of the American dollar. In a talk at the University of Paris, Saulnier also said he feels the U. S. economy is in a "very good position to resume an advance which has characterized it over the years."

— Eisenhower, vacationing at Augusta, Ga., was described as confident that America's European allies will agree to shoulder more of the financial burden of defending and aiding economically the non-Communist world. The President was said to have instructed aides now discussing the problem to take a firm attitude with West German, British and French leaders.

—Those aides, Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, arrived in Bonn to urge the West German government to spend more money to help less fortunate nations. Anderson said the three days of talks, opening Monday, will deal with the "unusual conditions prevailing with respect to the German and U. S. international payments position."

Anderson was assured by the West German Economic Minister, Ludwig Erhard, that "We will do everything to reach an understanding."

Meanwhile, it was reported that the actual dollar cost of the military and economic foreign aid program will go up by many millions of dollars as the Defense Department and the International Cooperation Administration begin to carry out President Eisenhower's new "buy American" policy.

ICA officials were reported to have made an estimate that it will cost an additional $150 million to purchase in the United States the goods for aid to foreign countries which are now purchased abroad under the $1 billion economic assistance program.

Defense Department estimates on the same problem were not immediately available.

President Eisenhower announced Wednesday he was ordering all government agencies to buy everything possible in the United States and cut foreign purchases to the bone. He also ordered the Defense Department to reduce dependents of military personnel abroad by 284,000 persons. His program is expected to account for $1 billion a year out of a needed saving of around $4 billion if this country's income and outgo are to be balanced.

Eisenhower administration officials have been discussing the situation with representatives of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Weger Denies Slaying Women, Lawyer Says

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—Chester O. Weger's lawyer says the admitted slayer of three women in Starved Park told him Saturday that he is not the killer.

Atty. Joseph Carr said the 21-year-old defendant, father of two, told him in a jail interview that his confession was false and was forced from him under long hours of continuous interrogation.

"I'm not guilty of those murders," Carr quoted Weger." I wasn't even there. I don't know anything about them."

Carr said Weger also denied two other crimes with which he has been charged, both of which occurred in Mathiessen State Park, a few miles from Starved Rock in July, 1959. These include robbery and rape.

Authorities announced Weger's confession early Thursday. The same day, a grand jury returned indictments charging him with murdering the three women and the attacks in Mathiessen Park.

Congress, Courts To Investigate Hoffa Activities

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa, much-investigated head of the big Teamsters Union, is being investigated again by both Congress and the courts.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., announced Saturday he expects to show in a series of hearings opening Dec. 13 that "notorious underworld criminals and racketeers continue to control" Teamsters locals under Hoffa's rule.

Hoffa himself is expected to be called for testimony at the hearings, which will concentrate on New York City union operations, some of which were said to be

Japanese Elections

Predict Victory For Pro-West Liberals

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's voters have their say Sunday on conservative Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's appeal for a mandate against neutralism in the cold war and in favor of the military alliance with the United States.

Ikeda's Liberal-Democratic party is heavily favored over the left-wing Socialist. A forecast of fine weather pointed toward a record turnout among Japan's 54 million registered voters.

They will choose 467 members of the House of Representatives, from which a new government will be formed.

The balloting provides the first major test of sentiment on the turbulent events that jarred world confidence in Japan's young Democracy — street rioting that forced cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit in June and the assassination of Socialist party leader Inejiro Asanuma last month.

Ikeda has billed the election as a referendum on the central issue behind the June riots — continued military alliance with the United States.

To gain the mandate Ikeda is seeking, the conservatives have to win heavily and exceed their traditional postwar 2-to-1 margin over the leftist opposition.

When the old house was dissolved last month, this was the lineup: Liberal-Democrats 283, Socialists 122, Democratic Socialists 40, independents 2, Communists 1, vacancies 19.

Newspapers forecast slight gains for the Socialists and the conservatives at the expense of the moderate Democratic Socialists.

Much interest has centered on the latter party's future. Its members split off from the Socialists a year ago. Its leaders bitterly criticized leftist violence and supported democratic institutions during the Nixon-Kennedy style television debates that gave an American flavor to the three-week campaign.

Despite the political arguments, there still was doubt on how strongly foreign policy has influenced voters in the rural areas, which normally are conservative.

Distrust of big-city Socialists is traditional there, and the people tend to vote on the basis of personalities and the complicated network of family and local obligations the Japanese call "giri."

Last July Ikeda succeeded Nobusuke Kishi after Kishi had resigned under widespread criticism for his tactics in ramming the U. S - Japanese Security Treaty through Parliament. After four months of bolstering his reputation as a brainy economist and a flexible, reasonable leader, Ikeda dissolved Parliament and asked the voters to boost his party's 283-member strength in the House of Representatives to at least 312.

Hundreds Mourn Death Of Pastor, His Six Children

LEWISTON, Minn. (AP)—Services will be held as usual at two Presbyterian churches Sunday, but it won't be the same.

"We need them," said an official of the Lewiston church, voicing the feelings of hundreds numbed by the death of their young pastor and his six children when their car smashed into a bridge Friday night.

The Rev. John Eastman, 28, was ordained in his own church at this southern Minnesota town three years ago. Monday the church will house his mourners.

He and the youngsters had been out for a ride, planning to visit a fellow pastor at nearby Plainview.

Donna Eastman, 27, had taken the evening off from parental and church duties to attend the senior class play at Lewiston High School. The curtain rose approximately 8 p.m., about the same moment her family died.

There were no witnesses and no clues as to the reason John Eastman's car failed to curve slightly to the left to negotiate the narrow bridge. Officers surmised that he was stricken or that one of the youngsters distracted him.

To be buried in the Lewiston Cemetery with their father are Pamela, 7; Mary, 5; James, 4; Carol, 3; Thomas, 2, and John, eight months.

Eastman also served the Presbyterian Church at Utica since his graduation from Gustavus Adolphus College and Presbyterian Seminary at Dubuque, Iowa.

Stress Need For Increase In U. S. Scientific Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's Science Advisory Committee said Saturday American science must "double and redouble in size and strength" in the next generation, or the nation will become a second-rate power with its freedom threatened.

"This means more scientists, better trained, with finer facilities," declared the committee in a special report issued by the White House. And it found increased federal aid the logical answer to these needs.

The report continued: "We need more things, with more support, in more places.

"It is the simple truth that if this country is to safeguard its freedom and harvest the great opportunities of the next generation of science, the level of its scientific investment must be multiplied and multiplied again."

Saying the federal government is by far the most important source of funds for research in the universities, the committee declared the government should accept growing responsibility for support because it's the only agency big enough to do so.

The committee report was prepared by a special panel on the subject "Scientific Progress, the Universities, and the Federal Government."

The 27-page document stressed repeatedly that "the process of graduate education and the process of basic research belong together at every possible level...and that each is weakened when carried on without the other."

The report asserted that the present partnership between the universities and the national government is indispensable to first-rate university work in science.

Among its other major recommendations, the report urged that:

1. The nation as a whole, during the next 15 years, seek to double the number of universities doing work in basic research and graduate education.

2. The government seek to promote the essential connection between the conduct of research and the training of scientists.

3. Universities should "continue and expand their efforts to pay proper salaries, provide adequate time and opportunity for research, and maintain an atmosphere of free learning and investigation."

Doctor Reports 'All's Right' With Churchill

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's personal physician reported Saturday that "everything is all right" with the aged statesman, in bed since he fell and broke a small bone in his spine Tuesday. Lord Moran said the case is going normally and without complications.

The chief concern for Lord Moran and Prof. Herbert J. A. Seddon, an orthopedic specialist who went along on the morning visit, is bronchial congestion—a serious side effect that often comes when an elderly man is immobilized. Churchill will be 86 Nov. 30. So far no such congestion has formed, the doctors said.

The daily medical bulletin issued from Churchill's town house told of less pain and a night that was not very good. A family informant concurred on the diminishing pain but said the night had been Churchill's best since he slipped on a bedroom rug and suffered the injury.

Lord Moran told reporters there was no real contradiction between his own statement and the medical bulletin, saying: "One can spend a disturbed night for all sorts of reasons. The case is proceeding normally."

COSTLY PROTEST

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Emerging from a restaurant, Cecil Bruton saw a metermaid putting a $1 parking ticket on the windshield of his automobile.

Bruton rushed protesting across the street.

"I had to go in there to get change for the parking meter," he said.

The metermaid agreed to forget the parking ticket — and she handed Bruton a citation for jaywalking. Cost: $3.

Macmillan Leaves First Move Up To Kennedy

CARIBBEAN PATROL—U.S. officials in Washington said that the deployment of United States warships and planes in the Caribbean was designed to alert the Castro regime and its sympathizers that this counry is ready to move swiftly to counter any aggression by Cuban-backed Central American rebels. A carrier and five destroyers will patrol the area. Two patrol planes will cover the east coast of Central America with the destroyer K. D. Bailey. (NEA Telephoto)

Ulterior Motives

K May Be Holding Lid On Castro To Promote Talks With Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev may be putting a loose halter on Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba because Khrushchev wants to promote chances for a summit conference with President - elect John F. Kennedy next spring.

But there are undoubtedly other reasons for his reported effort to slow down Castro's anti - American campaign. And one of the reasons given considerable importance here is that Khrushchev does not want to be called upon to carry out his threat to back up Cuba in a war with the United States. He wants Castro to stop short of crowding the United States to the danger point.

State Department experts were interested Saturday in the coincidence of reports from Havana that Khrushchev had advised Castro to go more slowly in his conflict with the United States and reports from Moscow that the Communist summit conference there finally had ended.

Originally called in connection with the Soviet Union's national anniversary celebration earlier this month, the conference ran on several days longer than expected. Western experts said this probably meant Khrushchev and his Red Chinese critics were having trouble working out their row over peaceful coexistence to the point where they could show some degree of unity to the West.

This implies that Khrushchev is still fighting hard for a softer line than the Red Chinese favor. Apart from the long-range war or peace issue, however, is the question of the Soviet-Red Chinese bloc policy at the outset of the new administration in Washington next January.

Again the experts here believe that Khrushchev is doing everything he can to maintain a reasonably friendly and hopeful attitude toward Kennedy. They say this does not mean that he expects real settlements or is prepared to make concession to the West on major issues like disarmament and Germany.

More likely it means that he wants to recover the use of the summit conference idea as a pressure to force the West into negotiations and, he may hope, into eventual concessions. Khrushchev lost this advantage last May when, after the U2 spy plane incident, he refused to negotiate with President Eisenhower and broke up the summit conference in Paris. Since Kennedy's election he has made clear that he wants to establish a different relationship with the incoming U.S. leader.

Should Castro provoke the United States into military action over the Guantanamo Naval Base — a danger almost wholly discounted here — the result might be to put Khrushchev in the position of having to make good on his rocket threat against the United States if it fought Cuba, or seriously lose face. Khrushchev tried to get off the hook several weeks ago by saying that his rocket threat was really just "symbolic" of Soviet support for Castro.

Kennedy, Symington Discuss Reorganization Of Pentagon

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy Saturday began Pentagon reorganization talks with the goal of saving taxpayers some money while gearing the nation's military might more closely to the nuclear-space age.

The talks were with Sen. Stuart Symington, the Missouri Democrat Kennedy asked to study and report on how to streamline the Defense Department.

What Symington told a news conference Saturday and what Kennedy said during the campaign about economy and modernization of the Pentagon presaged possible recommendations for a far-reaching shakeup in the defense establishment.

Whether Symington, a former Air Force secretary, might get the call to direct a shakeup as the new secretary of defense remained a matter of speculation.

The Missouri senator said it wasn't discussed, that "I would rather stay in the Senate," and that he so told Kennedy last August. But he didn't rule out taking the post should Kennedy insist on it.

The president-elect and Symington, with Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., present part of the time, talked for an hour and a half in the living room of the Spanish-style Kennedy mansion on the oceanfront.

Symington told a news conference afterward that the Pentagon organization still is based fundamentally on World War II ideas, although there have been three major technological revolutions in national defense since that war.

Final Rites For Clark Gable Attended By Cinema's Great

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — The last rites for Clark Gable were held Saturday with all the dignity and respect that Hollywood's king commanded during his 20-year reign.

Unlike the near-riotous behavior that has marred rites for Hollywood heroes of the past—Rudolph Valentino and Tyrone Power, to name two—a saddened crowd of 300 fans stood reverently a goodly distance from Forest Lawn's Church of the Recessional.

Inside to hear the Episcopal rites conducted by an Air Force chaplain was a virtual Who's Who of the Gable era of movie history.

There was Mervyn Le Roy, the director who spotted Gable in a Los Angeles play and took him to Darryl Zanuck, then boss at Warner Bros., only to have Zanuck reject him because of those famous big ears.

And crying unashamedly during the rites was Norma Shearer, the MGM star who got slapped by the unknown Gable in "A Free Soul." That was 1931, and the king, in effect, ascended his throne with that display of he-man screen lovemaking.

Among the pallbearers was Spencer Tracy, who, with Gable, gave MGM such great hits as "Test Pilot" and "Boom Town."

Robert Taylor and James Stewart, other MGM stalwarts in the movies' golden age, were pallbearers, too.

And crying as though her heart were breaking was actress Virginia Grey, a long-ago Gable girl friend. She had been invited by Kay Gable, the blonde widow who had tolerantly ordered that her husband's body be entombed beside that of another great love of Gable's life—actress Carole Lombard, his third wife who perished in an air crash.

Earlier some of the fans had tried to get past barricades for a closer look at the weeping widow, but a huge security force of MGM police and studio people had no trouble keeping things orderly.

No eulogy was delivered by the Rev. Johnson E. West. He read the simple Episcopal service before a big bower of flowers. The casket was closed during the rites.

Mrs. Gable, an expectant mother, took her last look Friday at the face of her husband, 59, a face that looked virile even in death.

Adenauer To Visit U.S. In February

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has decided to let President-elect John F. Kennedy make the first move in renewing the close ties between Washington and London.

It was learned Saturday on high authority that the British leader will await an invitation from Kennedy for talks unless some compelling international emergency like a revival of the Berlin crisis forces Macmillan to go to Washington before springtime.

The prime minister considers it would be undignified if he were to appear to be chasing Kennedy. He feels a sudden dash to Washington before the president-elect adjusts himself would savor of over-anxiety at Britain's status as America's closest partner in the North Atlantic Alliance.

By contrast, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer announced he would be going to Washington in February. He made the announcement a few days after Kennedy's election.

To the British, Kennedy's election spells more than the rise of a dynamic symbol of American energy and youth. It ends the era of the "old boy network," in which Macmillan could telephone President Eisenhower any time for talks punctuated by "Harold" and "Ike."

Macmillan may be expected to work on for these international objectives:

1. A steady, well-prepared accent to an East-West summit meeting in order to defuse the powder keg of Berlin.

2. An impetus for the limping Geneva negotiations to ban nuclear weapons tests.

3. A new approach toward serious talks on ending the world arms race.

4. Normalizing relations with Communist China, preferably by admitting Peiping to the United Nations. This need not necessarily mean the U. S. government would have to recognize Peiping as London does.

5. Strengthening of the North Atlantic Alliance, with special emphasis on winning full French cooperation.

Nixon Clinches Alaska: Kennedy's Lead Now 18 774

WASHINGTON (AP)—Late revisions Saturday in vote counts from the Nov. 8 elections put Alaska solidly into Vice President Richard M. Nixon's column and cut Democrat John F. Kennedy's winning margin to 186,774.

With 1,305 of the nation's voting units still unreported and many absentee ballots still to be counted, the totals were Kennedy 33,896,551 and Nixon 33,709,777.

Kennedy still had 300 electoral votes—31 more than the minimum needed for election. Since Alaska earlier had been considered a likely win for Nixon, the over-all electoral vote picture was not changed.

Nixon clinched Alaska's three electoral votes as counting of absentee ballots gave him a steadily mounting lead. With about half of Alaska's approximately 5,000 absentee votes tallied and all the voting units reported, the over-all count was Nixon 29,390, Kennedy 28,437.

In California, where Nixon pulled ahead on Thursday as the counting of absentee ballots progressed, the latest over-all count was Nixon, 3,237,451 and Kennedy 3,216,745. Most of the state's absentee vote has been totaled.

With The Girl Scouts

Our three delegates to National Council, Mrs. Howard Choate, Mrs. Jack Wise and Mrs. Robert Hartman returned to Jacksonville Friday full of enthusiasm and new ideas for Girl Scouting after attending a full week's schedule of meetings with 6000 other Girl Scout leaders in St. Louis, Mo.

Jacksonville Neighborhood held a successful meeting Thursday morning at the Scout office with Mrs. Marian Clay, chairman presiding. Plans were discussed for the observance of Birthday Years —Blossoms for the Birthday Years Career Women who were Girl Scouts, Heritage Hikes were among the projects discussed. Four schools were represented at the meeting. A filmstrip "Our Cabana" was shown. The group voted not to meet in December.

Scott County Neighborhood also had a meeting on Wednesday at 1:30 o'clock at the Bluffs Methodist church with Mrs. Merton L. Pond presiding. This group also discussed Birthday Years projects and was shown a filmstrip "A Piece of Wire."

Two board committees will meet this coming week, both on Monday and both at the Girl Scout office: Training committee members will meet at 9:30 a.m. November 21 and the membership-nominating committee will meet at 7 p.m. the same day.

The office will be closed Thursday and Friday for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Troop News

Brownie Troop 52 of Lafayette school held its fly-up ceremony last Monday at the First Presbyterian church. Seven girls received their Brownie wings and Girl Scout pins: Joy Buchanan, Linda Williamson, Terry Walker, Diane Beams, Ednita Vasconcellos, Melissa Green and Jeanne Aiken.

Melanie Smith joined the troop and received her Girl Scout pin. In addition, there are 10 sixth grade girls in the troop, making a total of 18 girls. Mrs. A. K. Beams is the troop leader and she is assisted by Mrs. Roy Christison.

Chandlerville troops are busy making tray favors for Thanksgiving to take to nursing homes in Beardstown and Virginia. Intermediate Troop 87 with Mrs. Hamilton as their leader, made favors for a nursing home in Beardstown and will take them there in time for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Brownie Troop 61 of Chandlerville, Mrs. Jack Garner leader, made tray favors for the Walker Nursing home in Virginia and will take them to the home at their next meeting.

New Troop

A new Brownie Troop 110 has been organized at Our Saviour's school with Mrs. Irvin Todd and Mrs. John Phillips as leaders. On November 10 an investiture for the 23 Brownies was held in Our Saviour's school cafeteria. All members are girls in the third grade. Their mothers were invited to the investiture and cookies and coffee were served to the mothers following the program.

This troop enjoyed a wiener and marshmallow roast at Nichols Park at a previous meeting. Mothers of the girls furnished transportation.

On November 17 Troop 110 visited the Jacksonville Fire Department, walking to the station from their meeting place at school. Mrs. Karl Slacik, Mrs. C. M. Hanley, Mrs. Robert Noe, Mrs. John Doyle and Mrs. Wayne Kottwitz are all registered with the troop as assistants for troop activities.

Troop 26 of Meredosia, Mrs. Carl Caldwell leader, is composed of 4th grade Brownies who are very busy with plans for giving service. Each month this fall they have made 100 tray favors and presented them to their sponsoring organization, the American Legion Auxiliary in Meredosia, to be sent to a veterans' hospital. There are 10 girls in the troop so this project alone keeps them busy. In addition they are learning to cook and studying the various program fields in Girl Scouting to prepare them to become Intermediate Girl Scouts next year. Mrs. Ray Stockey is the assistant leader.

Anyone interested in subscribing to "Pack-o-Fun," a scrap craft magazine at reduced prices in a group rate is asked to contact the Scout office so that subscriptions can all be sent in at one time. Three persons have already indicated they want subscriptions and it is necessary to have at least five in order to secure the reduced rates.

Virginia Senior Women To Aid Public Library

VIRGINA — The Senior Woman's Club held their November meeting on the first Thursday in November. At a special meeting of the board, held at 1:30, Mrs. Charles F. Hoppin, chairman of the art committee, recommended the providing of American Heritage for the local library for one year. This recommendation was unanimously accepted by the board. A contribution was made to the Girl Scout drive.

The outstanding musical therapy department of the Jacksonville State Hospital provided an afternoon of most enjoyable music. This group is under the direction and supervision of Miss Alta Eisch. On Nov. 16 the Senior Woman's Club entertained this same group with gifts and games at the state hospital.

Mrs. John Schaeffer and Mrs. Morton Dorothy presided at the tea table, which was bedecked in shades of gold, complimented with a copper and brass service. The community achievement committee, with Mrs H. A. Snow, chairman, was in charge of refreshments.

Walnut Grove Club Meets At Sudbrink Home

The Walnut Grove Club met November 16, at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Illias. Mrs. Clifford Sudbrink was assistant hostess. A "tote" dinner was served at 1 p.m. at small tables covered with novel Thanksgiving decorations. Mrs. Byron Edwards president, presided and conducted the following program:

Minutes of the October meeting were read by Mrs. Illias, recording secretary. Twenty-one members responded to roll call "Why I Vote." There were three guests, Mrs. Robert Jokisch, Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. James Drogan. "Christmas Ideas" was the subject of a program given by Mrs. Drogan. A colorful display of articles made by the speaker added much interest. Ideas for many gifts were presented: Christmas stockings made of felt with gay decorations; wreathes and ornaments, Christmas trees, pine cones, jolly Santas were among the numerous articles.

Instructions on making them were demonstrated and patterns generously offered. Mrs. Drogan will be pleased to show this collection at her home. She is noted for her artistry in creating a wide range of novelties. There are items to please the discriminating homemaker who wants something for the holidays.

A humorous and entertaining reading, "My First Vote," was given by Mrs. John Jurgens.

The group will be entertained, December 14, by Mrs. Byron Edwards, with Mrs. Clyde Walbert and Mrs. Leon Dinwiddie as assistant hostesses. There will be an exchange of homemade gifts.

Hospital Notes

Miss Ruth Gustafson, English-Latin teacher in the Virginia High School, is a patient at Our Saviour's Hospital.

C. A. ~~Wankel~~, local rural mail carrier, suffered a heart attack while hunting on Sangamon Valley last Friday, and is a patient at Passavant Hospital in Jacksonville.

Sarah DeWitt, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. DeWitt, submitted to a tonsilectomy, at Our Saviour's Hospital Monday.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Merle York and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Donovan are spending several months in the east where they are visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fridlund, of Bay City, Wis., left for their home, Thursday, after several days visit with their daughter, Mrs. Larry Harrison, and Mr. Harrison.

Bluffs Woman's Club To Enter Sewing Contest

BLUFFS — The executive meeting of the Bluffs Junior Woman's Club was held Nov. 10. Information on the Vogue Sewing Contest which is sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs was presented to the club. It is open to anyone in a Junior Women's Club except anyone with professional sewing experience. This year there is also a contest for high school home economics classes.

The local club is to give a state hospital ward party the last of November.

Those attending the meeting included Mrs. Dean Merriman, Mrs. Leonard Nevins, Mrs. Gary Barnett, Mrs. Jack Barnett, Mrs. Wilbur Mathews and Mrs. Tom Dickens.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 8 at the home of Mrs. Jack Barnett.

Clothing Drive

The annual Thanksgiving clothing drive for St. Patrick's Catholic church in Bluffs is Nov. 20 through 25. Mildred Allen is in charge of the arrangements and it is suggested that any clean used clothing be brought to the church on Sunday morning. These are sent to Catholic Charities Overseas Relief.

CROP Sunday

CROP Sunday will be Nov. 20 in all churches in Scott County. The final report meeting will be Nov. 28 in the Winchester Christian church. Rev. Crawford Harmon of Winchester is the Scott County chairman with Rev. M. D. Goldsborough of Bluffs as township area chairman for Bluffs and Oscar Merriman for the Oxville area.

Anyone who wishes to contribute and not contacted should see Albert Herring at the First State Bank in Winchester.

The canvassers are giving the contributors three choices, cash, actual gift of corn or by telling the elevator to set aside the number of bushels of corn from their loads as they are hauled in. The goal for the county is 1000 bushels of corn and $800 or the equivalent of 1800 bushels of corn.

Solicitors for the Bluffs community include Wendell Brackett and Harold Oakes.

The corn will be taken to the Staley Plant in Decatur where it will be processed into oil and corn syrup to be sent by the Illinois churches to the agencies overseas.

A piece of corned beef brisket weighing about 3 pounds usually needs 3 to 3½ hours cooking when it is covered with water and simmered.

Meredosia Girl Scouts Design Leather Craft

MEREDOSIA—Girl Scout Troop 65 met in the home economics room Tuesday after school. The meeting opened with a ceremony singing our national anthem led by Marcia Allen, Su Lynn Young, and Judy Bradley. At patrol meetings dues were collected.

Since they are starting on the leather craft badge work, Mr. Richard James showed the girls how to trace a design on leather and demonstrated how to cut the design and use the various leatherworking tools. Each girl had an opportunity to experiment on small scraps of leather and will plan a design to put on a bookmarker at the next meeting.

Since our troop is now a year old, this was our birthday celebration meeting, and each girl received her new registration card. The leaders, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Young, gave each Scout a gold star pin which may be worn on the uniform to show she has been a Girl Scout for a year.

Shona Cooley served chocolate milk and assorted cookies to the troop at the close of the meeting.

ELVIS PRESLEY — Swings Out Starting Wednesday

PRESLEY PERFORMS AGAIN AND THE FRAULEINS FLIP in Hal Wallis' Technicolor musical romance, "G.I. Blues," which marks Elvis' return to cinematic life following his Army duties. The Paramount release, due Wednesday at the Illinois Theatre, co-stars dancer Juliet Prowse (top girl), with the Italian dish, Leticia Roman, and German beauty, Sigrid Maier, featured.

McCurdy Ford Sales Will Move To New Building

McCurdy Ford Sales, Inc. is preparing to move into its handsome new building, 1312 West Morton avenue, which is now nearing completion. The move from 235 North Main street to the new structure will take place during the week end of Nov. 26, and the company will be ready for business at the new building Nov. 28. Ed McCurdy, president of the company, said the tentative date for the grand opening and dedication is Dec. 8.

Mr. McCurdy said the opening of the new building culminates years of planning toward the better facilities provided by the West Morton avenue building, which has been under construction for about five months.

The ample parking and easy access from not only West Morton avenue but a rear entrance provide convenience for customers. The parking lot covers two-and-one half acres.

The new building is completely fireproof, being constructed with steel frame, brick and concrete block walls, and a steel built-up roof. Carroll Rexroat was general contractor, as well as architect; Midland Electric designed the wiring; Earl Walters Plumbing Co., did the plumbing; Walton & Co. is furnishing the heat and air conditioning equipment for the front end, show rooms, and offices. The Caldwell Engineering Co. installed the gas heating system in the shop. This system is something new to this area, Mr. McCurdy said, being infra-red radiant heating. The system has small ceramic burners placed close to the ceiling, the heat being projected to the floor and radiates back from the floor. The floor is constantly held in temperatures comparable to the existing room temperature.

The building is designed to give maximum convenience to provide service for all customers, whether for parts, service, or new and used cars.

Mr. Rexroat in his planning and construction has made the most of a varied number of woods and materials to give an extremely pleasant appearance to the offices and show rooms. Rough cedar paneling on one wall of the show room has a softening effect in contrast to the chrome, glass and brick finishes. He has used quarry tile for the display room floor as it has been proven one of the most durable and attractive materials that can be used in a building of this kind.

"The new building has only been made possible through the continued loyalty of our many fine friends and customers," Mr. McCurdy said yesterday. "We have constructed this fine new plant with complete confidence in the future of Jacksonville and Morgan county."

Used cars will be displayed at the same location, with the lot to the east of the main building. The company will within a short time discontinue the used car sales lot at the southwest corner of Morton and Lincoln avenues.

Mrs. Edgar Ford Will Mark 97th Birthday In Greene

ROODHOUSE—Mrs. Edgar Ford will observe her 97th birthday anniversary at her home here, Wednesday, Nov. 23. Mrs. Ford, alert mentally, has with her since suffering a fractured hip, Mrs. Hazel Mantle, formerly of Murrayville. No special celebration has been planned.

Mrs. Ford, the former Sophia Baxter, lost her husband, Rev. Ford, a Baptist minister, some years ago. She has a son, George Ford, Cherryvale, Kan.; a daughter, Mrs. Lester (Mabel) Krug, Manteno. There are three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Named Chairman

Mrs. Richard Hopkins has been named chairman for a chili supper for band members and their parents to be held Monday, Nov. 21 at 6:30 at the First Baptist church fellowship room. A program has been planned. All band members and their parents are invited to attend.

Retain Manager

Officers and directors of the Roodhouse Industrial Development Association have approved the retaining of R. F. Dill as secretary-manager of the organization. Provisions of the appointment include the establishment of an RIDA office at the McConathy agency offices with supplies and means for actively promoting this community. Paul W. Browne, inventor and head of the IDEA organization, Winchester, formed for the purpose of encouraging inventive genius, discussed the goals of his group at the last meeting of the RI DA. Ralph McConathy, president, conducted the meeting.

Guests

Guests in the home of their uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Bucklin, have been Mr. and Mrs. Guy H. Forbes, Limon, Colo. Accompanying the couple here were Dr. Bucklin's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Sitton of Ford, Kan.

80th Birthday

Mrs. Ollie Adams quietly celebrated her 80th birthday anniversary at her home, Sunday. Mrs. Adams is the mother of the following children: Mrs. Walter Hicks, Eugene Adams, Roodhouse; Mrs. Andy Powiess, Springfield; Mrs. Edward Barnes, Jacksonville; Junior Lee Adams, Louisville, Ky. There are 17 grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Akers, Wednesday, were his aunt, Mrs. R. Y. Gibson, and daughter, Mrs. Russell Points, Waverly.

Mrs. McCarthy To Speak On Holy Land

VIRGINIA—Mrs. Alvahlee S. McCarthy, teacher and world traveler, will show slides on the Holy Land at the annual Public Thank Offering program of the United Lutheran Church Women on Sunday evening, Nov. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lutheran church. Mrs. McCarthy visited the Holy Land in 1954, and again in 1956 She has been traveling for 14 summers and has visited 63 nations and 10 island groups. A social hour and refreshments in the church basement will follow the program. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stuhmer of Chandlerville, Mr. and Mrs. David Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walbert of Virginia have returned from a trip to New York City. The men in the party were awarded the trip by the Illinois Farm Supply for outstanding salesmanship and their wives were included on the trip.

Greene Road Commissioner Injures Foot

ROODHOUSE—George Carman, road commissioner, suffered injury to his left foot Tuesday afternoon while assisting in the work on a bulldozer. The men working at the city machine garage were jacking up the bulldozer with a large jack which slipped letting the machine fall back on the commissioner's foot.

He was taken to Our Saviour's hospital, Jacksonville, where x-rays revealed a fracture. The foot will be placed in a cast when conditions permit.

News Notes

Mrs. Nelle Hedges has re-entered Our Saviour's hospital, Jacksonville. Mrs. Hedges sustained a hip fracture some time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ballard and family, Bethalto, have returned home after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Ballard. The visiting Ballards were accompanied by their house guests from the state of Washington.

Plan Service At Wesley Chapel November 23

The annual Union Thanksgiving Service of the Lynnville area will be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 23 beginning at 7:30 p.m. Churches participating are the Lynnville Christian Church, Lynnville Methodist Church, Wesley Chapel and Riggston Church. There will be a service at the Wesley Chapel with the sermon being given by the pastor, Rev. Jack Thompson. The Rev. J. W. Patterson and Rev. Larry Bryant will assist in the service and special music will be provided by the participating churches.

As has been the custom in the past an offering will be taken for the Salvation Army. The public is cordially invited to attend and worship with us.

Plan Holiday Festivities For Virginia High

VIRGINIA — Each year, on Thanksgiving eve, the Virginia High school student Council has sponsored a Homecoming and the first basketball game of the season precedes the Homecoming festivities. However, this year two nights will present Homecoming programs.

Tuesday night, November 22, a basketball game with Meredosia-Chambersburg Community Unit High School will begin at 6:45 p.m. During the half time of the varsity ball game, the Queen's Court will be presented. On the second night, November 23, beginning at 7:30, activities will feature the High School chorus, grade school chorus. After the opening festivities there will be the presentation of the usherettes and the Queen's Court, followed by the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. The escorts will be chosen from the athletic teams.

The Homecoming dance will follow the coronation, when Lyn Symmonds' band will furnish the music.

Christmas Party

Plans for the annual American Legion and Auxiliary Christmas party were made Wednesday evening at the Auxiliary meeting. The party will be held December 14 and a potluck supper will be served at 6:30.

Mrs. Russell Decker, president, appointed the following committee to plan the party: Mrs. Connie Collins, chairman; members, Mrs. Harry Devlin, Mrs. Mary Lee Treadway, Mrs. George McDonald, Mrs. Robert Middleton, Mrs. Gerald Darland.

Lutheran Women

VIRGINIA—The United Lutheran Church Women met Wednesday, Nov. 9 at the church basement. The president, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, called the meeting to order.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas led devotions. The hymn, "Come Holy Ghost our Soul Inspire," was sung by the group. Mrs. Thomas, assisted by Mrs. Betty Stone, gave an interesting skit on "Thanksgiving."

Mrs. Jean Harrison, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting. Fifteen members answered the roll call with a Bible verse containing the word "offering." The December meeting will be a Christmas party. Everyone who has a "Mystery Pal" is to bring a gift.

Mrs. Hazel Sweatman has purchased some books that will be put in the bookcase so anyone can use them. Several members reported on the Central Conference meeting, held in Litchfield.

Mrs. Marie Reichert, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers they had nominated. The new officers for 1961 are: Dorothy Smith, president Jean Harrison, vice president; Annabelle Jokisch, secretary; Wilma Rossi, treasurer; Rosemary Winner, chairman Membership Committee; Betty Stone, chairman Education Committee; Betty Middendorf, chairman Offering Committee; Martha Birnbaum, chairman Christian Service Committee.

The meeting closed with all uniting in the Missionary Benediction.

Mrs. Hazel Sweatman and Mrs. Jean Harrison served delicious refreshments from a table decorated in keeping with Thanksgiving.

Birthday

Mrs. Paul Millner enjoyed a happy birthday anniversary on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Theron Johnson, of Springfield, were guests in the evening. Mr. Johnson is a son of Mrs. Millner. Mrs. Brown brought a beautifully decorated birthday cake which was served during the evening.

ROTARY CLUB INDUCTS NEW MEMBERS

The local Rotary Club has inducted fourteen new members since July of this year. Above left to right they are Harry Crabtree, Gibson Construction Co.; Ed Jackson, Andrews Lumber Co.; Rev. Walter Pruett, Centenary Methodist Church; Kenneth Mangum, superintendent at Illinois School for Deaf; Charles Runkel, chief of police; Tom Rusinek, secretary Chamber of Commerce; Bud Crawford, Crawford Lumber Company; Howard Busey, Times Theatre; Larry Morgan, Morgan Ford Tractor Sales; and Marvin Weber, Savings and Loan.

Not shown are Gordon Michalson, president of MacMurray College; H. Russell Coulter, District Superintendent Illinois Conference of Methodist Churches; J. Paul Gnagy, senior active member; and Henry Busche, MacMurray College.

Heading for one of its most active years the Rotary Club has inducted a record number of members throughout the entire district. A full program of social and civic events under the leadership of president Don Fahnstock is in progress.

Rev. Walter Pruett, one of the new members, was the program speaker for the meeting November 18 using for his topic "Thanksgiving". Plans for a Christmas party to be held December 16 are being made by Lou Dean and his committee. The Rotarians and wives will be guests at an evening social at that time.

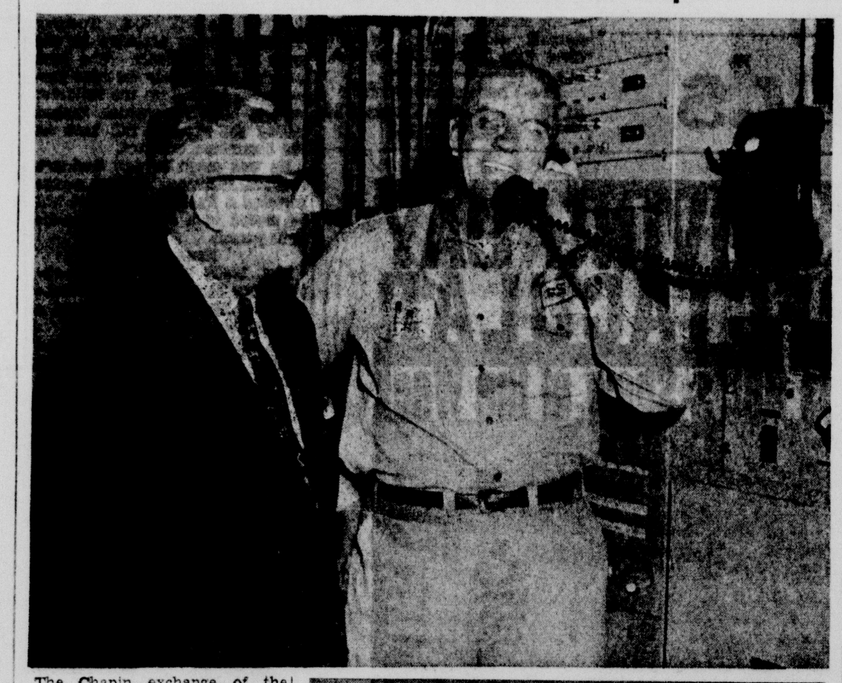
Twist The Dial—'Hello Chapin'



The Chapin exchange of the General Telephone Company was successfully converted to Dial Operation at 2 p.m., November 15. In top picture Mayor Deneen Brewer with Raymond C. Prye, District Commercial Manager, looking on, completes the first Extended Area Service (EAS) call to Mayor Robert DuBois of Jacksonville.

Prye said "with the completion of this project Chapin customers can call Jacksonville and Jacksonville customers can call Chapin without charge."

Chapin customers can now call hundreds of cities throughout the United States by means of Direct Distance Dialing.

In completing the Chapin Dial Conversion, some 5,000 man-hours were expended. Chapin Dial is one of the projects in the more than $14,000,000 1960 construction program of the General Telephone Company of Illinois.

Janet Keller Weds In Carrollton Rites

CARROLLTON — A nuptial high mass at St. John's Catholic church Saturday Nov. 19 at 10:30 a.m. united in marriage Miss Janet Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keller of Carrollton, and Joseph G. Harney Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harney Sr., of St. Louis, Mo.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Michael Enright officiated at the nuptial mass and the double ring marriage ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a white peau de soie gown fashioned with a sabrina neckline of embroidered alencon lace extending into the molded empress bodice which featured bracelet length sleeves and small covered buttons down the back. The very bouffant skirt which was worn over layers of crinolines, ended in a full sweep train. Her veil was secured to a tiny cap of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white pom poms.

The maids of honor were Miss Eleanor Tepen and Miss Mary Helen Vandersand both of Carrollton with Larry Merlich of St. Louis as best man and Jack Keller, brother of the bride as groomsman. The ushers were Roger Keller brother of the bride and Ronnie Carter, a cousin of the bride both of Carrollton. Both Miss Tepen and Miss Vandersand appeared wearing royal blue satin ballerina length gowns fashioned with square necklines and short sleeves. Self trim bows accented the waistlines and they carried bouquets of small yellow and rust colored pom poms. The flower girl was Miss Donna Kay Keller of Carrollton sister of the bride.

A reception was held immediately following the wedding in St. John's School hall.

Mrs. Harney is a graduate of Carrollton High School in the class of 1957 and is employed at the American Banking Company in St. Louis. Her husband is a graduate of the McBride High School and is employed by the Volkswagon Distributing Company in St. Louis.

Marquette Boys Entertain Club At Carrollton

CARROLLTON — The Boys from the Marquette Boys Home at Grafton presented the program at the meeting of the Carrollton Woman's club held Wednesday evening in the American Legion hall following a dinner at which 14 boys from the home and some of the teachers were guests.

The program consisted of a trio sung by Terry Smith, Richard Kopsie and Sammy Standfer; poems were recited by Glenn Klemm, Wayne Warren, Larry Misacontis, Earl Barnes; pantomines were presented by Kent Crow, Ralph McManuway, David McManuway, Conna Taylor; and accordion solos were played by Kent Crow. The master of ceremonies was Ellis Stapleton and the record player was operated by Eddie Kopsie.

In the business meeting which followed the program, letters were read by the secretary, Mrs. Oren Siebermann concerning the possibility of sponsoring a sewing contest both for adults and for the youth of the city. A letter was also read concerning contributions to CARE which are to be made in March if the club decides to contribute to this cause. It was announced gifts would be taken to the December meeting for residents of the State Hospital in Jacksonville. The Christmas meeting will be held December 14 in the Carrollton City hall and the program will be presented by the young people who attended Music Camp. The hostesses will be Mrs. Neal Gillingham, Mrs. P. J. Achenbach, Mrs. E. L. Sharon, Mrs. Kenneth Byland, Mrs. Ray Klinepeter and Mrs. Robert Clanahan.

Business Reports Given At Meeting Of Virginia WSCS

VIRGINIA — The W.S.C.S. of the Virginia Methodist church held the November meeting at the church, Tuesday, Nov. 15. The Board meeting was in session at 1:30 p.m., with Mrs. Frank Bruno, president, presiding. She also presided at the regular meeting at 2 p.m. Mrs. Harry Watkins gave the meditations. Mrs. Leon Dinwiddie joined Mrs. Watkins in the reading of Scripture from the Book of Mark. A Thanksgiving hymn was sung by the group. Mrs. John Kerry accompanied at the piano.

The business meeting opened with the minutes being read by Mrs. Kerry, recording secretary. Results of the bazaar were reported, showing substantial amounts in the treasury, which helps the Society in the completion of the church improvements. The efforts necessary for success in this annual bazaar and chicken pie dinner are always registered in the financial results. The Society wishes to express sincere appreciation to all friends and neighbors for their co-operation.

Recent work was the re-decorating of the dining room. Wall panels were used on the wall and acoustical tile was placed on the ceiling, which reduces the noise and clatter of serving. New window shades, traverse rods and beautiful draperies were in place and added a finishing touch to the room.

The serving room in the kitchen was enlarged by a built in cabinet. A garbage disposal has been installed. All new features were much appreciated and compliments were expressed as the dinner was served.

Mrs. Elmer Webster, secretary of children's work, reported on the study class for the Children's Missionary Group. Classes were held at the church after school for eight weeks this fall. The average attendance was 16. The primary group studied two books, title of the first one was "Here and There With the Bible," the second one being "Larry." Subjects for the junior group were "Adventures With the Bible" and "Old Trails And New," with Mrs. Jesse Wilhite as teacher. Refreshments at the close of each session were furnished by Mrs. Charles Bennett. Pupils made a contribution of $10 to the children's worship fund.

The lesson study topic, "Into All the World Together," was prepared by Mrs. George Huffman. A panel discussion was participated in by Mrs. J. G. Murphy, Mrs. H. A. Snow, Mrs. Harry Thompson and Mrs. Leslie Wildt. Information on the work of the World Council of Churches, with references from the Methodist Woman and World Outlook added interesting phases to the subject. Mrs. Charles Bennett talked of work along this line being done in our own community. She also gave a report on the amount collected for UNICEF, which was $142. Co-operation of all churches helped make this a very successful project.

Mrs. Robert Fisher presented two vocal numbers, "The Lord's Prayer," by LaMotte and "Blow, Gabriel, Blow," by Porter and played her own accompaniment on the piano.

Mrs. H. A. Snow gave a most interesting talk on churches she visited on a recent trip to Mexico.

The benediction was pronounced by Mrs. Watkins.

Hostesses were Mrs. Scheihagen, chairman; members, Mrs. Virgil Lewis, Miss Bertha Jokisch, Mrs. Howard Tink, Mrs. Harry Watkins and Mrs. Louis Middendorf. The entire committee was present to serve in the dining room. Mrs. Charles Bennett poured coffee at the lace covered table. A Thanksgiving motif made a festive setting. A bronze pottery turkey held down an arrangement of straw flowers with yellow candles on each side. The dainty pumpkin spiced cupcakes were covered with yellow frosting. The napkins carried out holiday colors. Thirty members were present. The next program will be arranged by Mrs. V. E. Robertson on a Christmas theme, Dec. 13.

$19,200 Paid For Thirty Acre Farm

John D. Carruthers and his sister, Miss Marian Carruthers, were purchasers of a 30-acre farm and all-modern six room residence one-half mile northwest of Waverly at a master-in-chancery sale Saturday morning at the Morgan county court house. The price was $640 per acre, a total of $19,200.

The sale was held by Master-In-Chancery Guy C. Winks pursuant to a decree in the partition suit of William Graefe vs. Minnie B. Grafe et al. William T. Wilson of this city is attorney for the plaintiff, and Fred N. Herr of Waverly is attorney for certain defendants.

Two Jacksonville Sales

Two pieces of property in Jacksonville changed ownership at an executors' sale held at 10 a.m., disposing of real estate belonging to the estate of Elizabeth Gorman.

A five room modern bungalow at 310 East Wolcott street was sold to Edith and Frances Taylor on their bid of $5,850.

A modern two story, three apartment building at 252 Caldwell street was purchased by Charles Smith, his bid being $8,000.

Edward J. Flynn is attorney for the executors, Eldon Gruber and Lillian Gruber Brown.

Both sales were conducted by Middendorf Brothers, who also were auctioneers of the Waverly farm sale.

JACKSONVILLE RANKS HIGH IN GRAIN SHOW

Students of 13 high school vocational agriculture departments in Section 15, Future Farmers of America, competed Saturday in the sectional grain show held at Franklin High school. James Brim, Franklin instructor, was in general charge of the show and James Dunseth of Waverly was the judge.

Representing Jacksonville High school were Kenneth Hess, Charles Richardson, Keith Van Bebber, Steve Richardson, Ronald Tomhave, Ray Menge, Gordon Heaton, Jim Scott, David Hall and Warren Vasey.

The local entrants scored high in all sections of the show, and took the four top ribbons in the shelled yellow corn show, which had 71 entries. Charles Richardson took first, followed by Steve Richardson, David Hall and Raymond Menge. Wayne Smith of Franklin placed fifth.

Wayne Smith, however, placed first in the 20 pounds of ear corn sample, which is placed on shelling percentage, test weight and moisture percentage as well as quality. He was followed by Larry Brown, Waverly; Charles Richardson, Jacksonville; Bill Edwards, Franklin; Bob Bodner, Staunton; Kenneth Hess, Jacksonville; Buell Smith, Winchester; David Hall, Jacksonville; Cory Hubbert, Winchester, and David Hildebrand, Gillespie.

There were 16 samples of soybeans entered. Group A was made up of Dale Boedecker, Gillespie; Harold Morthole, Bluffs; Bill Becker, Franklin; Wayne Bishop, Staunton; James Summers, Waverly; Bill Edwards, Franklin; Keith Van Bebber, Jacksonville, and Larry Mueller, Bluffs.

The small grain and hay show was very light this year.

The Jacksonville contestants were accompanied to the show by their coach, Bill Fortschneider.

Believes Surplus Food Should Feed The Hungry

1400 Mound Ave.
Jacksonville, Ill.
November 18, 1960

Editor, Journal Courier
Jacksonville, Illinois

Dear Sir,

I am deeply concerned that our nation continues to pile up mountains of surplus food. I am concerned because, as a taxpayer, I do not relish the idea of the government I help support spending $1000 a minute —one and a half million dollars a day— to store food that eventually will rot, become infested with insects, become rancid, get too dry, hard, flavorless for even animals to eat. I am no economist, but I cannot believe that this is good economy or even good sense.

My concern about this waste is even greater when I remember that every night more than half the people in this world go to bed hungry Every day, a hundred thousand people die of starvation. The equivalent of four Jacksonvilles, or three Morgan Counties, is wiped out everyday, by starvation, while our nation hoards —and pays millions of dollars to do so—food that could save lives. This is hard for us to realize, especially for those of us who, for esthetic or medical reasons, have the problem of trying to cut down on calories.

In a few days we shall be celebrating Thanksgiving Day—the day when we stuff ourselves as well as the turkey. We have much to be thankful for. We should show our gratitude to God every day of the year. But deeds rather than words are a more sincere way of doing so. There are means by which everyone of us can share our abundance with our starving brothers. Through the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP), farmers can share their surplus crops and others can contribute money for distributive costs. Another channel is Share Our Surplus (SOS)) through which, for every dollar we contribute, over 400 pounds of surplus food is sent to the hungry millions. Five dollars to SOS, for example, brings bread to 6000 needy persons; ten dollars provides bowls of cereal to 40,000 hungary children.

Both of these programs are part of Church World Service. Donations to CROP may be made to the County Chairman, Richard Nesmith, MacMurray College. Donations to SOS can be made through the minister of your church. In addition, I am happy to know that the Jacksonville Council of Churches has earmarked for SOS the entire offering to be received at their annual Thanksgiving Service to be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 23, at the First Presbyterian Church.

Surely none of us can sit down at our overladen tables on Thanksgiving Day, or any other day, without first sharing our bounty with the countless millions, who, through no fault of their own, must starve and watch their children starve.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach

Expect Kennedy To Start Food Stamp Plan To Move Surplus Foods To Needy

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first major move of the Kennedy administration to implement its farm program may be the establishment of a food stamp plan for moving surplus foods to needy persons.

This plan was promised by the Democratic platform and by Sen. John F. Kennedy, the President-elect, in campaign speeches.

The Kennedy farm program can be divided into two facets—one affecting farm production, the other affecting distribution of agricultural commodities.

The way is clear—legislatively speaking as well as financially—to move into the distribution phase. But Congressional action is needed to carry out major production phases. As a consequence, it could well be 1962 before much can be done with regard to production.

The theme of the Kennedy program was to bring about a better balance between farm production and distribution.

Kennedy would seek to expand distribution through a food stamp plan and movement of labor supplies abroad to needy areas. Then if this expanded distribution still left overproduction, he would propose rigid production controls.

Congress last year gave the Agriculture Department authority to set up a food stamp plan, but Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson chose not to use it because, he said, such a program would be more expensive to operate than the present direct distribution program.

Under the food stamp plan, the government would issue scrip to needy persons which could be used at regular grocery stores to purchase the designated surplus foods. The government would redeem the scrip through banks. Under the prescnt plan, the government donates stocks of food to state welfare agencies which in turn distribute it among local welfare units for distribution to relief clients.

The stamp plan undoubtedly would be set up in a few scattered areas at first so that experience might be gained in administering it before expanding it throughout the country. It first would go to economically distressed areas, including coal mining and steel centers where there is much unemployment, industrial areas suffering economic adjustments and to low income rural areas.

The Agriculture Department has ample funds to start the program. Money authorized for removal of farm surpluses from markets could be used for this purpose.

Foods made available under the stamp plan would be limited at first to those now being donated under the direct distribution plan. These are largely cereals, such as flour, cornmeal, dry beans, nonfat dry milk, rice, and food fats.

But the plan might well come in handy—not only from the standpoint of the needy but from that of producers—next fall and winter. There are signs now that price and marketing problems may develop in the livestock sector by that time.

Production of hogs is on a new upturn and prices could be considerably lower a year from now. The distribution of scrip to the needy for the purchase of pork through the stamp plan could do much to bolster hog prices. Likewise, supplies of beef are expected to be much larger with prices dipping to cause trouble for cattlemen. The addition of beef to the food stamp plan could do much to strengthen cattle prices.

Two Soloists With Band; Busch Director

Highlighting the November 20 concert of the MacMurray College Band directed by Henry Busohe, will be two soloists, including Wayne L. Combs, principal flutist of the Springfield Symphony Orchestra and part-time instructor of flute at MacMurray College.

Mr. Combs was a student of two former principal flutists of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and has a Master of Music Education degree. He has often been solo flutist or clinician in Springfield, Chicago, Champaign, and other Illinois cities.

In this concert, he will perform Frenchwoman Cecile Chaminale's "Concertino" and Eldin Burton's "Alegro giocoso (quasi fandango)" from his prize-winning Sonatina. He will be accompanied at the piano by Melvin Libman, a senior at MacMurray.

HENRY BUSCHE

Also featured will be trumpet soloist, Robert Koeller, a junior from Barry, Ill. Koeller began playing the cornet when he was 10 years old. When he was only 12, he was a last-minute replacement in a high school cornet trio for a district contest. The trio won first place in both the district and the state. Since then, Bob has taken many lessons, won many contests, played in many dance bands and in the First Regiment Band of the University of Illinois Band, and is now a member of the MacMurray College Band. He will play "Concerto for Trumpet" by Haydn, and will be accompanied by the band.

Directing the band for its second concert of the year will be Henry Busche. Mr. Busche took his undergraduate work at Indiana Central College receiving a Bachelor of Arts degree. He earned his Master of Music degree at the University of Michigan, and is at present finishing work on his doctorate at the University of Illinois.

The concert will be held at 3:30 p.m. in Orr Auditorium on the MacMurray campus. The public is cordially invited.

JUST A DUD

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)— Frank Nevarea, night watchman at the Pima County Courthouse, noticed an ugly-looking grenade on the desk of Asst. Planning Director John Tsaguris.

Nevarea called police. Officers notified demolition experts from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base. They pronounced the grenade a dud.

Tsaguris said he was amazed at all the fuss. He had been using the grenade as a paperweight for the last year.

Journalist From Africa To Visit At Ashland

ASHLAND— Jan D. Smith of Johannesburg, South Africa will arrive in Ashland Monday, Nov. 21 where he will spend three days.

Mr. Smith was born in Richmond, Cape Province Feb. 26, 1923. He has a B.A., and M.A. degree from the University of Stellenbosch. He is employed at present as a senior journalist on the personal staff of the editor of the Star. Mr. Smith entered journalism as a reporter and served on a number of prominent Afrikaan newspapers before joining the staff of Die Vaderland, the Afrikkaan daily in Johannesburg, where he spent many years as a political writer in the Houses of Parliament and subsequently became a columnist. He has just published a book on race relations in South Africa called "The Gulf Between."

Studying Nationalities

His primary purpose for visiting the United States is to study the way different nationalities such as Jews, the Italians and Irish are integrated into the American way of life. He wants to study the negro-white situation in the United States. He is interested in the way negroes are being integrated in North America and will follow this up with a tour of the Deep South and border states and the West, including the Mid-West where the Red Indians are being rehabilitated.

Mr. Smith is married and has two sons.

Friday Night, Nov. 20

The third in a series of four "Family Nights" will be held at the local Methodist church this Sunday night, Nov. 20. A committee, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bottens, Mrs. Eleanor Isenhower and Mrs. Beulah Lewis will serve a light supper at 5:45 p.m. Following the supper, the family will join in group singing and fellowship activities including numbers presented by both a clarinet trio and a vocal trio.

The families will then divide into age groups with all of junior age and below making a special study of the Bible and its use around the world. The youth and adults are studying the theme "The Stumbling Block"—a school of alcohol and Christian responsibility.

The public is invited to attend these services.

J. T. Smothers of the Ashland Implement Co., attended the introduction of Allis-Chalmers 1961 line of farm equipment held during the first two weeks of this month at French Lick, Ind. More than 3,000 dealers from throughout the United States and Canada attended the presentations.

Nine members of the Loyal Berean Sunday school class of the Church of Christ met Thursday afternoon in the church basement for their regular meeting. The meeting was opened up with prayer by Mrs. Hattie Douglass. The scripture and devotions were in charge of Mrs. Alice Marian and Mrs. Murphy.

At the December meeting, an exchange of gifts will be held.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Beulah Mitchell and Mrs. Mollie Summers.

Waverly Club Farewell Supper Fetes McMahons

WAVERLY—Mr. and Mrs. Adrian McMahon were honored at a potluck supper given by members of the pinochle and bunco club of which they are members, Mr. McMahon was recently transferred to Mattoon.

Club members met in the Catholic church basement where a full course turkey dinner, with all trimmings, was prepared by Mrs. Lois Sims, Mrs. Helen Maher and Mrs. Barbara McCready.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Alderson, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Crank, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sims, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCready, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Queen, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ladage, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. Meryl Newberry, Mr. and Mrs. Don Deatherage, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin DeLong, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Dwane Heine, Mr. and Mrs. William Maher, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryan and the McMahons.

Fete Miss Ommen With Party At Arenzville Home

ARENZVILLE—A miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Wilma Ommen was held Saturday evening, with Mrs. Robert Werries, Miss Helen Kolberer, and Mrs. Richard Lippert as hostesses, at the latter's home.

A color scheme of green and white was used, and the guest of honor opened her lovely gifts from a table centered with a cluster of wedding bells. The serving table featured a centerpiece of white mums topped with a bride and groom.

Bridal games werep layed and prizes were awarded. Those present were Miss Linda Jones of Springfield; Mrs. Marvin Ommen, Mrs. Larry Noble, Miss Lucille Ommen, Miss Sharon Ommen, and the hostesses, Mrs. Robert Werries, Miss Helen Kolberer, and Mrs. Richard Lippert. Those sending gifts but unable to attend were Miss Susan Shannon and Mrs. Glen Housam.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Concert Artist Upholds Prediction By Press

by Hugh Beggs

A capacity audience gathered in Annie Merner Chapel on the MacMurray College campus Thursday evening to hear a piano recital by Hans Richter-Haaser. This was the first of the season's concerts sponsored by the Jacksonville-MacMurray Music Association.

Mr. Richter-Haaser's coming was heralded by a list of superlatives that seemed almost too good to be true. But in the first minutes of the Schumann Novelette with which the program began, it was apparent that these glowing accounts were in no way exaggerated.

The audience was spellbound by a great performance of great music. It has been a number of years since Jacksonville has heard piano music of this stature.

It is difficult to explain the secret of the performer's art. There was a wonderful rhythmic sense, poised and buoyant that carried the whole thing without beating at one. There was effortless yet immense power and incredible lightness and clarity. There was a love of melody that made the player find it everywhere. There was a love of melody that made the player find it everywhere. There was an exhiliarating feeling for climaxes, built slowly but inevitably.

There are those who thought they had heard Schubert's "Wanderer" Fantasy and Beethoven's "Waldstein" Sonata before only to discover they seemed to be hearing them Thursday evening for the first time with their true musical impact revealed.

The "Wanderer" was written when Schubert was only 17 and while sonority was piled on sonority, for once it did not seem that Schubert had misjudged or overtaxed the piano's capabilities in this work. The mystery and questioning, wondering quality of the slow section of the "Waldstein" was ideally projected.

The four encores were all by Beethoven, random movements from the sonatas and the rarely heard Polonaise Op. 89. Record collectors will await eagerly the project of Mr. Richter-Haaser's recording of all the 32 sonatas by Beethoven for Angel Records.

When asked what he thought of our Jacksonville audience he replied in a nice German accent "fabulous."

1961 Cerebral Palsy Poster Girl Is Little Heart Stealer

CHICAGO (AP) — Patricia Robins, 4, the 1961 Cerebral Palsy Poster girl, is too playful and happy to break any hearts. But she's stealing a few.

The pretty little brunette has been reared not to feel sorry for herself. Asked if she is handicapped, Pat first shook her head, the corrected herself with:

"Yes. But I'm not crippled. I have cerebral palsy."

Pat, her twin Jacquelyn, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ravers Robins of Levittown, N.Y., flew to the 11th annual national conference of the United Cerebral Palsy Associations for the announcement Friday of Pat's selection as poster girl.

As the "junior marcher" in the associations' "53 Minute March on Cerebral Palsy" in January, Pat will join Donnie Spray, 5, the "senior marcher." Donnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donals Spray, Los Angeles, Calif.

Mrs. Robins agreed to let Pat become the poster child only because Jacquelyn, known as Jacquie to her parents and playmates, has been allowed to accompany Pat. Jacquelyn is not handicapped.

"They always have been together, the mother explained. "I feel they gain a lot from each other.

"Their father and I try not to show one girl more attention than the other. But, of course, Jacquie feels jealous of Pat at times. People always ask, 'How is Pat?' And Jacquie always has been shyer than Pat."

It was for her outgoing personality, winning smile, and gift of easy conversation that Pat was chosen by the associations to help publicize their $11.5 million drive for research and rehabilitation. The campaign title is based on the statistic that every 53 minutes a child with cerebral palsy is born.

"Jacquie, who is very active, has asked me why Pat can't walk as she can," Mrs. Robins said. "I've told her Pat's muscles aren't as well-developed as hers and that she needs special training. I've been told Pat will walk some day."

Doctors confirmed the Robins' suspicions that Pat was born with the disease. With treatment she learned to sit up, stand, and this summer, walk with the aid of braces and crutches.

SCIENTISTS AT WORK

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cotton plants which starve their enemy pests; signals from Jupiter, and sharper creases in wool clothes figure in current science and technology:

STARVATION WARFARE

In warfare against insects, scientists are trying to take the honeypot out of cotton fields.

Nectar produced by cotton plants is a favorite food of some destructive pests. The goal of plant geneticists is to produce cotton plants which produce nectar only during their brief flowering time, and not during the rest of the season.

Then, they hope, pests which like nectar will have to seek out other plants, and will not lay their eggs on cotton, producing voracious larvae. U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists have developed some promising cotton strains which produce only floral nectar, and just on the days when flowers bloom.

JUPITER'S SIGNALS

Jupiter radiates radio signals or noises which can be recorded on earth.

Some of these signals come in intense but sporadic bursts. Guesses about their cause include lightning discharges, volcanic explosions, chemical reactions in the Jovian atmosphere, and charged particles from the sun, especially after solar flares, which create storms producing radio noise.

Support for the latter theory was found in recent studies when the earth passed between Jupiter and the sun by Thomas D. Carr and Alex G. Smith, University of Florida, and Heins Bollhagen, Santiago, Chile. They found that the sporadic radio noise often correlated with the time it would take sun bursts of particles to reach Jupiter.

HANG THE HUMIDITY

Creases or pleats in wool slacks and skirts which last longer in rainy or humid weather are promised by Department of Agriculture research. Scientists found the trick was to spray or dip the fabric in a solution of ethanolamine, with a little detergent added to facilitate wetting. Then the damp fabric is steam-pressed.

Faith Lutheran Women To Send Gifts To School

The afternoon group of the Faith Lutheran church met Nov. 16th with Mrs. M. Meyer. Mrs. Vic Mosley had the topic, These Are Serving, with all ladies taking part. Onward Christian Soldiers was sung and prayer offered by Mrs Mosley.

Mrs. Dona Seeman, chairman, called the meeting to order and routine business was conducted. Roll was answered by 11 members with scripture containing the word, Thankful.

Cancer bandages were folded and each member was asked to bring a gift to be sent to a school in Lincoln, also two dozen cookies by Dec. 4th. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

The December meeting will be held with Mrs. Volney Chappel.

Carrollton Hospital Notes

CARROLLTON—Mrs. Ivy Daniels, who suffered a fracture of her leg in a fall at her home Thursday evening, was taken to Boyd Memorial hospital in the Mehl ambulance for X-rays and then moved to St. Joseph's hospital in Alton. New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)— The stock market moved indecisively over a narrow range this week. At the finish it was a little under last Friday, making the first down week after three advancing ones.

The market dipped Monday on unfavorable business news emphasizing the recession in business, particularly the capital goods industries. Tuesday saw a good rally and was notable for the emergence of some old glamor groups—bowling, vending, photographic supplies.

The rally lasted just one day. It couldn't continue over to Wednesday or Thursday, when stocks eased both days. Selling pressure wasn't urgent and volume dwindled to the lowest level since Oct. 19.

On Friday the market came back a bit. Gains weren't spectacular but the bulls derived some encouragement from the fact trading picked up a little on the advance. Normally, volume slackens on Fridays as some traders head for the country and long weekends.

The basic business news was none too encouraging, but the market appeared to be at a point where it could take some of the distressing statistics without retreating too much.

For the week 603 stocks advanced while 680 declined. New highs for the year totaled 59 and new yearly lows 53.

The Associated Press 60 stock average declined .30 for the week to 214.30.

Volume for the week was 13.97 million shares compared with 13.74 million in the previous week, when there were only four trading sessions. The daily average this week was 2.79 million shares compared with 3.44 million in the preceeding week.

The most active stocks on the American Stock Exchange was Ford Ltd. up 6¼ at 19 on 211,900 shares.

Bond prices registered small net losses during the week as a huge wave of new financing flooded the market.

For the first time in over a year—since the week ended Sept. 11, 1959—all five components of the Associated Press bond index declined. Utilities and foreign bonds fell the most, the foreign issues to their lowest level of 1960.

Corporates were uneven the previous two weeks and have not advanced since the third week of October.

New corporate issues totaled over $200 million while the blue list's count of advertised, municipal bonds on dealers' shelves rose to almost $357 million from $308 million at the start of the week.

The weekly decline, ranging from 1-32 to 14-32 was the third in a row.

Among corporates, rails, industrials and high grade investment bonds fell lesser amounts as volume increased to $24.71 million par value from $22.43 million the previous holiday week. However, the daily average dipped to just below $5 million on the New York Stock Exchange from almost $6 million.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Butcher hog prices sagged 50 to 75 cents a hundredweight this week on the largest supply since last February.

With offerings in the pens up 13 per cent from the previous week, the market for wholesale pork eased. Loins were down $3 a hundredweight in Chicago although more than half the hog supply was taken by shippers for slaughter elsewhere.

However, on Tuesday buyers paid an $18.75 top rather freely, the highest peak here since Aug. 4.

The cattle supply was only moderately larger than last week's smallest run since April and prices for slaughter steers were steady to 25 cents higher. During the week a few 1,330 lb prime grade brought $27.75 a hundredweight, the highest price since August.

Buyers noted that the percentage of prime grade steers was the largest of the year with one exception.

A lower market for dressed lamb and a sharp increase in slaughter lamb receipts caused some weakness in the sheep market. Slaughter lambs ended the week fully 50 cents lower.

CHICAGO (AP) — (USDA) — Following is a summary of the hog, cattle and sheep markets for the week:

Hogs — compared Friday last week — barrows and gilts 50-75 lower on the close mixed lots No 1 and 2 and mixed No 1, 2 and 3 190--220 lb barrows and gilts 17.75-18.00, 105 head No 1 and 2 204 pounds 18.35. Mixed No. 1, 2 and 3 and mixed 2 and 3 200-230 lbs 17.50-17.75 with mixed No 1, 2 and 3 and mixed No 2 and 3 230-270 lbs 17.00-17.50.

Mixed grades No 1, 2 and 3 and mixed No 2 and 3 300-400 lb sows 14.25-16.25. Mixed grades No 2 and No 3 400-550 lbs 13.50-14.75.

Cattle — slaughter steers and heifers closed steady to 25 higher than late last week in the face of continuing moderate to light receipts, cows strong to fully 50 higher, bulls 50-1.00 higher. Vealers closed steady with late last week.

Load prime 1330 lb slaughter steers 27.75, highest since August, around 20 loads mostly prime 1200-1425 lb steers 27.50, several loads 27.35, bulk choice and prime 900-1400 lb slaughter steers 25.25-27.25, loadlots mixed choice and prime 1450-1650 lb steers 25.00-25.50. Many loads comparable grades 1100-1350 lb weights 26.00-26.50, loadlots choice 1400-1700 lb steers 24.00-25.00, bulk good 900-1250 lb steers also 24.00-25.00, few standard to low good steers 21.50-23.75.

Load high choice and prime heifers 25.60, highest since August, numerous loads mixed choice and prime heifers 25.25-25.50, bulk choice heifers 24.00-25.00, most good heifers 22.00-23.75. Utility and commercial bulls closed at 17.50-20.00. Good and choice vealers 21.00-26.00, mostly 22.00-25.00.

Sheep — compared Friday last week — slaughter lambs fully 50 lower, slaughter ewes steady. Three decks mostly choice 101-108 lbs 18.00, double deck choice and prime 120 lbs 16.75. Choice and prime natives 17.50-18.25, mostly 17.50 at the close. Choice natives 16.50-17.50, mostly 16.50-17.00 late. Good and choice 14.50-16.50, utility and good 12.00-15.00. Cull to choice slaughter ewes 4.00-5.00.

GRAINS DECLINE FOR SECOND WEEK

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market hit a succession of new low prices for the season this week as it extended its general decline through a second week.

Losses were the broadest in several months and ran to more than four cents a bushel in corn and soybeans. Wheat slipped more than three cents in spots, oats more than two and rye major fractions.

Corn skidded to season lows on four of the five trading days, extending losses for the two weeks to about six cents. In the cash market, it sold at an 18-year low with No. 2 grade yellow going at 94¾ cents a bushel on Friday, off about 6 cents for the week there.

Oats and rye also traded at season lows.

Weakness in soybeans was related, brokers said, go the setbacks in corn via a storage problem at many points. Reports were that in order to make room at some elevators and other storage facilities, soybeans were being sold into commercial channels in amounts exceeding immediate needs. The action had a bearish influence in the trading pit.

But along with soybeans corn still came into Chicago commercial positions in mounting volume although advices said the harvest is not yet more than about 75 per cent completed generally in the corn belt.

From that circumstance, brokers appeared to have taken a rather dismal outlook for a significant reversal in corn prices in the immediate future, at least.

They explained that most of the harvested corn still is too wet to be eligible for storage under the government loan and that unless other facilities are found, a heavy movement into commercial channels probably will continue for the next few weeks.

A fairly good mill and export demand throughout the week failed to hold wheat prices against rather general liquidation. However, the December contract posted a small gain, the only net advance of the week.

At the close, wheat was ½ cent a bushel higher to 3½ lower than a week ago, December $2.00½-⅜; corn 4⅛-4⅜ lower, December $1.01-1.00⅞; oats 2¼-2½ lower, December 57⅜-¼; rye ¼-⅞ lower, December $1.12⅞; soybeans 3½-4⅜ lower, November $2.11⅞-12½.

SPEEDING CAR RUNS INTO APARTMENT, KILLS INFANT GIRL

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) — A car speeding from police at an estimated 100 miles per hour smashed into a small apartment Saturday, killing a baby girl.

Eight-month-old Vicki Lynn McCoy and her mother were knocked through a carport wall. Mrs. Joseph McCoy is in critical condition with a broken leg and pelvis. Her husband suffered a broken arm.

Police said the car's driver leaped from the wreckage and ran. Five hours later, Jacob McCray, 27, of Homestead was arrested and charged with manslaughter.

"He wasn't scratched," an officer said.

The automobile traveled 32 feet through the building's front wall and continued into the carport. Furniture, a refrigerator and a stove were flung into the carport along with the auto and the victims.

There was no explanation for the high rate of speed.

REPORT RED CHINA WILL EXPLODE FIRST A-BOMB IN 1961

LONDON (AP)—Red China will explode its first atomic bomb late in 1961, The Sunday Times reported Sunday.

The newspaper said the explosion will be at least as large as one of France's Sahara Desert blasts.

The report from the paper's Far East correspondent Richard Hughes was attributed to intelligence sources in Tokyo.

Hughes did not specify which Sahara blast he meant. The first in February had a power equivalent of between 60,000 and 70,000 tons of TNT. The second in April was said to have been less powerful than the U.S. Hiroshima bomb which equalled 20,000 tons of TNT.

Johnson Pledges Full Freedom Of Information

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Vice President - elect Lyndon B. Johnson said Saturday that if the world gets through the dangers of the near future it will be because people in government and private life act with that greater sense of dignity and high purpose which the crisis of the age demands.

Johnson, en route to a Paris meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, promised the newspapers of America that the upcoming Democratic administration will give the nation the "fullest possible freedom of information."

The vice president-elect spoke to the closing session of the annual convention of The Associated Press Managing Editors' Association.

"The people of a free country have a right to know about the conduct of their public affairs," he said. He said he would not say that the people's right to know has been throttled in America, but that it had in recent years been considerably muted.

"This will no longer be true when Sen. Kennedy begins his presidency," Johnson said. "He will not, of course, make any ridiculous promise to conduct all governmental affairs in a goldfish bowl.

"There are now, there will be, and there always have been matters such as those affecting security and executive confidence that must not be publicized in the national interest."

Johnson told some 300 managing editors he came to their meeting at the request of Kennedy, but that it was too early to give them a blueprint of the plans of the new administration. And, he added, when that time comes only one person can speak with authority—President-elect John F. Kennedy.

The vice president-elect also declined to discuss in detail "the completely futile question of the extent of the mandate" given the new administration.

"This," he said, "is an issue which has filled the headlines for the past few days, but which certainly has little relevancy to the realities of our national life. A small majority does not mean that the administration is expected to exercise a small bit of wisdom, a small bit of prudence, or a small bit of effectiveness."

Johnson said: "I can promise you this—the incoming administration went before the American people on a platform which sought to do the greatest good for the greatest number and, we are going to try to the limits of our ability to achieve that goal."

At the concluding session of the five-day convention, Sam Ragan of the Raleigh (N.C.) News & Observer, the new general chairman of the association's Continuing Studies Committee, said he hoped the managing editors will discover through the continuing studies "some new frontiers in journalism."

He said they had set themselves no general goals other than to try to do better with the tools with which newspapermen must always work—initiative, imagination and ingenuity.

"The APME continuing studies have proven themselves," Ragan said. "Their purpose is to help improve the AP report and thereby improve our own newspapers. We need only look at the depth of the AP report today, and at our own newspapers of today, to see the effects of these studies. The AP can be no stronger than its members, but its strength is your strength."

Ragan will be assisted in the program by George Beebe of the Miami Herald. He announced the following committee chairmen:

Kenneth R. West of the Lansing (Mich.) State Journal, Freedom of Information; William B. Dickinson of the Philadelphia Bulletin, General News; Gilbert P. Smith of the Utica (N.Y.) Observer-Dispatch, vice chairman of the General News program; Howard Cleavinger of the Spokane (Wash.) Chronicle, Journalism Research; Ernest A. Cutts of the Charleston (S.C.) Post, Member Citations.

Also I. William Hill of the Washington Star, News Enterprise, with Richard L. Young Jr. of the Charlotte (N.C.) News as vice chairman; Emmett Dedmon of the Chicago Sun-Times, Newsphotos; David Schutz of the Redwood City (Calif.) Tribune, Performance; James G. Bellows of the Miami News, Personnel; and Charles S. Rowe of the Fredericksburg (Va.) Free Lance Star, State Studies.

Newly elected APME President J. Edward Murray of Phoenix, of the Arizona Republic, appointed retiring President John Colburn of the Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch to head a new committee that would try to get down on paper the criteria for a good newspaper in its field of opportunity. He said that the move was not defensive but that this committee's work might hold off a lot of criticism which is not helpful or useful.

The APME selected Phoenix, Ariz., as its convention site for 1964. Next year the editors will meet in Dallas, Tex., in Minneapolis in 1962 and in Miami in 1963.

Weger Denies Slaying Women, Lawyer Says

Carr said he talked with Weger in his jail cell after it was suggested to the lawyer that the prisoner may have had an accomplice in the slaying of the three women.

"I couldn't have had any accomplice because I didn't commit the murders," the lawyer quoted Weger.

The Chicago Tribune quoted members of Weger's family as saying they believe he had an accomplice in the killings.

The newspaper said Weger's father, Wayne, 52, a painter, said he will ask his son to submit to a truth serum test.

Members of the family talked with Weger in his cell prior to his interview with Carr.

The elder Weger; his wife, Janite, 50; a daughter, Rosie, 22; and Chester Weger's wife, Jo Ann, 19, said Chester implied he was shielding someone who had threatened harm to his parents, the Tribune said.

Members of the family refused to confirm the reported conversation.

Carr said he will seek a court order for a psychiatric examination of Weger as a preliminary to his trial. He said no plea of either guilty or innocent would be entered for the youth when he appears in LaSalle County Circuit Court next Friday.

Victims of the triple slaying were Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, Mrs. Lillian Oetting and Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, both 50, of Riverside, a Chicago suburb.

They were slain while on a brief holiday at the state park.

Two-point Play Aids Huskies In 8-7 Victory

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Stubborn Washington State cracked two records and almost shattered Washington's hopes for a return to the Rose Bowl Saturday but the powerful Huskies rallied in the final period to squeeze out an 8-7 football victory.

The Cougars took a 7-0 lead on the first play of the fourth quarter.

It came on a three-yard pass from Mel Melin to sophomore end Hugh Campbell, who caught six tosses to run his season total to 66 and his yardage total to 862. The NCAA former pass reception record was 61 and the old mark for total yards was 864.

Washington came right back to wrap up the game. Sophomore halfback Charlie Mitchell ran the kickoff 35 yards to State's 48. Sub quarterback Kermit Jorgensen piloted the 14-play march to the goal and dived the final yard.

Regular quarterback Bob Hivner then came back in and passed to Don McKeta for the two-point conversion.

MRS. I. GARRISON HOSTESS TO GRACE CHURCH CIRCLE

Circle Ruth, Grace church WSCS, met Nov. 1 at the home of Mrs. Ivan Garrison, 2 Pitner Place. Mrs. Simmons presided.

There were 19 members and two guests present. Devotions were offered by Mrs. Halter and the program presented by Mrs. Gilchrist, both proving very interesting.

Following adjournment refreshments were served by Mrs. Garrison and Mrs. Van B. Hunter and a social hour enjoyed.

Final Rites For Clark Gable Held Saturday

Midway in the rites the chaplain asked the star-studded congregation to pray silently. At that, an Air Force bugler, part of a March Air Force Base honor guard, sounded taps.

It was a touching tribute to the millionaire movie star who, at 41 — three years above the draft ceiling — enlisted as a private and later flew five combat missions as a gunnery officer over World War II European targets.

At the end of the rites the chaplain took the flag from a nearby standard and presented it to the widow, who sat in a private family room off the sanctuary of the little chapel.

She left with her two children by a previous marraige to sugar heir Adolph Spreckels Jr. Her eyes were damp, but she was composed. Five months pregnant and with a history of angina pectoris, a heart disease, she seemed to bear up well.

Cemetery attendants closed the doors of the chapel, and Gable's body remained inside alone. He may not be entombed until next week. It was the kind of funeral he wanted.

Gable died Wednesday night from a heart attack. He had suffered a coronary thrombosis 10 days earlier and had seemed on the road to recovery.

4-H Leaders To Attend State Meet Nov. 22

PITTSFIELD—There will be a 4-H State wide Leaders Recognition meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 22, in Springfield, sponsored by the Illinois Retail Merchants. The morning session, starting at 10 a.m. will be held in the House Chamber of the Capitol Building with the program being "Know Your State Government."

A banquet will be held at 1 p.m. at the Elks club ball room with Mrs. Homer Miller, an Iowa farm wife as speaker.

Those eligible to attend from Pike county are from the 4-H-Two from Home Ec. Leaders— Mrs. Cecil Wheeler, Milton Handimaids; and Mrs. Glenn Secrest, Perry 4-H Stitchers; and two from the Ag. leaders — Daily Davis, Sr., from the New Salem Lincoln Troopers and Melvin Moore from the Griggsville Hoof and Horn. Miss Carolyn Peterson the assistant Pike county Home Adviser will also attend.

Rural Youth

The Rural Youth held their regular meeting on Thursday evening at the Farm Bureau Hall and planned as "Everyones Birthday party" for Nov. 28th. Plans were also made for their annual Christmas banquet to be held at Griggsville on Dec. 17 at 6:30 in the Methodist church with the speaker being George Leigh a 4-H specialist from Champaign. Mr. Daigh was a former Pike county Assistant Farm Adviser. A dance will follow the banquet at the grade school gym.

North Carolina Upsets Duke, 7-6

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Quarterback Ray Farris plunged over for a touchdown with two minutes remaining, and fullback Bob Elliott kicked the game-winning point as inspired North Carolina upset sixth-ranked Duke 7-6 Saturday.

A crowd of 42,800 saw Duke go ahead minutes earlier when fullback Dave Burch dived over from the two. Sophomore Billy Reynolds, who attempted two field goals, tried the extra point, but it was partially blocked.

A dazzling 54-yard punt return by halfback Mark Leggett had touched off Duke's scoring drive on the Tar Heel 40.

North Carolina, 14-point underdog, roared back behind Farris' running and passing. He plunged over from the three to tie the count. Elliott's conversion gave North Carolina its second win of the season against seven losses.

The defeat dimmed bowl hopes for Duke. The Blue Devils have a 7-2 season record, and wind up against UCLA on Dec. 1.

Despite the loss, Duke gains the Atlantic Coast Conference title since North Carolina State was held to an 8-8 tie by South Carolina.

IREC Holds 14th Annual Meeting In Winchester

Mrs. Hester reported to the group on the 20th District meeting of the Rebekah State Association held recently at Bluffs, Ill.

The next meeting was announced for Dec. 2 at which time the annual election of officers will be held. Those having birthdays for the past six months, commencing with July, will be honored. The following committee was selected to have charge of arrangements for that evening: Mrs. Frederic Robinson, Mrs. Georgia Smith, Mrs. Charles Robinson, Mrs. Alta McLaughlin and Clarence Dynes.

Mother Dies

Mrs. Hugh Williams of Mason City, Ill., mother of Lennis Williams of this city, passed away at her home about midnight this past Friday evening of a heart attack. The deceased had been in ill health and was under a doctor's care but had shown improvement this past week and death was unexpected.

Mrs. Williams is survived by her husband, Hugh; and two sons, Lennis of this city and Morris of Bloomington.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams and daughter left immediately for Mason City where funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Mason City Christian Church. Burial will be in Mason City.

Personals

Mrs. Loretta Glosson has returned to her home in this city from Dover, N.J., where she was called by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Post. Mrs. Glosson was met at the St. Louis airport by Mrs. Russell Wilson and Mrs. Nina Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ausbury and sons, Robert and Edward, of Macomb are visiting today at the home of Mrs. Emma Bean in this city.

Among those from Winchester attending the piano concert by Hans Richter Haaser, German pianist, at MacMurray College this past Thursday evening were Miss Helen Smith, Miss Ruth Reeder, Mrs. Albert Herring, Misses Mary and Lois Coultas, Miss Susie O'Donnell, Mrs. Richard Mann, Mrs. Paul Lehman and Mrs. Richard Coultas.

Tracy Johnson of this city is a weekend visitor in St. Louis, Mo. where he is attending the annual sales meeting for salesmen of the southern division of the Krey Packing Company being held at the Ambassador Hotel.

Mrs. Frances Welsh and infant son, Dennis James, arrived home on Saturday from Our Saviour's Hospital.

Mrs. Marjorie Wright of Alameda, Calif., and Sgt. Charles Prescott, stationed at Scott Air Base in St. Louis, are weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McPhail in this city.

Mrs. George Lashmett of this city and Mrs. Baxter Adkins of White Hall were in attendance on Thursday of this week at the National Girl Scout Convention being held in Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cravens, who have been stationed in San Francisco, Calif., were Friday evening dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McPhail. Callers during the evening were Mr. and Mrs. William Hobbs. Mrs. Cravens will be remembered as a former teacher in the local high school. Mr. and Mrs. Cravens will sail from New York on the 26th for a three year tour of duty in northern France.

Kennedy Confers With Symington

"Any organization which is based on World War II," he said, "could not possibly be the right type and character of organization to have in the nuclear-space age."

Symington is head of a five-man committee studying the defense structure. Although Kennedy's staff had announced Symington would bring his report along Saturday, the senator said it won't be finished before the end of the month. He said there is disagreement on some points but the committee is trying for unanimity.

Thus the Kennedy-Symington discussions were in the nature of informal, preliminary talks.

Asked if he could mention some areas of agreement, in general terms, within his committee, Symington told newsmen: "Well, we all agree that this organization is not the right organization. And we all agree that if we have an organization which recognizes the great technological developments that have happened, are happening, and undoubtedly will happen, then, with the proper organization we will be able to get more for the taxpayers' defense dollar. On those two points we are in agreement."

EXPECT SETTLEMENT OF LOS ANGELES TRANSIT STRIKE

LOS ANGELES (AP)— A four-day transit strike that threatened to knock the whole town off its trolley was tentatively settled Saturday.

Odds are that streetcars and buses will resume their runs Monday.

The settlement, a surprise to many, came after an eight-hour negotiating session that wound up in the early morning hours. Only Friday striking mechanics had voted to reject an offer by the Metropolitan Transit Authority.

The new contract, which would run 27 months, is subject to ratification Sunday by the Amalgamated Transportation Union. Approval is expected. Terms of the agreement will not be announced until the union votes.

Congress, Courts To Investigate Hoffa Activities

still under the control of hoodlum Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo.

McClellan said the hearings will concern shakedowns, payroll padding and union welfare fund irregularities.

A federal grand jury at Orlando, Fla., ended a six-month recess and was suddenly reconvened several days ago in an inquiry into Hoffa's alleged misuse of $400,000 of Teamsters' funds in a Florida real estate project.

Hoffa actively opposed the election of John F. Kennedy to the presidency, attacking both the Massachusetts senator and his brother, Robert, who served as chief counsel for another McClellan Senate committee which investigated Hoffa vigorously.

There has been a Democratic charge that the grand jury inquiry in Florida was suspended by the Republicans so Hoffa would be free to campaign against Kennedy.

Jerome Adlerman, associated with Robert Kennedy in the earlier probe, is counsel for the Senate investigations subcommittee that will hold the new set of hearings.

The reopened court and congressional investigations come at a bad time for Hoffa. His attorneys have been on the brink of successfully negotiating a settlement to wipe out the court monitor system that has kept Hoffa under rein for several years.

A hitch developed in these secret settlement talks when a group of anti-Hoffa plaintiffs in the litigation, Teamsters members from New York, balked at accepting the settlement proposed by their attorney, Godfrey Schmidt. They got themselves a new lawyer, Joseph S. McCarthy, and he is insisting on stiffer settlement terms.

Catholics Voting For Marin's Party Will Be Punished

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Archbishop James P. Davis of San Juan said Saturday that Puerto Rican Roman Catholics who voted for Gov. Luis Munoz Marin's Popular Democratic party in the Nov. 8 elections will be punished by the Church for committing a sin of disobedience.

In a letter explaining canon—church—law ruling on the spiritual authority of the Church hierarchy, the archbishop pointed out punishment should be imposed in proportion to the seriousness of the guilt. It conceivably could take the form of excommunication. An excommunicated Catholic is denied the Church sacraments.

The letter made no direct reference to the elections in which great numbers of Puerto Rican Catholics ignored the injunction by Archbishop Davis and the island's two other Catholic bishops against voting for Marin and his party. The governor polled some 58 per cent of the vote in winning re-election, and his party was returned to a majority in the legislature.

In his letter to the island's Roman Catholic priests, Archbishop Davis Friday quoted a Catholic Church law which says, "To those who obstinately disobey the Roman pontiff—the Pope—or the bishop proper who orders or legitimately prohibits something, there will be punishment in proportion to the seriousness of the guilt without excluding the censures (which cover excommunication)."

The Rev. Thomas Maisonet, pastor of San Juan Cathedral, told his congregation last Sunday that voters who disobeyed the bishops' voting prohibition committed a sin and he would not give them the sacrament of Holy Communion until they confessed and repented their action.

Felisa Rincon de Gautier, the Catholic woman mayor of San Juan, said Wednesday she would challenge Father Maisonet's right to deny her the sacrament. She said she voted for Munoz Marin and the Popular Democrats and did not consider it a sin. The mayor said she intends to receive Communion at San Juan Cathedral Sunday without confessing her vote.

Gophers Win A Share Of Big 10 Honors, 26-7

Minnesota Triumphs Over Wisconsin To Share Title With Iowa

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Minnesota's Rose Bowl-conscious Gophers captured a share of the Big Ten football championship by rolling past fired up Wisconsin 26-7 Saturday on touchdown drives in the first and final periods.

Knocked from the unbeaten ranks by Purdue last week, the Gophers managed a conference tie with Iowa by throwing up a tight defense against Wisconsin in a traditional windup before 55,576 fans. Minnesota and Iowa finished with 5-1 records in Big Ten play and are top prospects for a Rose Bowl bid.

The Gophers, rated No. 4 in the national rankings, struck for touchdowns the first two times they had possession of the ball and then, taking no chances, played conservatively until the fourth period when they increased the victory margin with two more scores.

Wisconsin scored in the second period on a 15-yard pass play triggered by Ron Miller to end Hank Derleth.

After being outplayed through the second and third periods when they failed to pick up a first down and had to halt two Wisconsin scoring bids, the Gophers were rallied by Stephens in the final quarter.

Dave Mulholland ended a 65-yard drive on a scoring plunge from the four. Five minutes later reserve quarterback Larry Johnson rolled out to his left and another six points.

The victory gave Minnesota an over-all record of 8-1 as it gained its first Big Ten laurels since 1941. Wisconsin wound up in last place in the conference with 2-5 in an unsuccessful attempt to defend its championship. The Badgers were 4-5 against all opponents.

Minnesota, which finished last in conference play in 1959, became the first team since 1909 to go from the cellar to the top in one year. Wisconsin is the first ever to plunge from the championship to the bottom in one year.

Name Walt Rucks Head Grid Coach At Waukegan High

Walter Rucks, who coached at Winchester prior to going to Waukegan as freshman coach, was named head football coach at Waukegan High School last night at a high school banquet. He was an outstanding tackle at Western in 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949. He received his degree from Western in 1950.

IVA Awards Trophies At Sports Banquet

ROODHOUSE—The Illinois Valley Conference met for a dinner session at the Roodhouse Community High school, Tuesday evening, Nov. 15. Greenfield High school was presented the Championship Trophy for football and Roodhouse received the 2nd place trophy. Southwestern High school officially became a member of the Illinois Valley Conference and will play the full schedule in football, basketball, and track, beginning in September, 1961. Southwestern will be replacing Virginia, who has resigned from the conference effective the end of the 1960-1961 school year.

Personal Items

Billy Cochrill, Venice, has been a visitor in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. May, and others.

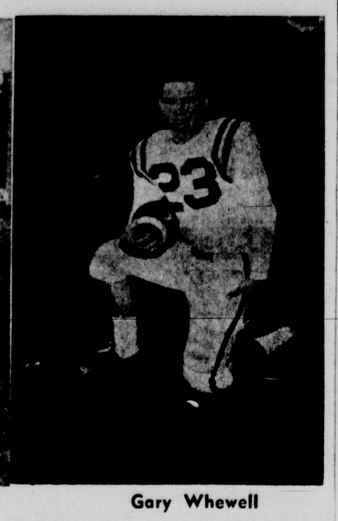
Wm. H. Wolfe, chairman of the Rotary Foundation and Fellowship, furnished his own program for the local Rotary Club, Wednesday night, by discussing the foundation and fellowship. He stated that the club members will "feed themselves" on the evening of Dec. 21 and donate the money saved to the foundation. At that time the members will sack the annual community Christmas treat for the children.

Guest Wednesday night included Paul Walk, Junior Rotarian; Jim Coultas, Ed Garlich, Ed Jackson, Bob Curry, Jacksonville Rotarians.

Mrs. James M. Orr is visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Cobb, St. Louis, Mo.

NAMED CO-CAPTAINS OF RAILROADERS

Lyle Winters



Gary Whewell

ROODHOUSE — Quarterback Lyle Winters and halfback Gary Whewell were chosen co-captains of the 1960 Roodhouse Railroaders in the annual squad election. The two seniors have played starring roles in the Railroaders' 7 win, 2 loss season.

Both boys were members of the Railroaders' 1958 and 1959 Illinois Valley Conference championship squads in both football and track. Winters, 5'10", 145 lbs., was a member of all three 1959 teams, the "White Team," "Go Team," and the "Screaming Eagles." He has earned three football, one basketball, and three track letters at RHS. Whewell, 5' 6", 150 lbs., played with the 1959 "Go Team" and the "Screaming Eagles." He has three football and three track letters to his credit.

The new captains have been leading ground gainers and defensive stalwarts in the Railroaders' second place league finish. Winters is known primarily for good ball control and team direction, while Whewell's slashing runs are opponent's downfall.

Winters and Whewell succeed 1959 captains halfback Lyndell Winters and quarterback Phil Hopkins as the outstanding performers of the season in their teammates' eyes. The election of both Lyndell and Lyle as co-captains indicates the high esteem Roodhouse gridders have for the Winters brothers as football players.

Evashevski Taps Burns To Be His Successor

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Forest Evashevski Saturday tapped a young assistant, Jerry Burns, to be his successor as Iowa head football coach.

The 33-year-old Burns takes command at the same age Evy was when he began a successful nine-year career here in 1952.

Burns' appointment, announced by University President Virgil M. Hancher, had been expected since Evashevski was named athletic director last summer with the stipulation that he would coach only through the 1960 season.

Evashevski, 42, walked from a football field as a coach for possibly the last time Saturday after the Hawkeyes beat Notre Dame 28-0 at South Bend, Ind.

Behind him was a record of 52 victories, 27 losses and 4 ties at Iowa three Big Ten championships and two Rose Bowl triumphs.

Burns is a 1950 graduate of Michigan.

Burns was Evashevski's personal choice to coach the team which Evy built into a national power after the Hawkeyes had floundered in the depths of the Big Ten for many years.

The new coach inherits what probably will be the pre-season favorite for the national championship next fall.

Only three starters — guard Mark Manders, tackle Charlie Lee and halfback Jerry Muaren — graduate from the 1960 team which lost only one of nine games and tied Minnesota for the Big Ten title. It was ranked second in this week's Associated Press poll.

As backfield coach in recent years, Burns produced such all-time Iowa standouts as All-America quarterback Randy Duncan, Willie Fleming, Bob Jeter, Ray Jauch, Kenny Ploen and Jerry Reichow.

Evashevski, who came to Iowa from Washington State, became Iowa's winningest coach before he stepped down. He coached at Hamilton College before going to Washington State.

Evy has been getting $20,000 a year, the highest paid head coach in the Big Ten. Burns salary as assistant coach has been $10,000. His head coach salary was not announced.

Burns, 18th person to coach Hawkeye football, received a three-year appointment.

Tigers Accept Bid To Orange Bowl But Big 8 Title Goes To Hawks

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The Kansas Jayhawks overpowered Missouri's No. 1 ranked football team 23-7 Saturday and won the Big Eight Conference championship but the Tigers still won a trip to the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.

Immediately after Kansas had humbled the proud Missouri defenses, Athletic Director Don Faurot announced the Tigers had accepted an invitation from Jeff Yarbrough, president of the Orange Bowl.

Kansas was not eligible for the Florida trip because of a one-year probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, for recruiting violations.

The Kansans started on their way to victory in the third quarter when Roger Hill booted a 47-yard field goal.

Kansas completed the Big Eight race with a record of six victories and one tie. The Jayhawks were beaten only by Syracuse and Iowa in non-conference play. It was the Jayhawks' first undisputed championship since 1930.

Missouri had won its other nine games this season.

Spartans Smother Detroit Gridders

By BOB VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State's mighty manpower crushed a gallant Detroit team with a second half surge Saturday for a 43-5 football victory.

Michigan State was a 23 - point pre-game favorite and it looked early as if the Big Ten Spartans were going to stage a runaway as they spurted ahead 15-0 early in the first half.

But Detroit made it 15-all at one point in the first half and was still in the game fighting until sophomore quarterback Jerry Gross of Bay City, Mich., was knocked out of the action with a broken nose near the end of the third period.

The triumph gave Michigan State, 12th in the Associated Press ratings, a 6-2-1 season record.

Detroit had won seven in a row after losing the first game to Iowa State. A bid for some minor bowl still was possible for the Titans after their good showing here against Michigan State.

It was the first time the two state teams had met since 1934 when Michigan State won 7-6.

The Spartans scored the first time they got the ball, going 43 yards in seven plays. Sophomore fullback George Saimes went the last three yards for the touchdown.

Spartan coach Duffy Daugherty who called every play from the bench, showed he was taking Detroit seriously by ordering quarterback Tommy Wilson to pass for the two points—an end-zoner complete to end Ernie Clark—instead of settling for just one.

WANT IN ON THE ACT

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—The South African Sports Association, which claims to represent 50,000 non-white sportsmen, said Saturday it plans to ask the International Olympic Committee to ban South Africa from the Olympic Games.

The sports association, formed to fight the color bar in South African sport, said it would ask such a step unless the South African Olympic Association included non-whites in future Olympic teams. The next games are in Tokyo in 1964.

Giants Are Slim Favorites Over Philadelphia

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The last time the Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants met on consecutive Sundays the Eagles swept the pair to climax their third straight Eastern Conference championship in the National Football League. That was in 1949.

Now the Giants are shooting for three titles in a row and are 3-point home favorites to defeat the conference-leading Eagles Sunday in the headline game of six on the NFL schedule. The Eagles (6-1) and Giants (5-1-1) meet again next Sunday at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, beaten only by the Cleveland Browns, is riding a six-game winning streak and wants to extend it right on through to 11-1, matching their record in '49, the last year they won the title.

The Giants must win to take over first place. The Eagles can retain the lead with a tie.

The third-place Browns (5-2) are at Pittsburgh and rate 5-point favorites over the Steelers (2-5-1). A Philadelphia victory would send Cleveland into second place, but the Browns probably would prefer Giant victories both this week and next because of the schedule. The Eagles already have split with Cleveland and have a relatively easy schedule after the Giants. The Browns, beaten once by New York, get another crack at the Giants.

In the Western Conference, the Green Bay Packers (5-2) can tie the idle Baltimore Colts (6-2) for the lead by beating the Los Angeles Rams (2-5-1) at Milwaukee. Green Bay is favored by 12.

Third-place Chicago (3-3-1) is home to the Detroit Lions (3-4), and the Bears are 7-point favorites.

In other games, the St. Louis Cardinals (4-4) are road favorites by a touchdown over Washington (1-4-2) and San Francisco (3-4) is at the Dallas Cowboys (0-8) in a battle the 49ers figure to win by 14.

MacKay Suffers Defeat In Tennis Finals

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—America's No. 1 Davis Cup hope, Barry MacKay, was beaten by Australian ace Neale Fraser 10-8, 6-4, 7-5 for the singles championship of the New South Wales tennis tournament Saturday, but the U.S. champ remained optimistic.

"We're not too unhappy," said David Freed, U.S. Davis Cup captain. "In fact, I think we did very well. We've been here only two weeks, and this is our first tournament. And we've always done poorly in these championships."

MacKay, the Dayton, Ohio, veteran of Davis Cup play, admitted he was "bitterly disappointed at losing," but added:

"I'm still optimistic about the Davis Cup. Tell them in the States that we're working hard and we'll be ready."

The U.S. team leaves Sunday for Brisbane, where it meets the Philippines in the cup interzone semifinal. The best-of-five match series opens Tuesday.

If they get past that test as expected, the Yanks move on to Perth for a tougher showdown against Italy for the right to challenge Australia for the cup here Dec. 26-28.

Halimi Indicates He'd Like A Bout With Jofre

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World bantamweight champion Alphonse Halimi of France has indicated he's willing to meet world bantamweight champion Eder Jofre of Brazil here next year to see who's the real world champion.

But there were indications Saturday that a serious attempt will be made to hold the match instead in Sao Paulo, Jowre's hometown.

A poor crowd turned out for a great fight at the Olympic Auditorium Friday night, when Jofre knocked out Mexico's Eloy Sanchez with one punch in the sixth round and won the NBA version of the world title. Halimi is recognized as champion in Europe.

Matchmaker George Parnassus said it's too early to tell where the Jofre-Halimi match will be held.

Leaders Take On Cellar-Dwellers In AFL Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's the leaders vs. the cellar-dwellers on Sunday's American Football League program with Denver invading Houston and Buffalo moving into Los Angeles.

New York and Oakland are idle on the three-game weekend slate which began Friday night as the Boston Patriots drubbed Dallas 42-14, reached the .500 mark with a 5-5 record and moved into second place in the Eastern Division.

The Broncos (4-5), who held the Western Division lead for a couple of weeks, are facing heavy odds against the offensive-minded Oilers (6-3).

Howie Ferguson, Charley Flowers and Paul Lowe head the Los Angeles (6-3) backfield crew that has pushed the Chargers into the top spot in the West after an early season slump.

The Bisons (3-6 are stuck in the Eastern cellar although their attack for a time picked up momentum.

Chicago's first permanent school was built of brick and the first city offices were in a brick building.

Vernon New Manager Of Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)— Washington's new American League baseball club Saturday hired former batting champion Mickey Vernon as field manager and Ed Doherty, president of the American Association, as general manager.

Elwood R. (Pete) Quesada, head of the Washington syndicate which will operate the franchise, announced the appointments at a news conference after spending the afternoon with Doherty and Vernon.

Both Doherty and Vernon were first contacted Friday night. They readily agreed to join in building a major league baseball team from scratch, Quesada said.

They will take charge of the team placed in the capital when the Calvin Griffith-owned Senators were transferred to Minneapolis-St. Paul in the American League's expansion to 10 members.

Te other new franchise was awarded to Los Angeles, but no group has yet received operating rights there.

Vernon, 42, returns to the scene of his greatest baseball achievements. He won the American League batting title while playing first base for the Senators in 1946 and again in 1953.

Vernon, who now lives in Wallingsford, Pa., also played with the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians in the American League and the Milwaukee Braves in the National League. He spent last season as a coach under Danny Murtaugh with the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates.

Doherty and Vernon were signed to two-year contracts at undisclosed salaries.

Doherty, who has been president of the American Association since 1954, is a newcomer to Washington fans.

Doherty, 60, was in Daytona Beach, Fla., when Quesada quickly won him over by telephone Friday night. He flew here for the press conference.

Doherty played baseball at Providence, (R.I.) College but never professionally.

FOOTBALL BANQUET NOV. 28 AT HARDIN

HARDIN — The annual football banquet honoring the Hardin Tigers of Unit 40 High School is planned for Monday evening, Nov. 28, in the school cafeteria. Serving will begin at 6:30 p.m. Guests will include the football squad and families, the cheerleaders and their families, high school teachers and their wives or husbands, and board members and their wives.

Movies of the football team in action will be show following the meal, and awards will be made to the players and the cheerleaders. The local team has completed the most successful year in the history of the school, with a total of 6 wins and 3 losses.

Ohio University Routs Southern

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University, the nation's top-ranked small college football team, put the finishing touches to an unblemished season Saturday with a convincing 48-6 romp over once-beaten Southern Illinois.

The victory gave the Bobcats a 10-0 mark, best in the 65 years the school has had a football team. Southern Illinois closed out the campaign with an 8-2 mark.

Senior quarterback Dave Wagner and Bob Brooks, the all Mid-American Conference fullback, were the big guns for Ohio U.

Wagner scored once on a one-yard sneak, tossed a 33-yard touchdown pass to John Balough, and connected through the air for a pair of two-point conversions.

Brooks, the game's leading ground gainer with 125 yards in 17 carries, scored one six-pointer on a four-yard plunge.

The two teams fought on fairly even terms in the first quarter with the Bobcats moving to a 6-0 lead. But Coach Bill Hess' charges exploded for 22 points in the second quarter, and after that it was as good as finished.

The Salukis' only touchdown came in the second period when junior quarterback Ron Winter darted through the line for two yards.

Amos Bullocks collected 42 yards in 12 tries to pace the losers' offense.

Ohio U. also dominated the statistics, picking up 25 first downs to 13 for Southern Illinois and gaining 472 yards to the losers' 220. The Bobcats threw 17 passes and completed eight for 124 yards. Southern Illinois completed five of 12 passes for 90 yards.

This was the first time since 1935 the Bobcats completed a season unbeaten. They won eight games that year without losing.

Bradley Bows To Kirksville, 14-7

Peoria, Ill. (AP)— Dale Mills, 178 pound halfback from Columbia, Mo., broke a 4-year small college rushing record Saturday as he led Northeast Missouri to a 14-7 football victory over Bradley University.

Mills carried the ball 31 times, netting 154 yards for a season total of 4,502 yards. That broke the old mark of 4,458 held by Lee Lewis of Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo. Mills scored one touchdown on a 29-yard run and he ran for two extra points.

Northeast scored twice late in the final quarter to win. Bradley scored in the first quarter for its only tally.

Attendance totaled around 3,000.

Boilermakers Maul Rival Indiana, 35-6

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue's Boilermakers mauled Indiana 35 to 6 Saturday in their ancient football series for the Old Oaken Bucket, thus keeping the trophy for the 13th straight year.

Purdue senior quarterback Bernie Allen closed out a brilliant career by passing for two touchdowns, kicking three extra points and running a two-point conversion. He also tried a 29-yard field goal but missed.

The Boilermakers scored in every period and got two touchdowns in the third quarter. Allen hit Willie Jones for a 16-yard TD pass in the first quarter and tossed 11 yards to Dave Miller for another in the second.

Fullback Jones also turned in a standout performance for Purdue in his final collegiate game. He scored from the Indiana 1 - yard mark in the third quarter, carrying on six straight plays from the Hoosier 27. Tom Yakubowski, Willie's sophomore understudy, plunged from the Indiana 3 later in the same period.

Alternate quarterback Maurie Guttman got Purdue's last-period touchdown from the 2 after sophomore tackle Don Brumm blocked Bill Olsavsky's punt on the 5.

Indiana saved itself a whitewashing on Woody Moore's 13-yard pass to Nate Ramsey in the final minutes. A Moore pass to Wil Scott for 48 yards set up the touchdown.

Ferguson's TD Gives Ohio State 7-0 Win

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Battering Bog Ferguson broke up a tight defensive duel with a 17-yard fourth-quarter touchdown run Saturday to give Ohio State a 7-0 victory over Michigan in the season's final for both Big Ten teams.

Held at bay by a tenacious Wolverine defense, the Bucks called on their most potent weapon as the final session started. Ferguson, the league's leading scorer and ground-gainer, carried four straight times for 37 yards, including the pay-off punch.

The Bucks, battling for their seventh win in nine starts this season, recovered a fumble and intercepted two passes after Ferguson had scored to save the conquest and white-wash the Wolverines for only the second time in 23 years.

Coach Woody Hayes stuck to his quarterback-fullback offense all the way. Bill Wentz was the only halfback to carry the ball while quarterback Tom Matte rushed 25 times for 41 yards and Ferguson 16 for 80.

Fairfield Equals Cajun Tourney's Low Mark Of 65

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Lionel Herbert, 32-year-old onetime PGA champion, cupped a 25-yard chip shot on the 18th hole for a five-under-par 66 and the lead after 54 holes in the $15,000 Cajun Classic Golf Tournament Saturday.

Hebert, hometown cofavorite along with older brother Jay, goes into Sunday's final round with a two-stroke lead over 25-year-old Johnny Pott of Shreveport, who fired a 69 for a 54-hole total of 205.

Hebert, who hasn't won a tournament since the Tucson Open in 1958, has carded a 68-69-66.

Tied at third were Frank Boynton of Orlando, Fla., with 67-71-69—207, and Jon Gustin of Gladwyne, Pa., with 67-69-71—208.

Don Fairfield of Jacksonville, Ill., who fired a sizzling 65 Saturday to equal the tourney's low mark set Thursday by Jerry Pittman of Tulsa, Okla., holds down fourth with 208.

Jay Hebert, who won the tourney in 1958, was in fifth place along with Al Balding of Toronto, Canada; Al Geiberger of Studio City, Calif., Marty Furgol of Cog Hill, Ill., Tom Neiport of Bronxville, N. Y., and Freddie Haas of New Orleans with 209s.

Dyas Helps Lead Auburn To 57-21 Victory Over FU

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Surefooted Ed Dyas broke both of his collegiate field goal records Saturday and teamed with quarterback Bryant Harvard in leading Auburn to a 57-21 football victory over Florida State.

But a tackle sent Dyas to the college hospital in the fourth period. The extent of his head injuries was not immediately determined.

The big fullback fell crashing against the Auburn bench after taking a 9-yard pass from Joe Overton. His face struck the wooden seat.

A 21-yard placement in the third period gave the 21-year-old All-America prospect 13 field goals for the year and 16 for his college career. He had established new records in both categories earlier in the season.

Arkansas Marches Into Cotton Bowl With 34-6 Win

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Arkansas marched over Texas Tech 34-6 and into the Cotton Bowl Saturday on the bullseye passing of George McKinney and the blistering runs of Lance Alworth and Billy Moore.

The Razorbacks rolled up 27 points in the first half, then threatened repeatedly the rest of the way until scoring again with six minutes left on a jump pass from McKinney to Brent Shinall that gained 44 yards.

It was Arkansas' fourth straight victory over Texas Tech and it gave the Razorbacks the host spot in the Cotton Bowl because they defeated Rice, the team expected to tie it for the title, in regular season play.

A fumble and intercepted pass helped Arkansas to its first two touchdowns. E. J. Holub, Tech center, intercepted a pass and ran 40 yards for a touchdown to pull the Red Raiders back into the game.

But the next time Arkansas had the ball it roared 78 yards for another touchdown.

Iowa's Break-Away Speed Too Much For Notre Dame To Stop

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Iowa, the nation's No. 2 grid team, handed Coach Forest Evashevski a fitting farewell gift Saturday with a closing 28-0 victory over Notre Dame's tough, but erring Irish.

With Minnesota's 26-7 conquest of Wisconsin, the Gophers tied Iowa for the Big Ten title, each with a 5-1 record. Both are eligible for a possible Rose Bowl bid —with Iowa hoping its chances may be enhanced by possible No. 1 recognition in The AP's national poll.

The Hawkeyes employed breakaway speed to set up three of its four touchdowns.

Evashevski, who retires to the Hawkeye athletic directorship, saw his club score twice in the final quarter to finally cool off the Irish.

The Irish gave away the ball six times, four times on interceptions and twice on fumbles. Notre Dame made its deepest penetration, to Iowa's 17, in the last quarter.

Hold Annual Father, Son Banquet At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE—The annual Father and Son football banquet with the mothers and wives as hostesses was held in the Roodhouse Community High school cafeteria, Friday evening with others present including the football squads, freshman, sophomore and varsity cheerleaders, Coach Alex Takacs and wife, Supt. Russell Ward and wife, Assistant Superintendent Mason F. Campbell and wife, chairmen of the committee of mothers were Mrs. Earl Bacon and Mrs. Delbert Winters.

Mrs. Richard Hopkins was program chairman for the evening. Mrs. Hopkins introduced Supt. Ward, who talked and presented the coach for a short talk. Following the banquet program, the boys and their fathers adjourned to the Homemaking rooms where the Armistice Day football game movies were shown.

The banquet tables were decorated with the school colors of red and white with each place card fashioned like an "R." At the cheerleaders' places the cups were white mums of white crepe paper. The centerpiece for the tables was made for the occasion and given to the group by the local florist, Homer Rimbey, and carried out the school colors.

The floral piece was sent to the home of Assistant Coach Ted Printy, who was unable to be present because of illness in the family.

The mothers met following the banquet to elect officers for the next year who were named as follows: Co-Chairmen, Mesdames Leland Bruce, Julian Sheppard, Jr.; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Robert Shaw; program chairman, Mrs. Richard Hopkins. Retiring co-chairmen are Mesdames Delbert Winters and Earl Bacon.

Tornadoes Switch Defense And Whip Meredosia,, 58-35

GRIGGSVILLE — Coach Charles Pritchett's Tornadoes switched defense after the first quarter and held Meredosia to three tallies in the second canto for a 58-35 victory over Jim Torricelli's Indians here Saturday night.

The losers trailed by only four points after eight minutes of play but a tight defense led to their downfall in the next two chapters when they garnered only 11 points to trail, 42-19, after three periods.

Griggsville used reserves the final period in a contest that produced 40 fouls, 20 on each club.

The loss was Meredosia's first in two outings while the Tornadoes captured their opening performance of the season.

Ronnie Coacher and Corky Shelton led scoring honors for the winners with 17 points apiece. Coacher collected five points in the second frame and six in the third stanza in addition to snaring 13 rebounds, tops for the game. Griggsville sank 20 of 24 attempts from the charity line.

John Petri and Jerry Bradley paced Meredosia's scoring with 10 and nine tallies respectively.

Washington & Lee Climax Winning Campaign, 28-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Washington & Lee Generals, unbeaten but once tied, finished their best football season since 1914 Saturday by ripping the fumbling Washington Bears, 28-0.

The visitors have a final 8-0-1 record, best since the 9-0-0 in 1914. Washington finished 2-7-0.

The game was never in doubt after Joe Hess burst 59 yards up the middle in the first quarter for a 6-0 lead. But the Bears made things easier by fumbling nine times and losing the ball six times.

The aggressive Washington & Lee defense was sparked by their amazing linebacker, little Terry Fohs. The 5-foot-7, 145-pound Fohs was in on 20 tackles Saturday.

Washington's deepest penetration was to the 29 yard line in the last quarter.

QB Dick Thornton Stars For Winners

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Quarterback Dick Thornton passed and ran Northwestern to a 14-7 victory over Illinois Saturday in a Big Ten football finale before a crowd of 51,782.

Thornton, a 20-year-old Chicagoan, who was disabled last year with a broken ankle suffered in Northwestern's second game, returned the opening kickoff 83 yards to set up the Wildcats' first touchdown, and took charge in an 87-yard drive in the final quarter for the game-winning touchdown.

Illinois punted to the Northwestern 13 to open the fourth quarter. Thornton went around his left end for 22 yards. Mike Stock picked up 1 yard before Thornton tossed a 31-yard pass to Elbert Kimbrough. Thornton ran for another 20 yards and then fired a 13-yard touchdown pass to Kimbrough.

Illinois, battling to get back into the game, threatened late in the fourth quarter when Mel Meyers tossed a 41-yard pass to Thurman Walker to the Northwestern 12. But the fired-up Wildcats not only held; they tossed Meyers for a couple of losses and took over on the 9 yard line.

The outcome gave both teams 5-4 records for the season, and 2-4 in conference play.

Illinois' only touchdown came in the second quarter

Oxygen Equipment Is Memorial Gift

FRANKLIN—Members of the George H. Jolly family have donated in his memory an oxygen respiratory regulator to the fire district for emergency use. Paul Ames made the presentation to the members of the volunteer fire department at their regular meeting.

There is a small group who have accepted the responsibility of considering themselves volunteer firemen and attending these meetings regularly. But this is not a fixed group, they are what the name implies—volunteers. However, the men of the district have left the load on the shoulders of a few good neighbors. All men in the community should be good neighbors, and many of them turn out when the fire siren is heard, but they aren't able to do much because they are not trained in use of the equipment. The district has good equipment and all men in the community should know how to handle it.

All men are urged to come to the meeting on the first Thursday of each month and learn how to handle the fire fighting equipment efficiently.

Give Mission Program

The Missionary Society of the Christian church was held at the home of Mrs. Harold Campbell with a potluck luncheon at noon. The meeting opened with the Missionary prayer. Miss Lou Duncan had the devotions reading Psalm 100 and an article "Let Us Give Thanks" and closed with prayer. The program leader Mrs. Campbell chose the subject "Our Churches Work in Cooperation." Papers were read by Mrs. Minnie Sweet and Mrs. Una Clayton followed by the leader asking questions on the work. A Bible quiz was conducted by Mrs. Clayton. The Missionary benediction closed the meeting.

New Cub Pack Charter

The November Cub Scout Pack meeting will be Tuesday evening, Nov. 22, at the high school. The new charter will be in effect, and new den mothers and committeemen will take over their assignments. The committee members are A. B. Caldwell, institutional representative; Byron Smith, cubmaster; George Mitchell, assistant cubmaster and advancement leader; Earl Carter, treasurer, William Haycraft and Paul Bergschneider, committeemen.

Mrs. Sadie Wood returned to spend the winter with her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Oettle at Havana, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Shalla of near Jacksonville spent Sunday afternoon and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Woodrum of Tallula were callers on Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gilmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jewsbury of Jacksonville spent Sunday with their son, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jewsbury and Norma, and also attended the Consecration Service at the Methodist church.

All Cars Able To Move Again After Smashups

Two collisions put dents into three cars and a truck, but all of the drivers escaped injury and each vehicle was able to proceed under its own power.

At 11:40 o'clock Friday night a 1955 Pontiac driven by Robert E. Havens, Roodhouse route one, and a 1955 Chevrolet driven by James A. Goings, Jacksonville route five, collided at South Main street and Morton avenue.

Police said Havens turned in front of the other car without giving a signal. He was issued a ticket on that charge.

A smashup occurred at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at Prairie and Grove streets between a 1954 Dodge driven by Roy E. Clifton of Naples and an International truck belonging to the Holsum Bread Co., of which Alvin Birdsell, 210 Allen avenue, was driver.

All vehicles bore the scars of impact but the damage was not extensive.

IREC Holds 14th Annual Meeting In Winchester

By Dorothy Sauer
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone Pioneer 2-3439)

WINCHESTER — The Fourteenth Annual Directors and Employees Banquet of the Illinois Rural Electric Company located in Winchester was held on Thusday evening of this past week at the Christian church basement. The banquet dinner was prepared and served by the ladies of the CWF of the church, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Jesse Butzback and Mrs. Paul Garrison.

The dining hall was decorated in keeping with the 25th anniversary of rural electrification. Decorations were in charge of the home electrification advisor, Mrs. W. G. Watt, and arrangements for the banquet meeting were in charge of Karl Longenbaugh, power use adviser.

Henry Day, director of the cooperative from White Hall, gave the invocation. S. R. Faris of Winchester acted as toastmaster and introduced the cooperative president, F. J. Longmeyer of Greenfield.

Special awards for length of service were presented by Mr. Longmeyer to Leonard Wood of Jacksonville, secretary of the cooperative, who has had 20 years of service, and to the following employees: Deon Pinkerton, 20 years; Frank Boston, 15 years; Keith Coultas, 15 years; Floyd Glover, 15 years; Karl B. Longenbaugh, 15 years; William Milliken, 15 years; John C. Harlow, 10 years; Roger Moss, 10 years; Arthur G. Sandman, 10 years; Donald P. Baughman, 5 years.

Individual safety awards for no lost-time accidents were presented by Toastmaster Faris as follows: Twin pen Sheaffer desk set with name engraved to Basil L. Taylor for 15 years service. Sterling tie clasps with safety emblem and record of years of service without a lost-time accident were presented to Bernard L. Ator, 6 years; David S. Welch, 7 years; W. F. Hanback, 10 years; Clinton C. Pegram, 5 years. Sheaffer Snorkel pen and pencil sets with safety emblem and record of years of service without a lost-time accident were presented to Jack Maberry for 11 years; Arthur E. Baughman for 11 years; Harold W. Eaves, 11 years; Karl B. Longenbaugh, 12 years; Thomas H. Anders, 10 years.

Edward McFaul of Chicago was the main speaker of the evening on the subject, "How Confused Can You Get?" Mr. McFaul received his MA from the University of Michigan and continued his formal training at the Harvard School of Business Administration and the University of Edinburgh in Scotland. He taught for several years at Northwestern and DePaul universities. He has spoken in nearly every state in the union as well as in Canada, Scotland, Ireland and England. These wide contacts have given him an unusual understanding of people — an understanding reflected in the success of his talks.

Guests at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Dunham of Springfield; V. J. Galloway of Pleasant Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nichols of New Canton; Mrs. Elsie Wieneke, Hardin; Mrs. Irl Davidson, Eldred; Mrs. Ethel Smith, Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Albert Coultas and Mrs. Sam Dolen of Winchester.

Junior Play

A large crowd was in attendance and enjoyed the presentation of the annual Junior Class play by members of the class from the Winchester High School this past Friday evening.

The play entitled, "Reluctant Reunion," was a three act comedy with the action of the play taking place in the living room of the Iowa farm home belonging to Clayton and Jennifer Moore. Those in the cast included Theo Mann, Tom Pile, Sara Andres, Barbara Brown, Gordon Day, Larry Howell, Georgann Lashmett, Doris Akers, Keith Wyatt, John Havens, Nancy McCullough, Alan Cowhick, and Eddie Frost.

Miss Ramona Lawson, teacher at the school, who directed the play, was presented a gift between acts by Larry Howell, a member of the cast.

Teachers and students from the school who assisted in the production of the play were Mrs. Loretta Glossop, Mrs. William Hobbs, Mrs. Frances Summers, Miss Wilba Priest, Mrs. Lillian Coultas, Jerry Alberts, Jeanne Coultas, Ronnie Robinson, and Russell Wilson .The stage was prepared by Leo Evans, janitor, with furnishings provided by the Patterson Home Furnishings and by Fred Evans and Sons Furniture Store of Winchester.

RNA To Meet

The regular meeting of the Winchester RNA lodge will be held this Monday evening, Nov. 21, in the IOOF Hall with Oracle Mrs. Glenn Graybael presiding. Plans will be made for the annual Christmas party.

The Social committee for the evening includes Mrs. Edward Lumsden, Mrs. George Worrall and Mrs. William Moss.

Legion Auxiliary

Members of the Winchester Legion Auxiliary are reminded that the meeting night for this month only will not be this Wednesday, Nov. 23, but will be held one week later on the Wednesday evening of November 30 in the Legion Hall at the usual time of 8 o'clock.

Junior Women

A $75 wardrobe certificate, to be used at the Thomas Store in Winchester, was won by Mrs. Bruce Cooper of this city when the name was drawn by Mrs. Robert Mellor at the November meeting of the Winchester Junior Woman's Club held on Thursday evening, Nov. 17. A part of the proceeds from the drawing will be sent to the Brain Research Foundation for their use.

The meeting, at the Fletcher Cafe, was commenced with a 6:30 o'clock dinner. The business meeting, in charge of the president, Mrs. William Jefferson, included reports from the various committee chairmen. It was announced that all paid members are on the standing reservation list and need not call each month for reservations but must notify one of the hostesses if cancelling. Cancellations may now be made by Wednesday morning instead of by Tuesday as before.

Miss Eck Cunningham, who sold 130 tickets, was presented with a gift for being the highest salesman. The table centerpiece was won by Mrs. John Peterson, Jr.

Frank Hitt, assistant special agent in charge of the FBI out of Springfield, was the guest speaker of the evening. Mr. Hitt replaced another FBI agent who had been scheduled to speak. The speaker, originally from South Carolina, stated he had been with the FBI since 1947 and prior to his present assignment had traveled, out of Washington, D.C., through the United States and Hawaii. In speaking of the FBI he told that there were 5,889 agents in this country, Hawaii, Anchorage, Alaska, and Puerto Rico with approximately twenty-two billion dollars being spent each year on crime.

Hostesses at the meeting were Mrs. Carl E. Evans and Mrs. Dan Lashmett.

Revival Services

Revival services at the Southern Baptist Church in Bloomfield, west of Winchester, are commencing their second week as of this Monday, Nov. 21. The services, commencing at 7:30 each evening, are conducted by Rev. Ottis Meadows of Modesto, Ill. The revival will close on the evening of Saturday, Nov. 26. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Rev. LeRoy J. Smith is pastor of the Bloomfield Church.

PTA Meets

The regular Winchester Elementary PTA organization held its November meeting this past Thursday evening in the gymnasium of the school with Pete Spangler, president, presiding.

It was announced that a profit of $618.72 was realized from the annual Penny Carnival. The budget, as prepared for the year, was read. Following much discussion concerning the approval of $75 out of the budget to be sent to Springfield, to be used for the State Headquarters Building to be erected, it was decided to accept the budget as read but delete the $75 donation and the subject will again be brought up for discussion at the regular meeting in January.

During the Buz Session on "Projects for the Year" a number of ideas were brought before the people and the three main ones included the purchasing of an opaque projector or something similar; the establishment of a centrally located library for the entire student body; and the purchasing of more playground equipment. Nothing definite was decided upon because of the small attendance and this subject will also be under discussion at the January meeting.

The children present were entertained with a movie in the band room by parents serving as chaperones. Refreshments of coffee and doughnuts were served at the close of the meeting by a committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lashmet, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Lewis, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Evans.

Bank Meeting

Approximately seventy bankers, members of the Cass, Morgan, Scott, and Schuyler Federation, were entertained with a 6:45 o'clock turkey dinner at the Hotel Winchester this past Thursday evening when they held their fall meeting.

Charles Dutch, Federation President, presided over the discussion pertaining to bank matters.

The guest speaker of the evening, introduced by program chairman, Mrs. Homer G. Rockwood, was John E. Willis, professor of Farm Management, University of Illinois, College of Agriculture. Mr. Willis discussed "Characteristics of a Good Credit Risk."

A guest at the meeting was Mr. Nakmura of Japan, a graduate student at the U. of I., who accompanied Mr. Willis, and who is personally interested in farm credit.

Rebekah's Meet

The members of the Winchester Pioneer Rebekah Lodge met in regular session this past Friday evening in the IOOF Hall with Noble Grand, Mrs. Everette Hester, presiding. The lodge charter was draped in memorial ceremony honoring three recently deceased members, Miss Percie M. Butzback, Mrs. O. C. Smith and Roy Thompson.

Springfield Artist Wins Design Award

Morgan County Tuberculosis Association has received word regarding the Christmas Seal design which has now been chosen in the contest for the 1962 campaign. This design was chosen by a committee representative of the county as a whole in New York City in October. The winner is Paul A. Dohanos of Norwalk, Connecticut.

Certificates of merit will be awarded by state and local associations also to an additional 12 artists, representing 14 top designs as runners-up.

The National Tuberculosis Association announced this was a record number of merit awards for quality and excellence of presentation.

Among the artists to win an award of merit was Thomas Phipps, Springfield, Illinois. The winner was given a $500 cash award.

The "Call for Artists' contest is open to anyone, of any age and any number of designs may be drawn. This past October five designs which were submitted by 4 students from Illinois School for the Deaf, and their instructor, helped make the total submitted from Illinois the largest of any state who submitted designs. It is hoped more having any artistic abilities will avail themselves of this opportunity which may result in being a winner, or winning a merit award which in turn, may open up new fields for the designer.

The design must be drawn to scale and any information pertaining to entering the contest may be secured from Mrs. Verne Anderson, secretary of the Morgan County Tuberculosis Association.

Miss Burnett Tells Waverly Club Of Trip

WAVERLY—The literature and music department of the Waverly Woman's Club met at the home of Miss Norma Scribner on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 16.

Roll call response was "My Travel Wish."

The president, Mrs. Winifred Strawn, presided during the business meeting. Mrs. Ruth Wilson was re-instated as a member. Mrs. Philip Dossett was a guest.

Miss Olive Burnett gave a travelogue of her world tour made by steamer and air, lasting 104 days.

The group left San Francisco, Calif. on June 16, 1960 and arrived in New York aboard the Queen Mary on September 27.

Among the countries and cities visited were Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Bangkok, Singapore, Colombo, Bombay, Calcutta, India, Cairo, Egypt, Athens, Naples, Rome, Paris, and London. Each country provided a tour director who helped to interpret his country to the group.

The club members were delighted with Miss Burnett's description of life in many places from the tea ceremony in Japan and a visit to the Taj Mahal to look across the barriers into Red China, 150 yards away.

On display for the members to see were many articles which the speaker had ordered sent home, beautiful lines, silk, wood carvings, paintings, religious items, and ornamental jewelry. Mrs. Philip Dossett modeled a beautiful silk kimono and black net and silver stole. Pictures of the tour also gave the talk added interest.

Thanksgiving Service Planned In White Hall

WHITE HALL — The annual Thanksgiving service sponsored by the ministerial alliance made up of pastors of the First Baptist, United Presbyterian, First Christian and First Methodist churches, will be held Wednesday night, Nov. 23, at the First Baptist Church at 7:30 o'clock with Rev. Ruth Nicklin, pastor of the First Christian Church, bringing the message. The public is cordially invited to this service.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch Helton of Alton have returned home following a vacation visit with relatives in the community.

Miss Margaret Kinison who is president of the Greene County Teachers Association, accompanied by Mrs. Bob Hubbard, attended a classroom teachers' meeting in Alton during the week, with teachers of five counties attending.

Rev. Ruth Nicklin spent several days this week with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Whitney, in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Deavers spent the weekend with relatives in Union and St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. C. S. Greene has returned from Washington, D.C., where she was called due to the illness of her sister, Mrs. Marion Noah. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Dean Corsa, who remained for a longer stay with the Noah family. Mrs. Noah is making satisfactory progress.

'Tell Me Who I Am.' Plea Of Many In Nation's Lost Legion

This is one of a series of articles on the tracing of missing persons compiled from actual case histories made available to this paper by Tracers Company of America.

"I have six months to live. Before I die I want to find out who I really am." These were the words of a 61-year-old man who had lived his whole life without knowing his true identity.

An unusual case? Not at all. Our orphanages are filled with thousands of children who must grow up not knowing, and perhaps always wondering, who they really are and who their true parents were.

Many are illegitimate. Some, like the 61-year-old man — we'll call him Morton Parnell — have been separated from their families by the death of the mother.

Orphans Most Pathetic

Dan Eisenberg, famous private investigator, who specializes in tracing missing persons, says among the most pathetic problems he handles are those dealing with orphans. He gets about four every day. Not all of them are orphans seeking their true identity. Some are the then unwed mothers who, 20 or 30 years ago, abandoned their illicit offspring to an orphanage or foster home and now want to find them.

In his 35 years as a private investigator, Eisenberg's reputation has been built principally around "The Case of the Disappearing Husband" (and in his private opinion, many wives would be smarter to allow them to stay missing), but among the missing who are not missing in the usual sense that they ran away, absconded, or simply vanished. These are the bewildered humans whose background and parentage is all mixed up, and in most of them, sooner or later, comes that burning desire only to know the truth.

Six Months To Live

Morton Parnell wasn't looking for anyone when he came into Eisenberg's Madison Ave., office seeking his own identity, and he wasn't an amnesia victim, either. He was a successful business man with a wife and family, living a normal, happy life, until the doctors told him he had cancer and only six more months to live. What would you do if you had only six months to live? Most people would try to fulfill some specific goal, something they had always wanted to do, and perhaps never got around to.

Morton Parnell decided to try to find out who he really was. Through the years he had often thought about it. Now, in a kind of desperation, he had to know —if it were possible to find out. His memories of his early life were vague. There was a long boat ride, and then different homes in different parts of the country, sometimes with many children around. Were they his brothers and sisters? He remembered his mother's death (at least he thought it was his real mother) when he was about 9 or 10, but he had no recollection of a father.

He remembered running away from an orphanage when he was about 12 or 13. He tried to enlist in World War I but was considered too thin for the task. He joined the Canadian Army. His name was then Harold Mueller. He decided then to change his name to Morton Parnell. Although he was middle aged at the time of World War II, he was accepted by the United States Navy because of his technical skills.

Finds Family Members

With this scant information to start with, the Tracers Company's agent went to work digging up 50 year old records, and in a couple of weeks supplied not only the missing links to Morton Parnell's background but six living brothers and sisters as well.

It was established that Morton was one of nine children of German immigrant parents, whose father was killed shortly after he arrived in our country and whose mother had to farm out the children to various families while working. She died when Morton was ten and the children were all scattered among foster homes. His six-months-to-live wish was filled in more ways than he ever dared to hope for.

He was not illegitimate. His parents were good people. Best of all was his reunion with his long lost kin.

Case Stranger Than Fiction

Eleven years ago a young college student came to Eisenberg with a case stranger than fiction. The boy knew that he was an adopted child. His foster mother died when he was 17. At her funeral a strange man handed him an envelope. Inside were five new $10 bills and a note saying: "on the first of each month you will receive $200. Put yourself thru college with it."

He started to college to study engineering. Each month his $200 allowance arrived. The young man suspected the truth, but he was dying of curiosity. Eisenberg suggested: "Why don't you just leave things as they are? You're getting your allowance." Sometimes, it is better not to know the truth. "I don't care," said the boy. "I want to find out who I am."

All he knew about his background was his birthday, his foster name and the fact that he once lived in a small town with a name ending in "bridge." Oh, yes. Something else had impressed him. A picture of a beautiful woman on top of the piano at home. Every time he asked who she was — his foster mother would give him a strange, sad look, and reply: "She was an Irish princess, honey, and lovely as a rose."

Finds Birth Record

Eisenberg began with a United States postal guide — running down every city, town and hamlet ending in "bridge" in New York and several adjacent states. In one he found a significant birth record — a son born to an unwed mother on his client's birthdate. Added notation: "the mother died the same day." A little further checking revealed that the young woman's parent's were still living. They furnished slim new clews, including one about a man in an eastern mill town.

The search took the investigators through many New England mill towns and industrial centers, to a man who was now president of his company, an active churchman and a leading citizen in the community, and who was, in fact, at that time being strongly considered as a candidate for governor of his state! It was definitely verified that he was the boy's father, salving a guilty conscience on the time payment plan.

As Eisenberg says, "I only find the missing. I don't bring them back." And in this case he strongly urged the boy to let sleeping dogs lie. However, the boy insisted on confronting his father. When they met, the man practically had apoplexy and promised his son the moon — if he would just get lost. He immediately handed him several hundred dollars and said he would get a lot more, just as soon as he could raise the cash. He didn't need to. The boy merely crammed several of the crisp, new greenbacks right down his father's throat, and walked out.

Finds Happy Home

The story eventually had a happier ending. The youngster looked up his mother's parents and found himself a family. They took him in as one of their own and continued sending him to college. And, sitting on their own piano, of course, was that same picture of the Irish princess — just as lovely as a rose.

VERSAILLES WOMEN ATTEND MEETING IN BLUFFS

Mesdames Marie Behymer, Mary Ellen Bridgewater, and Maye Twist attended a district meeting of the Rebekah lodge in Bluffs Wednesday evening. Mrs. Helen Bates of that city was installed as district president at the meeting.

Hawkins - Weems Rites At 1st Baptist Church

Miss Barbara Jean Weems and Clarence (Chuck) Hawkins, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, November sixth, at First Baptist church. The Reverend L. L. Olsen performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley M. Weems, 340 West Court street and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Irene Hawkins, Brookfield, Missouri and the late Phillip Hawkins.

Gladioli, greenery and tapers in candelabra decorated the altar of the church. Miss Mahala McGehee presided at the organ and was accompanist for the soloist, Miss Joyce Samples.

The bride's sister, Mrs. David Brickey, Murrayville, was her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Orr, New Berlin and Miss Janet Clardy, city.

Clarence Froman, Rushville, was best man. Groomsmen were Robert Miller and Larry Long, Jacksonville. Ushers were Wayne Stewart, city and Randy McIntosh, Ashland.

Miss Janet Stewart and Miss Sharon Alderman, city, lighted candles at the altar during the prelude.

The bride wore a wedding dress of white crystal satin with Alencon lace studded with pearls and sequins. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of pearls. She carried a bouquet of Puff mums.

The attendants were gowned identically in conventional length frocks of champagne chiffon taffeta and carried bouquets of yellow and bronze spider mums.

The bride's mother wore a chalk blue costume and the groom's mother was in beige. Both had corsages of white Puff mums.

Reception At Church

A reception was held in the social rooms at the church. Assisting were Miss Carol Brickey and Miss Connie Brickey, Murrayville; Miss Betty Sue Freitag, Mrs. Don Gillis.

Since their return from a honeymoon in the northern part of the state the newlyweds are making their home at 1710 South Main street. Guests attended the wedding from Springfield, Murrayville, New Berlin, Salem, Rushville and Ashland, Ill. and Brookfield, Mo.

Mrs. Hawkins graduated from Jacksonville High School in 1958. The bridegroom is employed at Brinker Truck Lines, Jacksonville.

Mrs. Bigler Speaks To Bluffs Woman's Club

BLUFFS—The Bluffs Woman's Club met Thursday afternoon in the Civic Club rooms. The meeting opened with the pledge of allegiance led by Mrs. Everett Neese and the prayer by Mrs. Della Albers.

Mrs. Floyd Hart conducted the business session. Various reports were given. Mrs. Gus Andres, American Home Chairman, presented information on the Vogue Sewing Contest. The Civic Club piano has been tuned. Mrs. Oliver Chambers, Mental Health Chairman, presented information on the "forgotten patients" and the club voted to send requested material, the articles to be left at the Bluffs Times office before Dec. 1. All Club members are urged to participate in this project.

Mrs. Donald Merris, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Clarence Bigler of Jacksonville who spoke to the club on "Let's Learn More About Indian Culture." Mrs. Bigler is a Euchee Indian, her parents being natives of Oklahoma.

She gave many interesting facts of her family background. Members of her tribe do not travel so it was an experience when her father visited her in Jacksonville sometime ago. She recalled the life of her grandmothers, comparing it with modern day living. She also told of the government care of the Indians and the help of the missionaries. She has been a resident of Illinois for ten years.

Mrs. Wendell Brackett was in charge of the musical portion of the program, presenting Mrs. Glenn Seivers who sang "Pale Moon" and "Indian Love Call" accompanied by Mrs. Donald Merris.

The meeting closed with the repeating of the Club Collect.

The hostesses, Mrs. Paul Vannier, Mrs. Paul Welch, Mrs. Florence Brackett served delicious refreshments from a beautifully appointed table with a fall motif. Mrs. Welch poured coffee and Mrs. Brackett, tea.

Recital Sunday

Mrs. Donald Merris will present her piano students in their annual recital in the Bluffs Methodist Church on Sunday, Nov. 20, at 4 p.m.

Those participating are Debbie Brackett, Jane Ann Merriman, Alan Merriman, Mary Ann Traw, Mary Lou Morthole, Janet Williams, Kerry Freesen, Bobby Freesen, Rhonda Orchard, Rita Brown, Craig Brown, David Little, Susan Placke, Marlys Little, Mike Cockerill, Patty Coughlin, Sue Goldsborough, Dixie Frohwitter, Linda Berry and Warren Merriman.

All are cordially invited to be guests at this program.

Mother And Daughter Sing At Tuesday Club

Mrs. Ray Steinheimer was hostess to Tuesday Club the afternoon of November 15 at her home, 405 Woodland. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. J. E. Armitage, who announced the program of which Mrs. Francis Plouer was in charge.

Mrs. Plouer presented Mrs. John Gillespie, her daughter, and Miss Mahala McGehee, MacMurray faculty. Mrs. Plouer and Mrs. Gillespie gave three groups of duets, accompanied at the piano by Miss McGehee, with On Wings of Song, the theme. The first number was a composition by that title.

Other numbers were duets by such composers as Logan, Coats, Speaks and Mendelssohn. One of the highlights of the program was the famous duet, 'Neath the Dome,' from the opera, Lakme' by Delibes. During the business session it was voted to contribute to the Tree of Lights.

A social hour followed the program and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mission Program At First Baptist W.M.S. Meeting

The November meeting of the Woman's Mission Society, First Baptist church, was held at the church in Fellowship Hall the afternoon of Nov. 17th. A dessert course was served at 1:15 p.m. with Mrs. E. O. Cully asking table blessing.

Tables were attractive with colorful fruit in cornicopia baskets and other Thanksgiving appointments. Members of the Mary Mills Circle were hostesses with committee members, Mrs. Tom Cornish, Mrs. W. T. Query, Mrs. William Townsley, Mrs. James R. Beavers.

Mrs. L. P. Hauck, president, opened the meeting and conducted the business session. Mrs. William Hawks offered opening prayer, following which "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" was sung by the group. Mrs. James R. Beavers, program chairman, announced the program, "A Noble Heritage-Unlimited Horizons," presented by Mrs. Anderson Kitchens. Mrs. Mae Tomlin assisted Mrs. Kitchens in narrating. Others taking part on the program were Mrs. J. G. Worrall, Mrs. Beavers, Mrs. Henry Deppe, Mrs. L. Dean and Mrs. Susan Greenwalt. They carried messages of the need of new churches, the ministry to American Indians, and mission work to refugees and the people of Alaska. The program was interspersed with hymns played by Mrs. Claude Lewis.

During the business session officers and committee reports were presented and reports of Circles given.

Mrs. Leon Stewart, assisted by Mrs. Dean, had charge of the Love Gift service.

Editorial Comment

Cure Must Be Found

The new and higher unemployment figures, running counter to the normal seasonal trend, are genuine cause for concern in a year which originally promised such good things.

When unemployment amounts to 6 per cent or more of the total work force, most economists and labor specialists believe the danger signals are up. Today's 3,500,000 total does surpass 6 per cent.

Futhermore, there is some fear that by January the figure may have gone past five million. That would, by general acknowledgement, give the nation its fourth recession in the past 12 years.

The current state of the economy was a subject for sharp partisan controversy in the recent presidential campaign. But the events of history indicate that recessions are bipartisan.

The first postwar decline of consequence struck in 1949, just a few months after Harry Truman won surprise election. It was cured by the uprising defense outlays incident to the Korean war which broke out in mid-1950.

Since then, recessions in 1954 and 1958 have plagued the Eisenhower regime, and now a third threatens. Most observers believe the 1954 and 1958 declines cost the Republicans heavily at the polls, and many are saying that the spotty effects of the current slowdown figured markedly in the victory of president-elect Kennedy.

Whatever the direct political effects, the fact is we ought all to be troubled by the frequency of these downward swings, which seem to recur no matter which party is in power.

If the present drop finally earns the title of recession, it will mean we are having one every three or four years. That plainly is too often for the well-being of our citizens, too often for a nation engaged in a deadly struggle with the forces of Communist tyranny.

It has been said many times since World War II that with our many built-in safeguards we are now almost depression-proof. Certainly we have suffered nothing of the magnitude of the Great Depression of the 1930s, nor do we seem likely to.

Yet important economic answers appear still to elude us. No one imagines that all cyclical ups and downs can be wiped out. But leaders in both parties, plus our scholars and our businessmen, should address themselves sharply to ways and means of preventing the frequent recurrence of declines steep enough to be called recessions.

They are a mark of persistent failure which we cannot endure but must cure, in the interest of our national safety and well-being.

A Glance Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

The cornerstone of new Passavant Memorial Area hospital will be laid in ceremonies to be held Tuesday afternoon.

Russell W. Armstrong, Jacksonville amateur magician, presented the program at the banquet of the Illinois Grain corporation held at the Sherman hotel in Chicago.

Bob Merris' All-Star six-man football team is made up of Jack Hansmeier, Arenzville; Hinky Henry, Routt; Jake Sellars, Routt; Bill Conners, Virginia; Bill Rawlings, Franklin; Daryle Nortrup, Meredosia, and Moon Mullens, Routt.

20 YEARS AGO

Arnold Lee Miller, 223 E. College ave., will report for army induction on Nov. 26. He is the first city draftee under the new law.

Wilford H. Absher Tuesday purchased the 247 acre Ray M. Wilday farm of Jacksonville for $91 per acre. The farm is located three miles east of Jacksonville and a half mile south of Route 36.

50 YEARS AGO

From now on the Journal will receive the full Associated Press news report by leased telegraph directly into the office. Six newspapers are on the circuit: Quincy, Jacksonville, Springfield, Bloomington, Decatur and Burlington, Iowa. Walter DeShara, recently of Chicago, will be the operator.

Capt. Alex Smith has returned from Toledo, Ohio, where he attended the annual meeting of the Army of the Tennessee.

Coach Buland yesterday reinstated the five football players he canned last week after they broke training rules by smoking coffin nails and playing pool. The rejuvenated team goes to Bloomington today for what looks like easy pickings.

75 YEARS AGO

The old and well known cry for a depot at Markham gradually increases as winter approaches.

Thomas Packard of West Liberty is pushing his corn shucking these days. He will soon have 15 acres shucked.

Phil Dunlap's buggy, which was smashed up some time ago, has been returned from South Bend, Ind., as good as new. It was repaired by the makers, Studebaker Bros.

J. M. Fox of Chapin has almost completed his wind mill. It is a 46 foot tower and will grind grain, pump water and shell corn all at the same time with a fair wind. It is the mill that was on exhibition in St. Louis and is the first one of its kind sold.

ARRESTED — Two men who have been keeping a small trading establishment on State street were arrested last week, charged with attempting to set fire to the building they occupied for the purpose of getting the insurance on their stock, most of which they had removed. They were bound over to answer in the next court.

A severe spell of cold followed the fall of snow Thursday. On Saturday the thermometer stood below zero and the Illinois river was nearly closed with newly formed ice.

Combatting Communism In America In 1960

It is later, much, much, much later than you think to combat Communism right here in America, in the United States, In Illinois, and in Morgan County.

Khrushchev has stated that your grandchildren will live under his kind of government.

"What can we, you, and I do to fight Communism? When should we begin? Where should we begin?

A-lert yourself—learn the true nature and tactics of communism;

M-ake civic programs for social improvement your business;

E-xercise your right to vote; elect representatives of integrity;

R-espect human dignity—Communism and individual rights cannot co-exist;

I-nform yourself; know your country, its history, traditions, and its heritage;

C-ombat public apathy, and indifference toward Communism, for apathy and indifference can be fatal when National, and World Survival is definately at stake;

A-ttack bioiry and prejudice wherever and whenever they appear. Justice for all is the bulwark of "Democracy."

Excerpt—J. Edgar Hoover—

I want you to know that: It is Democracy in America for me.

I attended the "All-American Conference to Combat Communism," held at the Hotel Muehlbach in Kansas City, Nov. 10-12, 1960, and if what I heard there is true, and I do not doubt it, it is much later than we think to fight atheistic form of government.

I beg of you to awake, if you are not already aware of what is in store for future generations.

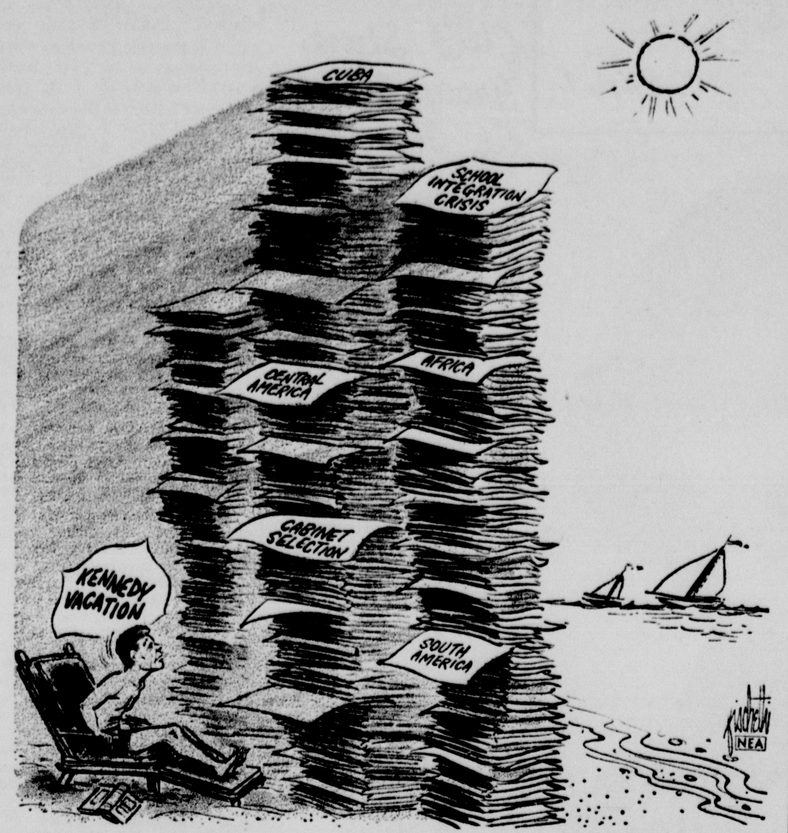
"Somewhere the Sun Is Shining"



The World Today

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — The Castro regime's latest anti-American blasts appear directed specifically against "the government of President Eisenhower"—as though leaving the door unlocked for possible negotiations with President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Observers, in pointing this out, cite various examples of the trend since the Democratic senator defeated Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the U.S. election.

Several Latin-American diplomats say at least one segment of the Cuban government is anxious to talk things over with Kennedy or his representatives.

Government-controlled newspapers recently began substituting "the Eisenhower government" for "the American government," as though trying to differentiate between "Eisenhower Americans" and other Americans.

The Republican party as represented by Eisenhower is regarded here, traditionally, as more reactionary than the Democratic party. Castro propagandists often call the Republicans the representatives of American monopolies.

Yet Prime Minister Fidel Castro and his supporters strongly attacked Kennedy both during his campaign and immediately after he won the election. Some descriptives applied to him were "rich illiterate" and "stupid."

"The economic situation is beginning to pinch and some of the more intelligent members of the government are looking around for help," said one Latin-American ambassador.

"They are about convinced that the help Khrushchev is willing to give will be too little too late."

There has been as yet no open Cuban move toward seeking an understanding with Kennedy or his associates. But some diplomatic sources here say they know hints have been dropped.

These sources see the new press campaign to heap anti-American criticism upon "Eisenhower Americans" as one such step.

An English-speaking policeman in Havana typified that kind of thinking when he asked two American correspondents where they are from.

"We are Yankees," the two replied.

"Don't use that word," said the policeman. "That's reserved for Eisenhower Americans."

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How would you like to see Matt Dillon outdrawn? Or Perry Mason outverdicted? Or Peter Gunn outsmarted?

Those do sound like impossible dreams. The formulae for most TV series are so iron-clad that there is no possibility for failure of the leading men in their appointed tasks.

Yet this season has brought a new kind of TV figure—the fallible hero. You can see the rare bird in "The Law and Mr. Jones" on NBC Friday nights. He's James Whitmore, an expert portrayer of the common man.

That should be qualified. Whitmore plays the common man uncommonly. That's why his Mr. Jones is convincing.

"Our man is a lawyer and like all lawyers, he doesn't win every case," said the actor. "I think you lose a lot of reality when you make a hero infallible."

"The Law and Mr. Jones" marks Whitmore's entrance into TV after a long holdout. As one of Hollywood's most serviceable actors, he has been offered a string of Western, private eye and situation comedy TV series. He always said no.

"The kick of being an actor is to be able to create," he observed. "How much creativity is there in most TV series? Darned little. You establish a character and you play it as long as the series lasts.

"The reason most actors do TV is for security. That's important, too, and that's what helped decide me. I had guested on the other shows. I had tried a Broadway show that was a flop. I'm not a big name, so I couldn't count on movies.

"There comes a point when you have to decide that it's better to have the security to provide your family with the kind of peace of mind that they can live with. Luckily, Sy Gomberg came along with the idea for Mr. Jones at the same time I came to this decision. It offered a chance to do a series that wasn't static, but could grow and develop."

FINDING THE WAY

Nature of True Thankfulness

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Written For NEA

All across the land there are grateful people who will soon gather at the family table to say simply:

God is great, God is good,
And we thank him for our food,
By his hand, we are led
And he gives us daily bread.
The eyes of all wait upon Thee,
O Lord,
Thou satisfiest the desire of every living thing.

Whereupon the fortunate family joins in eating the festive meal.

This is the American Thanksgiving, celebrated in the United States and Canada, noting the remembrance of gratitude in a land of plenty.

After the meal, let your imagination wander a bit before going to the football game.

● Suppose your entire house was a room about ten by twelve feet, peopled by at least five adults. This would be Thanksgiving Day for a fortunate refugee family in Hong Kong.

● Suppose you lived in a hovel not fit for any but animals. This would be Thanksgiving Day in the slums of Cuba.

● Suppose that you lived through years of frustration in East Germany knowing that there was little forseeable hope for a time of freedom which once you knew. This would be Thanksgiving Day behind the Iron Curtain.

It is in such remembrance that we can literally pray that God forgive us for having so much. To be grateful requires a profound sense of humility. That's why real gratitude is difficult for so many adults. Only the truly humble can be truly grateful.

Our very independence as human beings is liable to create a brittle and hard exterior. We are in danger of just accepting these things as though it was God's business to supply us—and not all living things. Carlyle called on us to note many years ago that it was not in flattering our appetites but in a fresh understanding of our obligations that we are called to heroism.

Jacques Barzun once wrote that the problem of democracy was not to educate every person beyond his intelligence but rather to make the intelligent socially responsible.

To think and to act socially is not only to show mercy to one's neighbor but it is to understand the meaning of the neighbor. It is one of civilization's most difficult problems.

This Thanksgiving Day demands a fresh approach to the very real problem of understanding how to share our resources with intelligent compassion and with a humble sense of stewardship.

For in every generation, the truly great are those, as Chesterton typified them, who take life for gratitude and not for granted!

Communication

Nov. 17, 1960.

Dear Editor:

Comes that time again to pay personal tribute to those people in our fair City who seldom get a pat on the back for services rendered at a time when emergency action is sorely needed.

Here's the story that took place at 3:15 this Thursday morning on the southwest corner of Greenwood and South Main street.

At that early hour I was awakened by a terrific noise which shook our immediate vicinity, and quickly illuminated our entire property. It was a car collision, and the illumination was caused by a downed telegraph pole into which a car had propelled, short-circuiting the electrical wires, and setting fire to fallen leaves. A series of popping sounds created an eerie mood. Then I heard a whimpering sound, and knew I should do something quickly.

Summoning help from the telephone by dialing "O" I told my story to a soft spoken operator whose quick understanding of the emergency message quickly aroused a procession of people who rallied to the scene of the accident in mere minutes. It was truly inspiring to watch this team of early morning workers which comprised our City policemen; Highway Patrol officers; Ambulance staff; your own photographer, John Martin, who was deftly taking pictures of the accident. The entire organized movement was conducted with efficiency, quietude and particular regard for the still conscious accident victim. I doubt very much if many residents were disturbed from their peaceful slumber, for the traffic direction was carried out with the minimum of noise or confusion.

The Power people were on the spot making sure that everything was done for the protection and safety of we, the people, and it was a heart warming spectacle, indeed, to witness from start to finish.

May I offer a tribute to everyone who took part in this early morning accident saga. It is good to know that we can count on these fine people who serve us so well in our growing City, both when we are awake, and asleep. It is re-assuring to be aware that we have the right people for these emergency services that require quick thinking and immediate action.

Needless to say a prayer was said for the accident victim before slumber was renewed, and we are happy to say that she is not too badly injured.

Very truly yours,
Margaret MacGregor Wheeler,

Communists Eye U.S. Youth In Search for Members

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— The Communist party is launching a new drive to recruit American youth.

Having failed in efforts to take over labor unions, American Negroes and front organizations of fellow travelers in this country, the Commies have apparently figured they will have to recruit and train a new generation of young folks.

Plans are under way to form a new national youth organization, patterned after the American Youth Congress which the Communists took over and ran—into the ground—during the great depression of the 1930s. Efforts will be made to present the new organization as an "independent" group dedicated to "progressive" ideas and programs.

The objective is to entice young people into supporting Communist peace drives for disarmament, banning of nuclear tests, support of Soviet Russian programs in the U.N., recognition of Red China and backing of Fidel Castro in Cuba.

Key to this organization drive is the launching of a publication, "New Horizons for Youth." Its first issue, a four-page tabloid put out by Youth Publications, 799 Broadway, New York, made its appearance in October.

It is offered for sale at a dime a copy or a dollar a year. But most copies of the first issue appear to have been given away on college campuses in the big industrial states where there is some hope of enticing students into left wing causes.

An editorial in the first issue says the paper "has been conceived and is written by youth for youth. We are an independent group and rely on our own efforts."

Actually, Daniel Rubin, listed on the masthead of the paper as its editor, is a member of the Communist party, U.S.A., national committee and is its national youth director. He is 29.

Managing editor of the paper is listed as Joseph Bauer, but his real name is Seymour Robert Joseph. He is a 32-year-old Communist, a youth organizer for the party in Queens County, N.Y., and a speaker at Communist youth rallies in the New York area.

Even without these identifications, however, "New Horizons for Youth," is so obviously Communist-slanted in material that it is anything but independent. Its disguise is amateurish.

In the middle of page one is an announcement of a "world youth forum" to be held in Moscow next September.

"News" in the publication supposed to be of interest to American youth includes stories on demonstrations of youngsters at Democratic and Republican national conventions, sit-ins throughout the South, peace marches to observe the 16th anniversary of the bombing of Hiroshima on Aug. 6, protests against House Un-American Activities Committee hearings on Communists in education, held in San Francisco last May.

This last item appeared under a heading, "San Francisco Youth Tell Off J. Edgar." This is a reference to the fact that the marchers—62 of them were arrested on riot charges, later dismissed—had denied FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's charge they were agitated by Communists.

The paper gives its biggest play to protests against school segregation in an apparent bid for Negro youth support. Other protests are against the anti-Communist oath in government-backed student loan applications and unemployment among youth today.

The main theme throughout is to capitalize on discontent and stir up more trouble wherever possible.

He Went From Shoeing Horses to Cutting Rugs

BY MARIE DAERR

"I don't look for work. I have enough jobs to keep me busy three hours a day. I want to save time for my lodge meetings and for dancing."

These are the words of Mike Simonis, a 74-year-old modern blacksmith who for 11 years has operated a thriving post-retirement business in his own garage.

So skilled is Simonis at getting tools back into shape that an engineering firm that used to send chisels to a city several hundred miles away for reconditioning now brings the work to him.

Simonis also gets assignments from monument works, bricklayers, construction firms and other individuals and businesses.

"I was apprenticed as a blacksmith in Transylvania when I was 14," Simonis said. "For three years I worked for Fritz Thyssen in the Ruhr, shoeing horses.

"I came to this country when I was 18. I changed my mind about shoeing horses. In Europe, someone else held the horse's foot while the blacksmith worked. In America, the blacksmith did the holding and the shoeing."

Simonis worked for a number of big industrial firms, became a school guard after he retired.

"I was getting fat at that job," he said. "One morning, while I was on duty, a friend asked me if I could reface a certain kind of chisel for him.

"Before I knew it, I was in business. I've had jobs people called impossible. Once, I bet a man my double house that I could do a certain job. I won."

Simonis often sketches out jobs for clients with chalk on his driveway. He has devised several labor-saving items, including an automatic hammer with foot-pedal control.

He also built his own forge and rigged up a crane that he uses when he has a chain to weld. His anvil is sunk into a tin box in his garage floor.

"When I want to put my car into the garage, I just lift the anvil and put a board over the hole," Simonis said.

Simonis works on chisels for lettering on stone and chisels for breaking concrete. He also reconditions picks, mattocks, hammers, hatchets and drills.

A widower with 3 children, 9 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren, Simonis is firm about saving plenty of time for recreation.

"Dancing is my hobby," he said. "At home, when there is lively music on the radio, I sometimes pick up a chair and use it as a partner."

Danish Foods Add Pleasure To Our Thanksgiving Feast

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enteprise Food and Markets Editor

A few weeks before Thanksgiving, we lunched with the Danish Foreign Minister, Jens Otto Krag, here for the visit of King Frederick IX and Queen Ingrid. During our exclusive interview with the vigorous dignitary, an array of herring, unbelievably tiny pink shrimp, Danish caviar, blue and other cheeses and imported breads were placed on our table.

"In Denmark we look to America for new ideas," Mr. Krag said, pausing to toast us in a V-shaped glass of chilled Akvavit. "Your great national feast of Thanksgiving fascinates us. As you know, we Danes like to eat, too—and eat well, just as you Americans do. That is why many of us celebrate in our homes your Thanksgiving Day, giving thanks for the bonds of friendship and the good foods that join us."

He said he hoped some of his country's cheeses, mild-cured canned hams, sea food and the butter which visitors from the United State's love when they come to Copenhagen might add even a little more pleasure to our lavish Thanksgiving tables.

One new Danish product American supermarkets are beginning to carry is frozen "Wienerbroed," those amazingly buttery so-called Danish pastries. Danish beers, particularly Carlsberg and Tuborg, both bottled in Copenhagen, have long been popular items in our supermarkets.

"If you serve our beer with your Thanksgiving turkey," the amiable foreign minister suggested, "remember to say 'skaal' before you drink each other's health. However," he added, "if you are a lady, don't say it first."

To consumers, at least, the price of bananas is something more to be thankful for. Because of increased imports this year, the price is gradually going down. In the first eight months of 1960, we imported 40 million stems as against 36 million last year. In Washington, D.C., wholesale markets today the 40-pound carton is bringing only $4.50 to $4.76 as against $5.40 to $6.00 this same time last year. So add them to your festive fresh fruit bowl.

Another new Thanksgiving item is frozen Italian green beans, now in national distribution in our supermarket frozen food cabinet. Introduced by Birdseye, the Italian-style flat-pod beans, grown in West Coast valleys, are dark green, half-inch wide and cut into inch-long lengths. Very crisp, flatter and wider, they are good as a vegetable, in salads, or marinated in a French dressing. Can be substituted in Chinese dishes for more expensive snow peas. In 9-ounce packages for about 27 cents.

Bonded Stock Dealer Not Necessarily Safe

An Iowa farmer was out $2,000 recently when he tried to cash a check given him in payment for livestock by a dealer he did not know and had never seen before.

Why did he enter into a transaction with a man he knew nothing about? Simply because the dealer assured him he was bonded and registered with the U.S. Department of Agriculture under the Packers and Stockyards Act.

What the farmer did not know was that while the dealer was bonded for $5,000, he had entered into transactions far exceeding this amount. Each of the farmers he had bought livestock from and paid with "insufficient-funds" checks was able to recover from the bonding company only a fraction of the amount he was due.

Though livestock producers are now getting better marketing protection than ever before under the provisions of the Packers and Stockyards Act, they should still take precautions to protect their own interests in any livestock transactions, the U.S. Department of Agriculture advises.

A 1953 amendment to the P & S Act requires that all market agencies and dealers engaging in interstate commerce—and that means practically all—register with the Secretary of Agriculture and secure a bond. Previously only those operating at posted markets were under this requirement.

Only a minimum bond ($5,000) is required for the first year for those not previously under regulation. After that, the bond required is computed on the basis of two days' average business. Of course, even higher bonds would not necessarily cover all of a dealers' transactions during a period of heavy trading.

WILL ADMINISTRATION DEVALUE THE DOLLAR?

Some farmers have asked us for information about the recent run-up in the price of gold and the prospects of a devaluation of the U.S. dollar. This is a big order for delivery in three minutes, but we can list a few basic facts.

Gold is used as backing for our paper currency and bank deposits. Banks in other countries can send dollar to the United States Treasury and receive gold in exchange. The exchange rate, or the price of gold, is $35 an ounce.

Foreign nations can claim our gold only by offering dolars for it. They get dolars in several ways: They get dollars in several ways: pay for imports, travel in foreign countries and invest in foreign business. Foreign nations also get dollars when our government spends to maintain military forces outside the United States and when we provide foreign aid to newly developing countries.

So long as the products of our farms and factories are "good buys," foreigners wil take them in preference to gold. But when our products become overpriced in relation to prices in other countries, they wil take our gold and buy their supplies elsewhere.

Foreign banks have taken four billion dolars' worth of our gold in the past four years. Our stock of gold has been reduced from 23 billion dollars in 1956 to 19 billion dollars recently.

Many products of our industries are overpriced in present world markets The reason is excessive increases in labor costs in our industries.

The normal consequence of excessive wage increases is excessive unemployment. But our national policy it to prevent such unemployment by increasing government spending. In order to spend more, the government borrows from banks. Such borrowing has the effect of creating more dollars. For example, in the recession of 1957-58, our government borrowed 10 billion dollars from banks.

There are three possible ways to check the run on U.S. gold stocks:

1. We can check federal spending and deficite financing.

2. We can bring our cost under control so that our manufactured products will be priced more competitively with products of other nations.

3. We can raise the price of gold, that is, devalue the dolar, so that foreign owners of dollars would rather take our goods than our gold. But the trouble with this last alternative is that other countries could, and likely would, devalue their currency at the same time that the United States devalued the dollar. This action would tend to promote world-wide inflnatio.

What we need to recognize is that governments do not voluntarily devalue their currency. Rather, they are forced to do so by nearly irresistible economic forces. These economic forces, however, are often the results of excessive spending by the government itself, or of other unsound economic policies.

City - Farm Week Observed Here By Kiwanis

City - Farm Week was observed last week with a special Kiwanis Club program Thursday and on the following day four farm couples went to St. Louis where they were the guests of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Many of the farmers invited as guests of the Jacksonville Kiwanis Club were forced to send their regrets—the day was a good one for picking corn.

The speaker was Ernest Anderson of the U. I. extension training staff. He used as his theme, "The New Four R's of Education, "stating it was the responsibility of community leaders to stand up for our capitalistic system at a time when "many in the world are trying to make it a dirty word. We have taken our system too much for granted, now it is imperative that we speak up for the American system."

Attending the St. Louis program were Mr. and Mrs. George Hardy, rural route 2, Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith Jr., Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Birdsell, rural route 4, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sooy, rural route 5. They were accompanied by Miss Hazel Graves, home adviser.

If this corn-picking season runs like those of the past few years, more than 200 Illinois farmers will be injured or killed in cornpicker accidents.

During a 37-year period at the University of Illinois, fewer Rambouillet lambs have died before weaning than lambs of three other breeds studied.

IAA President Tells Legislative Formula

Ingredients for a "right kind" of a farm legislative program were outlined Wednesday by Illinois Agricultural Association President William J. Kuhfuss, in his address at the IAA's 46th annual meeting in Chicago last week.

He said a right kind of a farm legislative program needs to "preserve the opportunity for the individual to gain or lose. It needs to put government in an area of creating a right climate for a free enterprise agriculture to operate and not to be a competitor nor to make a big government-directed utility out of agriculture, leveling ond restricting all of the people involved."

Kuhfuss said he has deep conviction that the integrity of the individual must be preserved, "if we are to have opportunity in America and continue to grow as a nation."

The IAA president listed several ingredients for the right legislative program:

1. The program must take a broad and not commodity by commodity approach, allowing the dictates of the economy and the market place to regulate the supply of individual commodities. This will encourage adjustment and change, when needed.

2. It should isolate immediately, and eliminate as soon as possible, the major part of the $9 billion of supplies held in Commodity Credit Corporation. This can be accomplished with the payment-in-kind program for proper retirement of productive land, plus distribution to distress areas abroad. The school lunch program and the give-away program are of minor consequence.

3. The program should encourage agricultural production to fit the amount of commodities we can use. To do this may require some administration by the government so that all farmers will make their just contribution. This may also be accomplished in a more costly and less effective way by buying voluntary participation through a soil-conservation route, as endorsed by both political platforms.

This is the route which was approved by the American Farm Bureau Federation convention last year. In the long-time interest of agriculture this should best be accomplished by not depending upon appropriations from other segments of the eceonomy. The important thing is to effectuate the adjustment without losing the freedom and inegrity of the individual in the process. Either route, properly designed and administered, could accomplish this.

4. The program should withdraw government from the storage business beyond security levels.

5. It should postpone all federal reclamation projects that bring new land into production until such time as additional production is needed.

High Moisture Corn, Grinder, Pays Off

URBANA — University of Illinois dairy research shows that it pays to grind high-moisture corn for dairy heifers and cows.

In recent tests grinding boosted shelled corn by about 22 percent. And the ground high-moisture corn was better than whole kernel dry corn for maintaining milk production.

U. of I. dairy scientist Ken Harshbarger says these tests disprove the theory that farmers don't have to grind high-moisture corn because it is soft and therefore naturally easier to digest than regular dry corn.

Harshbarger started the grinding experiments after previous feeding trials comparing high-moisture shelled corn and regular ground corn showed better gains for heifers on regular corn.

A Grinding The Difference?

All regular corn used in the tests was ground. The high-moisture corn was fed as shelled corn as it came from the silo.

Since other experiment stations have shown that high-moisture corn is equal or superior to dry corn in feeding value, Harshbarger concluded that the difference in gains must have been due to grinding the dry corn.

To check this theory, Harshbarger set up an experiment to compare the feeding values of high - moisture whole-kernel shelled corn, sigh-moisture ground shelled corn and dry ground shelled corn.

Results of Tests

Dairy heifers fed high-moisture, whole-kernel shelled corn gained only .96 pound daily compared with average daily gains of 1.18 pounds for heifers fed ground high-moisture corn and 1.19 pounds for heifers on regular ground-shelled corn.

When the experiment was carried over to cows, researchers found that during the 13 weeks of the trial milk production declined 30 percent for cows fed regular whole-kernel shelled corn and only 16 percent for cows on high-moisture ground shelled corn.

Smith Urges Illinois Action On Corn Crop

A past president of the Illinois Agricultural association told delegates at the organization's 46th annual meeting Wednesday that the Illinois Farm Bureau has a "special obligation" to figure out a workable answer to the corn surplus problem.

The speaker was Earl C. Smith, of Detroit, Pike County, IAA president from 1926-45.

He pointed out that Illinois farmers produce nearly 700 million bushels of corn—one-sixth of the national production.

Smith mentioned a proposal which calls for a mandatory 25 percent acreage reduction. He did not endorse the proposal nor mention any of his own. Smith said several other programs relating to the problem have been suggested.

"The IAA is duty-bound to accept the responsibility in this time of great opportunity, and great danger, to do something about the overshadowing problem of the corn surplus," he said. "The IAA grew great by developing some tools the farmer could use to help him maintain his economic and social position in the state and it should meet the present situation with forthright action."

Smith said he thought IAA was duty-bound to develop a program and take it to the American Farm Bureau Federation and try to get it passed.

If IAA doesn't get sympathetic reception there, IAA should consider the possibility of going to Washington to get a program that will benefit the corn belt, Smith continued.

"For the long pull," Smith added, "the soil bank program would be acceptable, but for these emergency years I am convinced it will not do the job."

During the talk Smith told that the IAA was formed as an educational organization and that it had only 14 employees in 1926. He discussed the growth of the IAA and emphasized that the farm group has a greater opportunity and responsibility to render services today than in any other time in the organization's history.

Cass 4-H Leaders To Be Honored At Springfield

VIRGINIA — More than 300 Illinois leaders will be honored for outstanding service to the state 4-H program at the 15th annual 4-H Leaders Recognition Day program in Springfield, Nov. 22.

Two Cass county home economics 4-H leaders will be among those honored. They are Mrs. Henry Fiedler and Mrs. G. B. Greathouse. Many leading representatives of business and industry and state extension workers will attend the Recognition Day program to help honor the volunteer leaders. During the day, the leaders will visit the Centennial Building to hear discussions about their state government. They will also be free to tour the State Museum, the State Capitol or historical Lincoln spots in Springfield.

4-H Leaders' Recognition Day is planned each year so that local clubs can share in some of the public acclaim given to 4-H Club members.

Moore, Reynolds Reelected At IAA Meeting

Boyce Moore, rural route 3, was unanimously elected last week to serve a third consecutive term as board member of the Illinois Agricultural association.

He will represent District No. 10, which is composed of Logan, Mason, Menard, Cass, Sangamon, Morgan and Scott counties.

Everett G. Reynolds, rural route 5, was unanimously reelected president of the Illinois Farm Bureau Serum association. The report of this cooperative showed sales of $765,030.36 during the past 12 months and slightly lower earnings due to the substantial reduction in hog numbers.

The 36 year old cooperative is farmer-owned. It has always strived to promote beter animal health, with emphasis on prevention of animal diseases rather than on cures or treatment.

Richard P. Stone, young Sangamon County farmer, won the 1960 Discussion Meet. One of the six finalists was Mrs. Jack Smith of Franklin.

Methodist Church At Meredosia Has Family Night

MEREDOSIA — The regular Family Night was observed at the Meredosia Methodist church Wednesday night with a good crowd in attendance. After a bountiful carry-in supper, the following program was held, announced by Mrs. Robert Lansink:

39 States, Provinces Enter Chicago Show

CHICAGO—Stockmen and farm boys and girls from 37 states, Ontario and Alberta, will contribute one of the largest showings of prize farm animals ever seen at any show when the 21st annual International Live Stock Exposition, Horse Show and Rodeo, opens its doors here Nov. 25.

The Exposition will continue daily through Dec. 3 and will fill to capacity the 13-acres of exhibit area in the International Amphitheatre, the nation's largest show building.

Huge Beef Displays

Massed displays of prime beef on the hoof will be quartered in pens of the nearby Chicago Stock Yards where the carlot cattle exhibits of prime steers are shown, judged, and sold at auction in lots of 15 animals each. They are a popular source of prime beef for the Chirstmas holiday trade. Truckiots of choice lambs and hogs will be similarly featured.

According to the management, the number of states represented in the Exposition's entry this year is largest in its history. The continent's best specimens from farm and ranch, representing 38 different breeds of livestock and horses, will be sent here from such distances as California and Maine, Alberta and Texas.

The 1961 Exposition will also feature a large and varied farm equipment show, it is announced. Among the innovations is a "nursette" that rivals mother's tender care. This gadget mixes formulas for baby calves, heating them electrically, to be served for nipple feeding. There are also devices that supply insecticides at the itching point when animals scratch.

Farm Equipment Shown

Out in the field, too, it's just a push button matter to raise and lower tractor attachments hydraulically. The technical revolution takes on size with a display at the International Amphitheatre of the largest modern-day farm tractor, a monster weighing 10 tons overall.

Equipment exhibits are entered from 16 states and include units developed in foreign countries. Spectators will see incubators growing green grass for winter feed, high pressure equipment capable of spraying an acre of crops per minute, and a mechanized hay machine that gathers hay in the fields and compresses it into "cookies for cows." There will also be a complete one-man haying operation on demonstration.

ANNUAL MEETING SET FOR DEC. 17

The annual meeting of the Morgan County Farm Bureau will be held at MacMurray College Saturday, Dec. 17. The business meeting will be held in the morning in Annie Merner chapel and a luncheon will be served at McClelland dining hall. Luncheon tickets will go on sale about Dec. 1.

The speaker will be Harold Neal, general sales manager of the IAA insurance companies.

Corn Breeders Increase Oil Content

URBANA — Corn breeders are juggling genes and chromosomes to make corn into a high-energy feed. And so far they have been able to increase the oil content by 50 percent without reducing yields.

Oil is 2¼ times as high in energy as starch is. A high-energy feed can mean more weight produced from each bushel of corn. In the near future high-energy corn could be speeding feeder livestock to market without raising feed costs.

Research indicates that it won't be long before high-oil corn is a real possibility, according to D. E. Alexander, University of Illinois corn breeding scientist.

The trick is to keep the high yields and the disease and lodging resistance qualities of modern hybrids and at the same time increase the oil content.

Illinois 6021 and 6052 were the first high-oil hybrids grown by farmers on a limited scale in 1959. The Illinois oil hybrids average about 6.3 percent oil compared with about 4.7 percent for a standard hybrid. Theoretically, this means that present oil hybrids yield about 5.6 per cent more energy per acre than standard corn.

Improvement of hybrid corn oil content depends largely on the creation of new strains. If these strains are unrelated to present Illinois High Oil, then there is a possibility of producing a higher oil hybrid with the desirable traits of modern hybrids, Alexander said.

JOINS GUERNSEY CLUB

The American Guernsey Cattle club, Peterborough, N.H., announces that Janet Black of Jacksonville has been accepted for junior membership in the club. Nearly 900 young people from all over the United States has been accepted for membership since the program started in June.

U. S. Department of Agriculture research shows that farmers who harvest their corn with the conventional ear corn picker lose more corn than those who use picker-shellers or corn combines.

FROM THE CORN CRIB

A small boy went with his family for a visit of several days in New York City and of all the sights they saw his favorite was the majestic statue of General Sherman on horseback at Fifth Ave. and 59th St.

He asked to be taken back to the statue several times, and, every time he went, he asked countless questions about the great Northern general. On the trip back to his home he was still cross-examining his father on the details of Sherman's deeds in the Civil War.

"But, Daddy, there's one thing I don't understand," he said finally. "Who is that man sitting on General Sherman?"

Know Your Capitals?

By Burton L. Reynard

Editor's note: Today we start a new series of puzzles. If you put them in a scrap book, you will have a puzzle for every capital in our 50 states.

An outline of the state in which the capital is located is shown at the right.

The name of this state capital is made up of two syllables. The two clues at the left will give you a hint.

Here are some other clues.

1. The county in which this capital lies has the same name as a river.
2. Abraham Lincoln once called it home.
3. It is not far away.

The name of the capital is.....

ANSWER: Springfield.

Mr. Coolie Skink

By Mrs. Otto Dorr

Part 2: "I'm No Alligator!"

Coolie scouted along the drive until he found a shaded crossing.

"Let's go hunting in the bean rows," he suggested. Across the fence they heard Mrs. Neighbor talking.

"Some one is visiting her," the toad explained, "They are going to pick beans, Mrs. Indiana has no garden at her home. Insects should be hopping now."

Coolie dashed among the beans while the toad followed slowly sampling a fly or so as they moved along. Shriek! Shriek! Shriek! Mrs. Indiana dropped her bean bucket and fled across the garden rows to the lawn.

"There's an Alligator down there! Do you know it?" she called. Mrs. Neighbor straightened up and turned toward her friend.

"Oh, no, there isn't, you say our lizard, it won't hurt you. I'll help you pick up those spilled beans."

Toad hopped forward swallowing flighty insects. "Did she frighten you?" he called to Coolie.

"Not much," Coolie answered deep in a grass tangle, "but she is a good runner! Let's go back to our tomato patch."

Coolie skipped ahead talking to himself, "Alligator, alligator, alligator, she thought I was one," while the toad followed slowly.

"What are they like?" he asked." "Do you look like an alligator?"

"Well, they live in the muck and mud down South, but they are much longer,"

"Do you want me to call you Al?" inquired the toad.

"No, no," Coolie was positive, "I do not want to be like one, not even a little alligator. You can call be Skink, if you like, that is my good name in a big dictionary with my picture."

Wonder World—

Make Your Own Chimes

By Rip Barnsdall

Experiment With Sound

Take a piece of light string about 2 feet long. In each end tie a one inch loop. Attach a tablespoon to the exact middle of the string.

Now put your index fingers into the loops. Put your index fingers in your ears. Lean forward and let the spoon strike the edge of a desk or table. You will hear a sound very similar to that of chimes.

Try the same experiment with different sized spoons. You can also experiment with forks and knives.

What Happens. When the spoon strikes the table, it is set in vibration. It continues to vibrate for a long time.

The vibrations given off are sound waves. They are carried to your fingers by the string. The sound vibration is passed to your fingers and then to your ears.

Making More Chimes. Tie two tablespoons to the string so that they cross over each other. Repeat the experiment as outlined above.

To get more chime effects, tie two pairs of spoons so that they cross over each other. In these experiments you get two different notes for each pair of spoons.

You will have created your own miniature church bells.

Let's Go Birding—

American Pipit On Mud Flat

By Emma Mae Leonhard

It was on the morning of the last Saturday in October that we stood far out on the mud flat extending into Lake Mauvaisterre. The fog was swirling around us and drifting over the lake water around us.

The sky above us was entirely closed from us by the clouds of yellowish fog. We stood in complete silence.

Then from the fog high above us came a tinkling combination of single and double sibilant (hissing) notes sounding something like "jeeeet" or "pitpit." We knew that it was the American Pipit's song, but where was the singer, we wondered.

Finally we caught sight of a tiny dark object in the gray mist. It was flying so erratically and undulating so buoyantly that we didn't attempt to catch sight of it through our binoculars.

Breathlessly we watched it dip up and down as it flew around us. Then as we hoped that it would it dropped on the mud flat in front of us.

There the Pipit teetered, dusky brown as the mud surrounding it. Had we not seen it alight, we probably could never have located it. As it was, we had a perfect study of the bird. There it walked, constantly wagging and flirting its tail.

Soon, uttering its distinctive call, it quickly mounted on its powerful wings, pivoted downward, and settled upon a dead branch extending above the water. At that performance we had a much better view of its white outer tail-feathers, its dark back, streaky buff breast, and black legs.

It then tinkled forth its double-syllable call, darted up and across the water, and dropped down on the mud flat beyond.

If I were twenty-one
I'd vote for Hennesey.
Social security, old age

Thanksgiving Cactus Blooms

By Mabel Hall Goltra

The Thanksgiving Cactus
Just coming into bloom,
Is beautiful to look upon:
It casts away the gloom.

Its many jointed tendrils,
Exotic little limbs,
All wear a gorgeous flower,
And they sing Thanksgiving hymns.

Oh, would our ears were tuned to hear
The songs the flowers sing.
The cactus must have brilliant songs
To match their coloring.

Use Bicycle-Like Device In Test

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

To find out which seven of the thirty-two military test pilots who volunteered to become Project Mercury astronauts were best suited for this task the Lovelace Clinic in Albuquerque, New Mexico, studied their medical histories and gave each man an absolutely complete examination.

Special consultations were given whenever the candidate's medical history, in one of the general examinations, showed that it was needed. All these tests were carried out under normal clinical procedures, with the subjects resting.

To find prospective astronauts' capacity under load, for body efficiency, the Lovelace physicians developed a series of dynamic (action) tests. These were used for the first time in selecting the seven Project Mercury Astronauts.

Capacity under load was found by comparing the subject's physical competence with this: pulmonary function (lung capacity and breathing efficiency); total body radiation; specific gravity of the body (how much denser than water it is); water and blood volume; lean body mass (comparison of the other things in this list except the pulmonary function); and detection of tiny congenital openings between the chambers of the heart (left over after birth.)

Use Bicycle-Like Device

The physical competence of a subject is measured by an ergometer. This is a device similar to a bicycle.

While pedalling increasing amounts of weight, the subjects wears an oxygen mask. The mask is connected to instruments which measure heartbeat and oxygen consumption. The amount of physical competence a subject has is found by how much weight he can pedal by the time his heart reaches 180 beats per minute.

The lung capacity and breathing efficiency pulmonary function), of the subject was found by measuring the amount of oxygen a subject breathes at rest and when exercising.

The Atomic Energy Commission's Los Alamos Laboratory counted the total body radiation of the prospective astronauts to find out how much potassium they had in their bodies. Potassium is a silver-white metal. It oxidizes (mixes with oxygen) rapidly in the open air.

The specific gravity of the subjects was found by weighing him both in the air and under water.

The water volume of the subject was determined by having him swallow a small amount of tritium. The scientists then watched the tritium to see how long it took to become diluted.

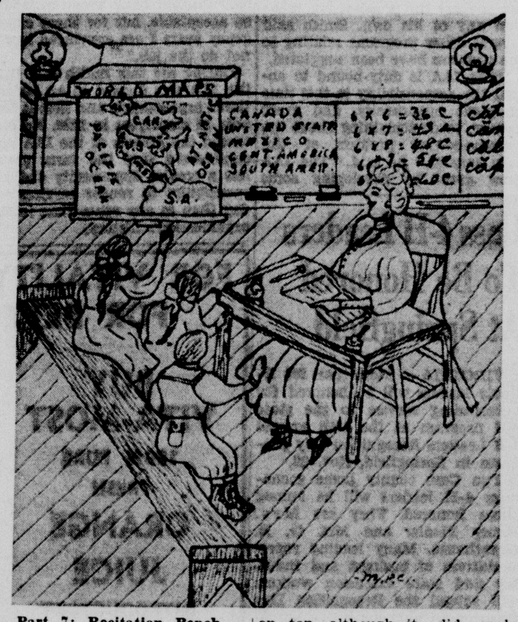
Tritium is an isotope of hydrogen. Like all isotopes it is heavier than the lement which it behaves and looks like. Tritium is three times as heavy as regular hydrogen.

To find out if the subject had any openings between the chambers of his heart the doctors had him do a Valsalve exercise. In this exercise the subject's nose was blocked and he blew into a tube.

True Story—

Long-Ago School Girl

By Mary Pence Claywell



Part 7: Recitation Bench

Although cleaning was hard in those old days, the seats and desks were carefully dusted and every thing was straightened up each evening. And every child always felt glad as he or she walked in and heard the cheery voice of the teacher call out "Good Morning," Mary . . . John or Kate . . . what ever the name happened to be.

Strangely enough, to a child in those days, the old room was nice indeed, even with all the toil and grime the teacher or janitor boy had with each day at closing time.

The teacher's desk was just as plain as the children's . . . in fact, a little more so:

It was only a small table with one drawer in the middle, much like grandma's old-time kitchen table. Since there was scant room in the one drawer, the teacher arranged the desk books neatly on top, although it did make things rather crowded, to say nothing of keeping the dust from soiling them.

Even in those days, text books were costly, and many parents found it a hard burden to keep their children in books, for contrary to present day belief, there were a number of subjects, and learning was not just the three R's as some believe today.

How happy the older teachers were when they had desks with drawers down each side . . . all the way . . . and with closed fronts that gave a private space for tired feet. There teacher could stretch her legs without poking her feet out in front of the children on the "recitation bench." And right here, let's take a look at that old recitation bench itself.

It was long and sometimes quite narrow. Usually it reached half way across the front of the room, directly in front of the teacher's desk.

Many times, it had no back rest, and it was just as often unpainted. Once in awhile though it did get a coat of paint, color being of no special importance, but quite pretty anyway.

The teacher, who heard many classes each day, having all eight grades, would call out:

"Reading One, please pass," or "Arithmetic Eight, come forward."

BIRTHDAY PARADE

RHONDA SUE PENCE

Rhonda had two candles to blow out on her Birthday recently. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Pence of Murrayville, and has a brother who will make his first appearance in the Birthday parade in June.

DAVID KEITH WARD, was 5 years old November 15. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ward of 729 N. Prairie.

DARREL DEAN KNOX

Darrel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer D. Knox of R. R. 3, was honored with a family Birthday party and chocolate Birthday cake on his second Birthday, November 8. His Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer I. Knox of R. R. 3.

JACK MICHAEL FORTADO

Jack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fortado of 316 E. Wolcott, was 6 years old just yesterday, November 19. His Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Matt Fortado and Mrs. E. P. Fisher. His Great Grandmothers are Mrs. Mabel Hayes and Mrs. Della Dickerson.

TIMOTHY CRAIG CHILDERS

Timothy will give his family and himself something to be thankful for with his first Birthday coming Thanksgiving Day, November 24. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs Ervin Childers of 514 Pine, and has a sister Renee who will march in December. His Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bert C. Brannan and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Childers.

DALE PENNELL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pennell of 627 S. Prairie, makes his first appearance in the Birthday Parade today to celebrate his one-year-old Birthday Nov. 1. His Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pennell of Woodson and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Devore of Jacksonville.

DAVID MICHAEL GIBBS, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibbs, of 109 Avondale Drive, had 5 candles to blow out on his Birthday cake, November 13.

RANDALL ALLEN DOLEN

Today, Randall has his first candle to blow out on his first Birthday cake. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dolen of Winchester.

Birthday Wish

All the Junior page readers and your editor wish each and every one of these marchers a VERY HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Want To March?

To join the Birthday Parade, just send your name, address and birthdate—with a snapshot if you have one—to the Jacksonville Junior Journal-Courier. Photos may be called for as soon as they have appeared in the paper.

Building Radio From A Kit

By Joseph A. Smith

Part 5: Finishing Up

Now check the B-plus line (using a volt-ohm-milliameter) to be sure it is above ground by at least the resistance of the power supply bleeder resistor. If this line is grounded anywhere, this fault must be located FIRST by checking one section of the rig at a time.

It's a good idea to check the power supply first. Remove all external B-plus wires (coming from the rest of the unit and into the output of the power supply) and check the power supply itself for some grounding defect.

If this is ok, reconnect one section at a time again checking for the shorted condition; when the defective section is ascertained, then a thorough inspection of this particular section should, in time, bring out the defective parts, shorts, etc. which is grounding the supply.

Before you attempt to operate any piece of equipment you should read the assembly book section on proper operation procedure CAREFULLY. FOLLOW IT EXACTLY!

If you have followed instructions exactly, carefully, as per pictoral diagram, the unit should work the first time tried. Such was the case in two separate cases at this QTH with units built by youngsters, and yet another unit (A small DX-40 transmitter) assembled by the author for someone. Naturally the more complicated the kit the more "Debugging" you may anticipate upon completion of assembly.

In the last analysis, a kit is simpler—generally speaking—in assembling, "De-bugging," and adjusting than is a "Home-Brewer" piece of gear. The kit will definitely work if properly and carefully assembled; the "Home-Brewer" is not always so sure of end results. (None-the-less, the author still enjoys building his own gear and seeing it work as well as commercial gear; but he has almost 13 years of building experience and some seven different transmitters or all wattages, a V.F.O., a small receiver, and a complete Stereo dual-amplifier system to his credit experience wise.)

Undeniably, the KIT is a natural for the beginner or one with less experience and time.

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written For NEA

Today's hand is taken from one of the early matches in the 1936 Vanderbilt and represents experts at their worst, or an expert named Jacoby at his worst, anyhow.

I sat North and my partner, Dave Bruce, opened one heart. In those days Dave used to bid an occasional psychic. When he made such a bid he always had a completely blank hand, but he also had at least a five-card suit. Also, he would pick a time when we were not vulnerable and the opponents were and this was the situation with this hand.

Anyway, I decided he had bid a psychic and made the safe bid of four hearts. We were going to make that, psychic or not.

Needless to say, I still hear about the hand. He had an opening bid and we had every high card in the pack and spread seven.

Our team went on to win the match and the tournament, so my bad bid did not really hurt us.

It is interesting to note that if we were playing the Jacoby slam convention back then, I could have had my cake and eaten it too. I would have bid four clubs. With a psychic Dave would have bid four diamonds to show no aces. As it was, he would have bid four spades to show two and I would have bid the grand slam.

DON'T RUN FOR THE HILLS—This could be a destructive tornado headed for Okemah, Okla. It isn't. It is smoke rising from burning slush pits between Okemah and Okmulgee. A slush pit is an earthen "pond" of waste oil.

In Hollywood

(First of two articles on the legend and the loves of Clark Gable)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I've never worked hard at being a myth," Clark Gable once said. Yet he was one for the three decades he ruled the film world.

As often happens with men who live their lives in the brilliance of fame, the real Gable was lost in the glare. The myth took over. It was a popular myth, and it blended nicely into the kind of role he played on the screen. But it wasn't Gable.

He became the epitome of the American male. People thought of him as the hard-muscled, wise-cracking, masterful man of action.

He was indeed a man's man. He felt uncomfortable in a drawing room and longed to be casting a fly on a mountain stream or drawing a bead on a flying duck.

But he was no superman. Despite his great fame and wealth, he had his share of fears and phantoms, drawn from a life that had more than the normal portion of tragedy.

His mother died when he was 4. Her place was taken by a stepmother who died when he was in his teens. His early years were rootless as his father moved from town to town.

Gable was to know three broken marriages and one widowerhood. Though he was a top star to the end, he could never recapture in the last 15 years of his career the magic he had known in the first 10.

As a final, tragic twist, the child he had wanted most of his life was to be born after his death.

Of course, it would be silly to say that he led a tragic life. His triumphs were greater than most people's, but triumphs are not always as helpful in illuminating the man.

Gable was not a good talker about himself. He liked to let his work speak for him, and it did quite eloquently. Only rarely did he provide much insight on what he believed.

Some samples:

On his wealth: "I'm not rich by any means. But I'm comfortable. That's all I ask of life—to be warm, well-fed and comfortable."

His favorite films: "If you really want to go back, you can pick ones like 'It Happened One Night,' 'Test Pilot,' 'San Francisco,' 'Boom Town.' And 'Gone With The Wind,' of course. It shot for seven and a half months, but I don't think I worked more than seven weeks. I even got married (to Carole Lombard) and had a honeymoon during the picture. There were whole stretches I wasn't in. But when Rhett Butler did make an appearance, he made it count."

On making friends: "I've given no thought to whether I make friends fast or slowly. I don't have a lot of friends; I do have a lot of acquaintances. Friends are something else."

On using makeup: "I hate it. I only use it when I have to."

About being an actor: "I've spent a lot of time learning to be an actor. I'm still learning. I don't know how you go about learning to be a personality, but I do know how you learn to go about being an actor, and I work at it. It's a profession I'm proud of. It's my job. Not that I am the best, but I try."

These are mere fragments, and Gable seldom revealed more, in public or private. More can be deduced from his personal story, especially in the women he married. That will be the subject of the next article.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Peter Ustinov has revived a long dormant Hollywood art—scene stealing.

Watch Ustinov in "Spartacus" and "The Sundowners." Every scene he appears in is his. The town hasn't seen much of this type of thing since the Thirties, when Jack Oakie, Charlie Ruggles and Ned Sparks were in their heyday.

In "The Sundowners," Ustinov steals scene after scene from Robert Mitchum but, as Oakie says, that's petty larceny. Mitchum is an underplayer like Gary Cooper and George Raft.

But in "Spartacus," Ustinov stole scene after scene from Charles Laughton, one of the all-time champions in the art. How did he do it?

"I'm afraid I had an unfair advantage over Charles. I wrote all those scenes," he explains.

Ustinov, besides being one of the best actors in the business, is a successful playwright and short story writer. His first novel, "The Losers," came out this week.

He will be seen next year in a movie, "Romanoff and Juliet," which he wrote, directed, produced and starred in. It's based on his successful Broadway play of the same title.

The all-time scene stealers, who made many a mediocre picture good by their antics, don't work much anymore because the stars now have taken over the business. No star-producer is going to permit a known scene stealer within 20 camera lengths.

But Ustinov overcame all that by simply becoming a star-producer himself. He reasons that no star can resent scene-stealing by someone who is making as much money as he is. The bearded 229-pound Ustinov says he makes no conscious effort to steal scenes.

"Even when I am not talking, I am listening," he says, "and I make sure that my listening is in the same rhythm and flow as the spoken word. Otherwise I could do what many actors do—not act when they are listening. It's a key to acting."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Roger Moore, veteran of many movies in his native Britain and Hollywood, is now a Western star on TV's "Maverick."

"At last," the Britisher says, "I have found out why so many of your Western gunslingers were so mean. Have you ever worn cowboy boots?

"As soon as I put them on every morning, I feel mean. They pinch, they hurt—and when your feet feel mean the rest of you feels mean.

"If loafers had been invented 100 years ago there never would have been a Wild West."

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jack Lemmon reports the Navy hasn't changed since the days when he was a World War II ensign.

He recently was in Honolulu filming "The Wackiest Ship in the Army."

"We hired a group of high-ranking naval officers — admirals among them—to play themselves in one scene," says Lemmon. "They had watched me and Ricky Nelson in one scene and then observed when our stand-ins came in under the hot lights to set up the next one.

"Director Dick Murphy asked the brass to take their places with the stand-ins so the lights could be adjusted. One admiral asked if the order could be delayed 60 seconds. It was.

"Soon a bunch of ensigns and chief petty officers trooped in. They announced they were the admirals' stand-ins. The grinning admirals they pardoned themselves and went out on the deck for a smoke."

AMERICANS FOLLOW THE SUN — Nine states, led by California and Florida, were awarded additional seats in the U.S. House of Representatives due to population shifts during the 1950s. Sixteen other states lost seats. Newsmap details the reapportionment which becomes effective for the 88th Congress which will be elected in 1962. Then the House goes back to its normal 435 members. It was raised temporarily to 437 last year for Hawaii and Alaska.

Home Bureau Installs Officers At Meredosia

MEREDOSIA — The Meredosia Home Bureau Unit held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. Carl Schmitt, Nov. 16. The meeting was opened by the pledge to the flag and singing "We Gather Together to Ask the Lord's Blessing." The major lesson, "Color for the Individual," was given by Mrs. Robert Fricke; and the minor lesson, "Soap and Detergents," was presented by Mrs. Charles Schmitt.

The business meeting was in charge of chairman, Mrs. Oscar Nortrup, and included reading the minutes of the October meeting and a treasurer's report. Highlights of the county board meeting were given by the secretary, Mrs. Marvin Schlieker.

The Home Bureau bus trip to St. Louis was announced for Dec. 12. All interested members must make reservation for this shopping trip. It was announced that the drive for Blue Cross and Blue Shield members will be Nov. 21-29.

Installation of new officers was in charge of Mrs. Nortrup. These officers were installed: chairman, Mrs. Marvin Schlieker; vice chairman, Mrs. Alvin Unland; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Albert Telling.

Mrs. Schlieker appointed these chairmen for the new year: 4-H, Mrs. Robert Fricke; recreation, Mrs. Minnie Steinberg; publicity, Mrs. Charles Wegehoft; music, Mrs. Paul Sieving; program, Mrs. Robert Lansink; health, Mrs. Aldo Hierman; safety, Mrs. Henry Schroeder; library, Mrs. Charles Schmitt; ways and means, Mrs. Lozelle Vandeventer.

Several interesting contests were in charge of Mrs. Minnie Steinberg. The next meeting will be in St. John's parish hall on Wednesday, Dec. 21, with Mrs. Marvin Schlieker as hostesses. There will be a gift exchange at that meeting. The major lesson will be given by Mrs. Alvin Unland, and the minor lesson by Mrs. Minnie Steinberg.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

Every time a new fad starts taking root, psychologists right away start figuring out all kinds of reasons why.

Now it seems the brain - boys have noticed a "new" trend toward strange - type pets. Parakeets are being replaced by myna birds, dogs by chimps, and goldfish by tropical breeds. The head-shrinkers say it's because folks are rebelling against the "great conformity" of our age, and are protesting with "way-out" pets to show they aren't really conforming. There's nothing wrong with this theory . . . it could very well be right. Trouble is, they're making it sound like something new. Not too long ago, folks were switching from the usual bird-type pets, canaries, to a strange new "fad" called parakeets. Maybe the change in taste for pets is "protest" . . . and maybe it's just that folks get tired of the same old things and . . . as with styles of cars, homes, etc. . . . just want something new for a change.

In Tokyo, a man was arrested picking the pocket of a woman . . . who was too busy shoplifting sweaters to know she was being robbed. Must have pulled the wool over her eyes.

Routt High School News

By

Kathy Romang and Connie Jacques

Three members of the Debating Club at Routt, Don English, Jerry and Larry White, observed a debate in action at Manual, Peoria, Saturday. The purpose of this debate was to let the boys see a debate in action before actually taking part in one themselves.

Five Routt students, Linda Blesse, Mary Lou Henderson, Jean Paisley, Kathy Romang and Linda Zeller, reported having a very interesting and informative weekend at the Conference in Special Education held in Jacksonville, November 13th ad 14th. They wish to thank the C.E.C., and all who were responsible.

The basketball season for the Routt Rockets will get underway this Tuesday night. The Rockets will play the I.S.D. Tigers at the I.S.D. gym. Good luck Rockets!

Plans are well underway for the forthcoming Christmas Pageant to be presented by the Routt students. Sister Thomas Aquinas and Sister Mary Sebina are organizing choral groups to be presented in the pageant.

Area Members Guests At Patterson R.N.A. Meet

PATTERSON—Twenty-two officers and members were present Tuesday evening, Nov. 15th, when the local Royal Neighbor Camp met in regular session, the meeting date having been changed from Thursday evening to Tuesday evening, due to school activities. Oracle Mary Nagle called the meeting to order and the Flag was presented by Mrs. Minnie Steelman.

After the opening of the camp, the usual routine of business was carried out. The members who had attended the Jacksonville Spotlight meeting the past week reported on the trip and the pleasure they had of meeting with a neighboring camp. Five members were present from the Patterson Camp, and a number of members from Hillview Camp also attended.

Mrs. Nagle reported one of the Juvenile members, Alan Dawdy, of White Hall is a patient at the Scott Air Force hospital. A card was signed by all present to be sent to him.

Juvenile To Adult Group

The name of Meleta Hicks was balloted upon for transfer from Juvenile membership to adult membership, and the ballot was favorable.

It was decided to hold the December regular meeting on the 2nd of the month to make way for the annual Christmas party, which was decided to be held Friday, the 16th.

The annual election of officers will be held at the regular meeting. Hostesses for this meeting will be Mrs. Cora Aulgur and Mrs. Dorothy Smith, and hostesses for the Christmas party will be, Mrs. Phyllis Dawdy, Mrs. Mildean Bruce, Mrs. Grace Little, and Mrs. Audrey Surbeck. The meeting will feature the annual potluck supper and Christmas gift exchange. The secret pals of the past year will be revealed and new names drawn for the coming year. Names of hostesses for each month of the coming year will be decided.

Honored On Birthday

After the business was concluded Mrs. Elizabeth Coker was escorted to the Oracle's station by Marshal Lida Dawdy and presented with a gift from the camp, in honor of her eighty-seventh birthday, which will be November 28th.

This gift was in the form of a "Money Tree" sparkling with a goodly amount of new dimes, donated by the members. She was also presented with a cake, baked by the Oracle, Mrs. Nagle. Mrs. Coker is one of the oldest members and has been linked with the organization for forty-four years. She has served in various offices of the camp and was our recorder for seventeen years. Her fraternal interest in the camp has been shown by her long years of service and although she no longer holds an office she still enjoys the meetings and her continued interest is an inspiration to the ones following her footsteps. For the honors bestowed upon her, Mrs. Coker very graciously thanked the camp.

Serve Salad Course

After the closing ritual and coin collection members adjourned to the dining room where Mrs. Nona Owdom and Mrs. Minnie Steelman served refreshments of chicken salad sandwiches, pickles and potato chips, with coffee and tea, from tables decorated in keeping with the Thanksgiving season, after which a number of games were played for recreation, with prizes for the winners.

Several members received birthday or anniversary gifts from their secret pals. Mrs. Marilyn Ford was awarded the door prize, given by Mrs. Leoan Dawdy.

Those in attendance at this meeting were Mrs. Mary Nagle, Mrs. Juanita Rollins, Mrs. Lida Dawdy, Mrs. Iva Prindle, Mrs. Nona Owdom, Mrs. Hazel Smith, Mrs. Mildren Dawdy, Mrs. Cora Aulgur, Mrs. Mildred Wilkinson, Mrs. Leona Dawdy, Mrs. Elizabeth Coker, Mrs. Elizabeth Ballard, Mrs. Margaret Hicks, Mrs. Mary Lou Burton, Mrs. Grace Little, Mrs. Bea Taylor, Mrs. Marilyn Ford, Mrs. Phyllis Dawdy, Mrs. Laura Dawdy, Mrs. Grace Brown Mrs. Mildean Bruce, and Mrs. Minnie Steelman.

Chapin Town And Country Club At Schumacher Home

Mrs. Arlo Schumacher was hostess to the Woman's Town and Country Club at her country home with Mrs. Clarence Hamilton and Mrs. Henry Detmer as assistant hostesses.

The president, Mrs. Lucius Shepard opened the meeting and pledge to the flag was led by Mrs. Delbert Fricke followed with club collect led by Mrs. Andrew Detmer. Roll call, Something to be thankful for, was answered by 21 members.

Secretary's report given by Mrs. Russell Werries who also read a letter from the State Hospital giving information about the gifts for the forgotten patients. The club members give annually to this project. Treasurer's report was read by Mrs. R. R. Long.

Mrs. Herman Lakamp, chairman of ways and means committee, made plans for the chili supper at the Legion Hall, December 7. Past chairman of ways and means committee, Mrs. Edwin Lakamp, reported a new flag had been purchased for the club.

Mrs. Shepard gave a report on the County Federation meeting held in Jacksonville. Mrs. R. R. Long and Mrs. Louis Werries also attended. The club made a donation to the chair fund for Oak Lawn Sanitorium, a County Federation Project.

Mrs. Louis Werries, program chairman, presented the afternoon's program. Mrs. Andrew Detmer, music chairman led the group in singing, "Count Your Blessings" with Mrs. R. R. Long, at the piano. Mrs. Wayne Bracewell had the "Thoughts for the Month" which centered around the first Thanksgiving celebrated in 1621. Five of the 18 Pilgrim women cooked the first dinner consisting of deer, geese, ducks, oysters, gooseberries, plums, cherries, biscuits and corn prepared in different ways. They were thankful for less starvation and peace with Indians.

Mrs. Frank Calloway read a prayer written by American Novelist, Louis Bromfield.

Department Chairman of home and education, Mrs. Walter Uhnken, spoke of the American home stating the family that prays, stays together, will stay together and home crafts should be encouraged for the family.

Mrs. Werries introduced Mr. Davis and Mr. Lynn from the Singer Sewing Center who demonstrated the various attachments for the sewing machine and made decorative stisches that could be used on garments.

The meeting closed with club prayer led by Mrs. Harlan Hamilton. Delicious refreshments in keeping with Thanksgiving season was served by the hostesses. Guests present were: Mrs. Wilbur Williams, Mrs. Arthur Nergenah, Mrs. Nelson Watson, Steve Watson, Diana Hamilton, Joyce and Timothy Matzke.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Russell Werries, December 20.

LAWN LEARNING—Residents of Lawrence, Kan., who like well-kept lawns keep a sharp eye on the condition of the grass in front of the post office. Deal Six, shown above, is country farm agent and he's conducting an experiment there. He's testing three kinds of lawn grass: Merion blue, Zoysia and Bermuda.

Linda Savage Queen Of White Hall Homecoming

WHITE HALL—Miss Linda Savage, daughter of Mrs. Helen Savage of this city, was chosen Homecoming Queen for the Veterans Day dance which ended a day's activities following the annual football game between Roodhouse and White Hall.

Miss Savage, escorted by Stanley Blake, wore a floor length gown of pink net fashioned with a gathered strapless bodice. The pink underskirt was overlaid with petaled tiers of the same netting, and her smooth page boy hair style was complimented with a sparkling tiara.

The retiring queen, Miss Bonnie Seely, was lovely in a blue net balerina length formal with a ruffled bodice and skirt and wore elbow length gloves fastened at the wrist with three pearl buttons, her escort being Byron Taylor.

The senior candidate for queen, Miss Joyce Fraser, wore a floor length gown of white flowered net over a blue satin underskirt. The bodice was strapless and the cummerbund of blue chiffon accented the blue of the gown. A blue rhinestone necklace and a corsage of blue edged carnations completed her costume and her escort was Ed Baker.

Miss Brenda Barrow, junior candidate escorted by Phillip Killebrew, chose a stunning white chiffon gown ballerina length, with the gathered strapless bodice topping an embroidered midriff inlaid with white sequins. The skirt had seven gathered tiers and her accessories were teardrop earrings and matching bracelet.

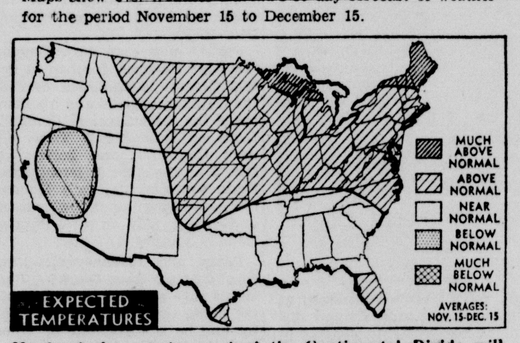
The sophomore candidate, Miss Becky Chumley, wore a floor length formal featuring two layers of red net over a rose taffeta underskirt. The overall color was that of a flaming sunset, an irridescent coral, with a cummerbund of the same rose fashioned in a bow at the back with sashes trailing down the skirt. A gathered strapless bodice topped the cummerbund and she wore matching pearl earrings, necklace and bracelet, being escorted by Bernard Farnbach.

The freshman candidate, Miss Penny Seely, wore a plain white waltz length gown with white embroidery along the top of the full pleated skirt being the only trimming. She wore elbow length white gloves and was escorted by Bill Stone.

The gym was beautifully decorated in maroon and gold streamers, corn stalks, pumpkins, colorful autumn leaves and a misty harvest moon. Sam Campbell, president of the Student Council, served as master of ceremonies and Rosemary Lemons and Mary Adkins, also Student Council members, described the gowns as each candidate made her appearance. Following the coronation of the Queen, Miss Savage, the group attending dance to the music of Virl Bowen's orchestra. The dance, supervised by class sponsors Mr. James Lemons, Mrs. Gussie Frazier, Mr. Harold Hubbard and Miss Beverly Reed, was a junior class project.

WINTER WARM-UP

Maps show U.S. Weather Bureau's 30-day forecast of weather for the period November 15 to December 15.



Much of the country east of the Continental Divide will enjoy warmer than normal weather, says Weather Bureau.

Clubwomen Of Chandlerville To Aid Patients

CHANDLERVILLE—The Chandlerville Woman's Club met Monday evening, Nov. 14, at the Christian church. Mrs. John Pearn, the president presided, opening with the pledge of allegiance and club prayer. Mrs. James Merwin read the minutes and the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Nell Shankland reported on the Cass county meeting in Beardstown. This meeting was "An Evening on Broadway" by Mrs. Helene Evans formerly of Beardstown. The next Cass county meeting will be held in Chandlerville in the spring.

Miss Julia Force reported the club working with the Improvement Council on planting of trees.

Members decided to bring a gift for a 'forgotten patient' at the Jacksonville State hospital to the December meeting.

The Harmony group, Mrs. T. O. McCullough, Mrs. Arthur Murphy, Miss Lula Lovekamp, and Mrs. L. J. Davidsmeier, sang "The Corn Is Ripe for Reaping," "We Praise Our God" and "God Bless America," accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Scott.

Miss Eleanor Wilcox, Cass County Home Adviser, spoke on new equipment in the kitchen of today. She brought out the differences in color in kitchens, the stoves, refrigerators, freezers and disposals. The latest is the kitchen by remote control, by this means the homemaker can control the stove from the living room. Miss Wilcox stated "the change the past five years is a challenge to the homemaker of today."

Refreshments were served from a beautiful table in keeping with Thanksgiving. The hostesses were Mrs. Mabel Umbach, Mrs. Edna Mae Gasper, Miss Lula Lovekamp, Mrs. Paul Abbott, Mrs. Carroll Carlock, Mrs. A. W. Nelson and Miss Florence Schaad.

Carrollton Hawks

CARROLLTON — Coach Richard Hamann's Hawks open their season next Friday at home with Griggsville and things don't look too bright this season as the veteran mentor is short on height and experience. Five members of the varsity squad are sophomores.

The 1959-60 aggregation lost 14 while winning 10 and from this group there were five seniors. Returning letter winners are Charles Helton, G. B. Griffith and Kenny Standefer. Prior to last season, Hamann had guided his Hawks to a pair of consecutive Valley Conference championships.

Jerry Vandersand, Charles Tribble, Ronnie Schroeder, Bob Gillingham, Lawrence Weber, Gene Gourley, Dave Pohlman and John Robinson round out the varsity candidates.

ROCKETS EAGERLY AWAIT INTRA-CITY OPENER WITH ISD TUESDAY

Despite the lack of reserve strength, Coach Bob Winstead is anxiously awaiting Tuesday night to see how his Rockets will measure up to the 1960-61 campaign in a PMSC Conference date against Coach Jim Bonds' Tigers at Illinois Deaf.

Routt enjoyed plenty of success on the hardcourt last year by winning 25 while losing only five. Winstead's crew took second in the Waverly Holiday tourney and captured the PMSC Conference tournament title with a thrilling victory over Triopia in the finals. The Rockets shared a co-championship with Triopia and Bluffs in the conference standings, each showing seven win, one loss records. Routt lost in the regional finals.

But Winstead is faced with the task of replacing six lost lettermen, four of which started regularly. Namely, Mickey Walker, Tom Shanle, Bill Tobin and George Trutter. These lads also gave Routt scoring punch in addition to much-needed height.

There are four veterans back and senior Fred Curtis is the only regular among the lot. The 5-8 sparkplug, who excels in all departments, maintained a 16.0 average per outing last year and in all possibility he'll be Routt's ace again in the 18-game, two tournament schedule. Other lettermen are Jack Lawless, 5-7, Ed Carroll, 6-2, and Bucky Sullivan, 5-7. Sullivan won't be in the starting lineup Tuesday against ISD because of two broken big toes which occured in a scrimmage session last week. It will probably be three weeks before he resumes drills.

Winstead has only two boys above the 5-9 mark and they are Carroll, who enjoy a fine scoring season, and Jim Johnson, 6-2, who is being groomed at a forward slot. Johnson has missed several practices with an infected toe but it's expected to be mended in time for the opener.

Since Sullivan has been out of commission, Joe Cors, 5-9, and Bob Zeller, 5-8, have been battling it out for the other starting berth. Terry Watts, 5-9, and Bunkie Ferry, 5-6, round out Winstead's nine-man varsity unit and they're expected to see a lot of action as the Routt mentor seeks a balanced aggregation in the process of 'weeding' out the men from the boys for the vacant 5th and 6th place slots.

The club will have good speed but short on height. Defense should be better than average and the offense should be wide open as Routt's greatest asset comes off a fast-break.

The Rockets make their first home appearance in Our Saviour's gymnasium against Petersburg, November 29.

Downstate Prep Notes

By JOHN CAMPBELL

Coach Bill Wilson's Lewistown Indians will face a strong basketball schedule with games carded with Valley (Fairview), Beardstown, Havana, Mt. Sterling, Quincy, Farmington, Cuba, Abingdon, Macomb, Rushville, Bushnell, and two tourneys. The Indians will compete in the Galva Invitational tourney Dec. 19-22 and the Fulton County tourney Jan. 16-21.

Kewanee's Boilermakers of Coach Vernon Corbin will play a tough 21 game chart including Coach Dolph Stanley's Auburn (Rockford) five in a game at Kewanee on Dec. 31. Coach Stanley's Taylorville club of 1944 won the State cage title unbeaten in all games played that year. Canton's five was the only team to lead the Tornadoes that season during the halftime intermission.

Alton replaces Rantoul on Pinckville's cage chart and Coach Don Stanton's team will play in Springfield for the first time since 1953. That year Coach Duster Thomas' fine Panther club played at Canton, winning by a three point margin before a packed house in Alice Ingersoll gym. Ron Pursell played on that fine team and he transferred to Litchfield the next season helping the Purple Panthers of Coach Bob Horton to the "Sweet 16 Tourney" at Champaign. Bob Price of Granite City high played for two different schools in the State finals as he competed for Madison during his junior year. He is attending Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Fred Riddle of Collinsville might be the third Illinois prep player to play for two high schools in the State tourney as he was a teammate of Price at Madison in 1959.

Canton's two forwards are transfer students, Walt Jackson is from Danville at 6-3 and John Maguire attended St. Bede (Peru). John Malone, 6-2 forward last season, is ineligible during the first semester and he played regular for Peoria Spalding as a sophomore before transferring to Canton last year as a Junior. He attended Canton grade school and one year of high school before moving to Peoria with his family. John Cruser, who scored 30 points in upsetting Coach John Thiel's Galesburg Silver Streaks last year, is back to lead the Little Giants of Coach Joe Adam. Big center Dick Brown, 6-4 and rugged under the boards, is back and he scored 32 points at Decatur last year. Brian Johns, 5-10 guard, is a starter until the second semester when Malone is eligible and takes over the guard position, a post he played at Spalding during his soph season.

Collinsville will play in Decatur December 2 for the opener for Coach Virgil Fletcher's Kahoks. Bogie Redmon, 6-6 center, and Fred Riddle, 6-3 guard, are back to lead the Kahoks this season. Collinsville will compete in the East St. Louis holiday tourney Dec. 26-30.

Pekin's new cage boss, Dawson "Dawdy" Hawkins, coached at Peoria Central until taking over at the Chink stronghold and his team opens the season against Central's Lions on December 2. They will open Canton's home season on Dec. 3 at the Alice Ingersoll gym. Pekin wants to play in a Holiday tourney during the 1961-62 season and might play in the Pontiac Holiday tourney.

Pekin and Pinckneyville have been dropped from Quincy's Blue Devils cage schedule. Coach Sherrill Hanks is the new Quincy mentor and he is a graduate of Wood River high, formerly coached at Alton high school. Lewistown's Indians will play at Quincy December 10 and the Blue Devils will host a four team tourney December 16-17. Quincy formerly competed in the annual Centralia Holiday tourney.

Bluffs Runs Over Perry In Opener, 70-45

BLUFFS — Coach George Danhaus' Bluejays got balanced scoring from Burl Fargo in the first three periods to claim a 70-45 PMSC Conference victory over Perry Friday night in the opening game for both quintets.

Fargo collected 26 points for his efforts, 10 of them in the second quarter, and rested most of the final canto. Bluffs jumped off to an 18-6 first quarter lead and Perry never threatened to close the gap.

Richard Liehr and Rex Olson led scoring laurels for Fred Witham's losers with 15 and 13 points respectively.

The Box Score:

Outlook Bleak For Illinois Deaf Cagers

The Illinois School for the Deaf Tigers may be in for a dismal basketball season according to the bleak outlook expressed by Jim Bonds, the Tigers head coach. Bonds does seem to have good cause for his less than optimistic outlook for there is not a single letterman, or even a man who saw varsity action back this year. Every one of the Tigers potential cagers played JV ball last year and some not too regularly in that capacity.

Bonds' squad finished 3rd in the PMSC last year with a 4-3 mark and an overall record of 14-11, but he feels that his boys may win 5 games and 10 would be a terrific season. Two juniors and two seniors will carry the ISD load and they may prove to be just what the doctor ordered. Bob Poncar and Earl Claussen are capable juniors who have fair height and good co-ordination.

The seniors are Ed Joyner and Ed Carlson with Carlson being the tallest of the lot at 6'3". From here on in it is anybody's move up to the starting five. Bonds will probably experiment with several combinations throughout the first few games in an effort to discover the most profitable fivesome.

Bill Hammack, Jim Marquis, Lenny Moore, Larry Elmore, Bill Tonigan and Warren Miller are the six men occupying positions of second line importance. Any one or all might get their chance to form a combination which is of most value.

Jim is again faced with the long vacation for Christmas that ISD annually receives, and this year's is from Dec. 6 to Jan. 7. This means that the boys will not touch a basketball for almost a month and so he is almost two-fold with practice getting under way from the beginning stage again in January. Naturally this makes things rough on the coach and team alike and it can't help but be difficult to compete with teams who have been playing throughout the Christmas vacation with perhaps a tournament or two under their belt. This is a tall order in good years, and with a lean year in sight for the Tigers it will be even more difficult.

The Tigers have a 17 game schedule and are again entered in two tournaments. One is the annual PMSC conference meet and the other is the Louisiana, Missouri Invitational. ISD captured third place in both of these tournaments last year.

The opening date is this Tuesday against cross-town rival Routt and will be interesting to watch. The boys still have a little football in their system and may have trouble staying away from fouls, but they could prove to be a surprise. Whatever the year turns out to be you can count on Jim doing his very best and if past experience is an indicator he may turn a loser into a winner.

The schedule:

Nov. 22 Routt
29 at Bluffs
Dec. 1 Girard
2 Roodhouse
6 at Perry
Jan. 7 at West Pike
10 Chandlerville
11-14 Louisiana Tourney
17 Meredosia
20 Triopia
24-27 PMSC Tournament
31 Winchester
Feb. 3 at Petersburg
7 Griggsville
11 at Missouri
14 at Virginia
18 Indiana
21 at Greenfield
24 At White Hall

American League Calls A Recess After Long Day

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League, undecided over what action to take involving the new Los Angeles franchise, recessed until Tuesday after deliberating almost eight hours Friday.

"We have a number of applicants for the Los Angeles franchise," said AL President Joe Cronin. "We will consider all of them in the meanwhile.

"We met with Commissioner Ford Frick and had an agreeable meeting. Del Webb (co-owner of the New York Yankees and a representative of the American League) is on his way now to Los Angeles to discuss the situation with Walter O'Malley.

"We told the commissioner we would be glad to sit down with O'Malley (Los Angeles Dodgers' owner) to talk over matters pertaining to an American League club playing in the Los Angeles Coliseum."

It has been Frick's stand that indemnities are due O'Malley from any American League team that moves into Los Angeles.

Because of the uncertainty of the Los Angeles situation, Cronin said, the draft session to select players for the new Los Angeles and Washington franchises has been put off until Nov. 25.

"This will not affect the inter-league trading starting Monday," Cronin said, "except that American League clubs may not trade anyone on the 15-player list they submitted to us as draft eligibles by the new franchises today."

Cronin said further bids for the Los Angeles franchise will be heard Tuesday when the meeting resumes. One applicant, Charles O. Finley of Gary, Ind., appeared before the league officials Friday and Cronin said several other offers were entertained by phone and wire.

Finley, who had tried unsuccessfully to buy the old Philadelphia A's, Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox in recent years, said he was ready to invest $5 million of his personal funds for the franchise. He said he had no partners.

While the meeting was in progress, general managers of the eight "old" franchises filed with league headquarters their list of 15 draft eligibles from their current rosters. Each club will lose seven men with each new club acquiring title to 28 men at $75,000 each or $2.1 million total.

Well known players such as Bob Cerv of the New York Yankees, Gene Woodling of the Baltimore Orioles, Don Newcombe of the Cleveland Indians, Hank Bauer of the Kansas City A's and Billy Goodman and Turk Lown of the Chicago White Sox were reported on the lists which were not released officially.

Elwood (Pete) Quesada, head of the 10-man group that was awarded the Washington franchise Thursday night, tried to sign Frank Lane as his general manager but Lane decided to remain with Cleveland.

Quesada hoped to make a decision on someone to help with the player draft even if his selection might not turn out to be his permanent general manager.

Withdraws From Negotiations To Purchase A's

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A syndicate headed by Elliot H. Stein, St. Louis investment broker, withdrew Friday from negotiations for purchase of the Kansas City Athletics in favor of a rival Kansas City group.

The about-face came just after Stein met with representatives of Kansas City business and civic interests seeking control of the last-place American League club.

Stein said he and his associates are backing out because of disappointment expressed by Kansas City fans that control might pass to an outside group. But Byron Spencer, an attorney for the Kansas City group, was skeptical.

"I think they are withdrawing for one of two reasons," Spencer said. "One is that they concluded they could not get the other 48 per cent of the stock and the other that they bid too much for the club."

Co-executors of the estate of the late Arnold Johnson, who moved the club to Kansas City upon purchasing control, were authorized Monday to see the estate's 52 per cent of the stock to the Stein syndicate.

Probate Judge Robert J. Dunne of Chicago, who granted the authority, has set another hearing for Monday on the matter. The judge had approved $1,820,000 as the price for the 52 per cent of the stock. Stein said the stock would be offered to the Kansas City group at an identical price.

Harold L. Ickes served as secretary of the interior for 13 years, a record for members of the president's cabinet.

THE STORY: Janet Hamilton, a young widow, met Jason Whiting while she was taking a night college course. Jason was her instructor. Not until they had fallen in love did Jason tell her that he was married. Unhappily married, he insists, and he wishes to marry Janet as soon as he can obtain a divorce. But time has passed and the divorce proceeding have not started. Then there was a mysterious attempt on Janet's life. The neighbors suspect Janet has a "gentlemen friend" and are talking.

• • •

XVIII

Janet checked the doors, remembering the arrow incident . . . and the ghastly party tonight and Frank Lyman and his nastiness. She felt grubby inside and out. Maybe she could call Jason. It was indiscreet, but she decided to risk it.

A woman answered.

"Who's this?"

"This is one of Dr. Whiting's students." Janet was frightened and wished she hadn't called. "I'd like to talk to him."

"At ~~11 o'clock~~ at night?"

"I'm sorry to bother you. I didn't realize it was so late. I'll call him at school tomorrow."

"What's your name?"

"Would you tell Dr. Whiting that Mrs. Hamilton called?"

The reply came in a rasping suspicious voice. "Oh . . . listen, here, Mrs. Hamilton. I'm not so dumb as you might think. You just lay off Jay."

"I beg your pardon?" Janet said incredulously.

"Oh, I know Jay's got a girl friend, and you lay off him, you hear? No rich widow is going to put me out on a limb. Leave him alone."

"I've no idea what you're talking about."

In reply Antonia's voice became a scream. "Do you hear me? You leave him alone or I'll—I'll kill you!"

There was silence then the hum of a broken telephone connection. Janet returned the receiver to its hook slowly as though returning a knife to its sheath. With Antonia's voice still ringing harshly in her ears, Janet's mind pieced together the things that gave identity to Jason's wife — the round-faced bride in the picture; the brassy aggressive screaming woman she had just spoken to. This was the woman Jason was tied to. Reluctantly Janet faced the rest of it. This was also a woman who loved noise and color, married to a man who valued silence and solitude; a woman whose deepest wish, children of her own, had never been fulfilled; a woman trapped in a relationship she did not even understand, fighting an unknown enemy.

• • •

Suddenly Janet began to cry, deep frightening sobs that would not stop but grew worse as the accumulated tensions of the past days engulfed her. At last dry-eyed, once more emotionally exhausted, she went upstairs to take a long bath. When she'd gotten out of the tub and put on a cotton housecoat, the unexpected jangle of the telephone alerted her nerves again, and she stepped over to the bedside table to answer it. "Jason. Oh, Jason. I'm so glad you've called."

"I'll be up in 20 minutes."

It was 11:30. She grabbed a skirt and blouse, put on lipstick and ran down and turned on the front-porch light. It seemed an eternity until she heard his car, and she ran to meet him. He came directly into the living room without greeting.

"I'm sorry, Janet. I was there. I heard everything. I called you as soon as I could."

He leaned back in the deep chair stretching his long legs in front of him. "Everything is set for the job out West. It's all arranged. I was waiting to talk to Antonia until she'd gotten settled at home and I'd finished up my own work. She got to me first. She said she'd heard that I was away every night while she was gone. . . ."

• • •

"Let me fix you a drink, Jason. You look as though you need it."

"No. I guess not. I'm sorry to sound so disjointed. But it was such a bloody scene. I'm not very good at scenes. I wanted to discuss it sensibly and tell her about moving away to a new job and then . . . and lead up to you. Suddenly everything got out of hand." He looked bewildered at the remembrance. "She accused me of seeing another woman, and I admitted it. That was a mistake. Any sense she might have had about things vanished at the idea of my having an interest in someone else. We lost the main point at once—that we don't belong together. She admitted she doesn't love me. She knows I've never really loved her. She realizes neither one of us gains anything but misery from our alliance. But she doesn't want to be alone. That's what it amounts to. You see, now that she knows about you, she can blame the whole thing on you and forget the complaints she's had for years about our modus vivendi."

"Oh, Jason, I'm so sorry."

"I finally couldn't take it any more and walked out. I wanted to see you anyway and was planning to drive up here tonight. I'm terribly sorry you were subjected to that telephone conversation. I don't think I've handled this very well. Nothing's wrong here, is it? The boys are all right? And you?"

"We're fine. Just—oh, little things have gone wrong. It's so good to have you here." Any idea she had entertained of telling Jason about the arrow on the night before was dismissed.

"It's good to be here." He rose, walked over to her and put his arm around her and kissed her gently.

She reached for his hand; then she was in his arms. The pent-up emotions of months overwhelmed them.

Woodson Club Plans Honor For Mother Of Year

The Woodson Woman's Club met Nov. 16th with the president, Mrs. Grace Brandon, presiding, and the meeting opened with the pledge to the flag, motto and collect.

Mrs. Hazel Erixon gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Irma Ashbaker the financial statement and reported activities the club had made contributions to.

Roll was answered with an idea of a 'pleasant evening.' The club voted to remember the mother of the year with a Christmas present, and to make cookies for sick and shut-ins.

Hildreth Craig, program chairman, read poems, The Baldheaded Man and What to Be Thankful For. Mrs. Freida Pennell had the topic, Life of James Whitcomb Riley. The meeting closed with the club prayer. Mrs. Faye Fenstermaker was in charge during the social hour. Prizes went to Mrs. Grace Brandon, Mrs. Mae McCurley and Mrs. Craig.

Two guests were present, Mrs. Helen Armstrong and Mrs. Helen Lindsey. Lovely refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistant, Mrs. Zella DeGroot.

Harmony Unit Of Concord Meets At Wegehofts

Mrs. Virgil Wegehoft was hostess Nov. 16 to the Harmony Home Bureau Unit at her home in Concord. The chairman, Mrs. Harold Joy, presided using the new gavel presented to the club for showing largest percentage membership at annual meetings past years.

Mrs. Wegehoft gave the major lesson, Color for the Individual and groups divided to choose becoming individual colors.

Miss Frances Gaddis presented the selected subject, Soaps and Detergents. Mrs. Robert Kircher, acting secretary, reported on the October meeting. Fifteen answered roll with holiday decorative ideas. Janet Hess was a guest.

Mrs. Carl Robison, vice chairman, gave membership report and received dues. Mrs. Dale Braner reported on 4H activities. The chairman announced committees: radio, Mrs. Virgil Wegehoft; 4H, Mrs. Roy Nickel and Mrs. Dale Braner.

Recreation, Mrs. Robert Kircher; publicity, Mrs. Tom Crawford; health, Mrs. Henry Zulauf; safety, Miss Frances Gaddis; library, Mrs. Paul Hess; education and legislation, Mrs. Daniel Dietrick; membership, Mrs. Carl Robison, Mrs. Robert Kircher, Mrs. William Doerr, rounded out appointments.

Mrs. Joy read highlights of the last board meeting and made announcements. The Unit decided to take gifts for 'forgotten patients' at Jacksonville State hospital to the next meeting. Mrs. Joy showed the hat she made following a lesson at the Home Bureau office.

The music chairman, Mrs. Hess led in the song of the month. Recreation was led by Mrs. Tom Crawford. The next meeting will be Dec. 16 with Mrs. Otto Nickel.

Free Book on Arthritis And Rheumatism

HOW TO AVOID CRIPPLING DEFORMITIES

An amazing book entitled "Arthritis and Rheumatism" will be sent free to anyone who will write for it. No agent will call.

It reveals why drugs and medicines give only temporary relief and fail to remove the causes of the trouble; explains a specialized non-surgical treatment which has proven successful since 1919.

You incur no obligation in sending for this instructive book. It may be the means of saving you years of untold misery. Write today to The Ball Clinic, Dept. 1218, Excelsior Springs, Missouri.
